What a Girl Should Be.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Someone has published "a shorter Bible" with all the advice about drinking good wine left out. David's "flagon of wine" is replaced by "a cake of raisins." You can't guess, not having the volume at hand, what explanation and twisting replaces the story about Christ changing water into wine, that wedding guests might have something fit to drink, drinking water being full of germs in those days.

Now that the Bible by prohibitionists is ready, you look forward to another edited by some corporation lawyer or clergyman of a rich man's church. That Bible would leave out unpleasant suggestions about giving all your wealth to the poor and cut out poor old St. James entirely. Any saint that would write "go to now ye rich, weep and howl" has no place in a rich man's Bible.

After all who builds the fine churches?

Whose money at this moment is building the fifteen million dollar cathedral of St. John the Divine?

Not the poor man's money.

In Omaha a murderer serving a 13-year sentence for killing his wife is fighting to collect $1,500 life insurance on the wife he murdered. And he may get the money. The district judge explains that while the law forbids "inheriting money through an act of violence," an insurance policy is a contract and even murder may not cancel it.

Mr. Bonfils, in Denver, publishes the news that for every bath tub in the United States there are three automobiles.

A meeting of sanitary engineers is startled by the information, but the Bonfils announcement is just another proof of progress.

Queen Elizabeth, who had a thousand dresses in her closets, did not have any bath tub, not even a shower. No wonder she retained her title "The Virgin Queen." Three automobiles to one bath tub isn't as bad as a thousand dresses and no bath tub. There is progress.

Besides, an air bath is almost as good as a water bath, bathing the inside of the lungs with fresh oxygen may be more important even than bathing the outside of the body with fresh water.

Only one person at a time can bathe in the same bath tub, whereas from five to ten can take an air bath in each automobile. Everything you read indicates progress.

Roman emperors and their rich courtiers had bath tubs. And once only a few Vanderbilts and others equally rich had automobiles. Now millions have bath tubs and automobiles both.

Bardnard college authorities tell what "a normal young woman must be."

"She must be able to jump three feet two inches, throw a basketball 25 feet; run 25 feet in four and four-tenths seconds; climb four feet and vault a height of three feet eight inches. She must have a straight line posture—no curves to front or back or sides, and she must have clear eyes, nearly red cheeks and a ready smile."

You wonder why nature takes pains to put curves on young woman, in front, in the back, and on the sides if young woman really doesn't need the curves. Even the Venus of Milo, noble majestic creature, is curved here and there, and the beautiful "stooping Venus" is all curves.

Perhaps there is a useful place in the world for young women not quite so "normal." Consider the Bronte sisters. They had no red cheeks and a "ready smile" was rare among them.

They never saw a basketball, never vaulted or jumped, but they did something more important.

Think also about Bertha "with the big feet," mother of Charlemagne; Nancy Hanks, mother of Abraham Lincoln; Olympias, mother of Alexander the Great, and the wide hipped, very curvy Lastitia Ramolino, mother of Napoleon. Those four ladies wouldn't fit into the Barnard college description at all. But they are useful.

If your friend has a bad cold, be polite, smile, bow, say "I never saw you looking better," but don't shake hands.

That is the advice of Dr. Sundwall, of Michigan university. Influenza is spread by hand shaking. You get the germs from your friend's hand, transfer them to your handkerchief and then to your nose.

Hand shaking is foolish, archaic anyhow, as foolish as Indians rubbing noses. Primitive man stretched out his right hand to show there was no knife in it, and to reassure the stranger. That's hardly necessary now.

The learned Henry G. Lawrence, professor of history, drops this bombshell into a ladies' club, "the first bootleggers were the good Puritans

EDGAR VESS, ADMITTING NINE AUTO THEFTS, HELD FOR JUVENILE INQUIRY

Boy, 16 Years Old, Arrested After he Drives Car From Parking Place in Front of High School Building Sunday Night.

HIS THREE CHUMS ARE WITNESSES

Other Arrests in Connection With Disappearance of 50 Cars are Promised Following Statement by Lads.

Admitting, the police claim, the theft of at least nine automobiles in East Liverpool during the last few months, Edgar Vess, 16 years old, 713 Burford street, was ordered held for the bureau of juvenile research, at Columbus, by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, Lisbon, today, following his arrest near Annsley stop on the Y. & O. by Sheriff Wright.

Vess is alleged to have been driving a Chevrolet car, belonging to George Snyder, resigning on R. F. D. No. 1, which was stolen from its parking place in front of the high school building, last night. Three companions—Neil Barnes, 18; Leslie McConnell, 16, and William Crytzer, 16, who were with Vess at the time, were held as witnesses.

Vess, police say, in a confession made to Chief of Police Hugh McDermott and Mayor Charles Brown, at the city hall, this morning, said he took a Jewett sedan belonging to George Spencer, Pennsylvania avenue, while it was parked in front of the High school building, last evening, while Spencer and his family were attending church services. He had driven the car only a few squares when the lights on the automobile went out. Unable to find the trouble, he abandoned the machine on West Fifth street, near the First Methodist Episcopal church, where it was recovered about 9:45 o'clock by the police.

Admits Stealing Snyder Car.

The lad, police alleged, returned to the high school immediately and succeeded in getting Snyder's machine started. He declared, police said, that he was alone at the time he took the car, but picked up Barnes, McConnell and Crytzer uptown. He told his companions that the car belonged to a friend and that he had borrowed it for the evening, it is claimed.

The quartet traveled out the Lincoln Highway. Near Annsley stop on the Y. & O. the machine went into a ditch

HUSBAND, WIFE ARE KILLED IN BED; ANOTHER WOMAN IS SHOT

Mystery Shrouds Slaying and Attack in Chicago.

BRUTAL CRIMES

Masked Man Fires When Door of Flat is Opened.

CHICAGO, March 23.—A man and a woman were killed, shot dead in their bed, and another woman, living in another flat on the same floor in the same apartment building, was perhaps fatally wounded by a charge of buckshot, here today.

The dead were Mrs. Mary Palumbozio, 25, and her husband, Edward, 24.

Mystery shrouds the killings and the attack.

Police summoned to the scene were unable to find any clues to the slayers or establish a motive for either crime.

Man Shot Through Eye.

Mrs. Palumbozio's body was found beside her bed. She had been shot through the head, apparently with a sawed-off shotgun. She was clothed in her night gown, stockings and bath slippers, which she is believed to have pulled on hurriedly when confronted by her assailant. Crouched near the body, police found two whimpering children, Carmella, 2 and Arthur 4.

In the kitchen they found the body of the husband, shot through the eye.

Mrs. Marie Pacifico, 43, was wounded when she opened the door to her flat in answer to a knock. A masked man, confronting her, raised a shotgun and fired without a word. Her husband, Joseph, rushed to the door and the man again raised his weapon, but presumably because the charge had been discharged, lowered it and fled.

The husband told police he could assign no cause for the attack.

TORNADO-SWEPT ZONE TURNS ATTENTION TO REHABILITATION TASK

DEAD IN STORM AREA NOW 694

Destruction of Water and Sanitation Plants Makes Devastated District Ripe for Plagues, Physicians Warn.

Storm-torn Illinois and Indiana girded itself today for its struggle to rehabilitation.

While additional doctors and nurses, rushed into the devastated area in the last 48 hours, fought to stay the threatened epidemics of gas basillus gangrene, pneumonia and typhoid, following in the wake of the tornado, citizens' committees, working with various relief organizations, turned their attention to the rebuilding of the razed cities, replanting of the torn acreages of farm land and recapitulation of losses.

The total dead in the five states which felt the tornado's breath today was placed at 694 after careful checking and re-checking by Red Cross officials. Of these 552 were in Illinois; 87 in Indiana; 23 in Tennessee, 17 in Missouri and 15 in Kentucky.

Seek to Avert Pestilence

And unless the scourge of pestilence stalks through the ruined areas, it is believed these figures will remain constant.

This, physicians in the district today did not consider likely, although they admitted that the danger was still too acute to permit any great amount of optimism.

They pointed out that the ruining of all water and sanitation plants in the storm district, coupled with the living conditions which the tornado had forced, makes the devastated area ripe for various plagues, and has, in fact, already brought out cases of violently communicable disease, but for the most part they believe the victims have been isolated.

Emergency water sterilization plants were in operation today and doctors

KENT MERCHANT, POLICEMAN AND SUSPECTED FOE SHOT TO DEATH

Officer Instantly Killed in Gun Battle on Street.

TWO ARRESTED

Clash Occurs When Patrolman Questions Three Strangers.

KENT, March 23. — Clayton Apple, 43, merchant police officer, was almost instantly killed and Basslie Nicossa, 26, alleged gunman, died today in an Akron hospital, as the result of a gun battle here this morning in which Apple engaged three men believed to have been bent upon the murder of another private officer for revenge, robbery or arson.

Prisoner Denies Shooting.

It was believed that Apple met his death when he halted the three men for questioning. Nicossa and Frank Mollica, 25, were later arrested in Akron. Nicossa, a wound in his abdomen, was taken to the Akron City hospital where he died. A third suspect was reported under arrest at Girard and will be brought here for questioning.

Mollica, questioned by Akron police, admitted having driven from Kent to Akron early this morning, but claimed he picked up Nicossa in the road and knew nothing of him or the gun battle.

Two Witness Shootings.

Apple and his fellow officer, J. Medio, resemble each other and both wore uniforms without badges. Police believe the gangsters wanted to kill Medio and mistook Apple for their desired victim when Apple halted them in the street.

Harry Wilson and Alvin McDermott of Kent, witnessed the shootings. They were in a car and saw Apple talking with the three other men. The autoists, thinking a holdup was in progress, drove to the business section for an officer, and finding none, returned just in time to see the shooting begin. Apple was dead when the autoists reached him and the slayers had fled.

JAZZ-AGE SLAYER OF MOTHER FACES TRIAL IN SAN FRANCISCO; "TEMPORARY INSANITY" IS HER PLEA

BY ELLIS H. MARTIN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. — In the same courtroom in which Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle thrice stood trial on charges growing out of the death of Virginia Rappe, 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson goes on trial today for the murder of her mother.

As the case was called in superior court, attorneys for the girl backed by an imposing array of alienists were prepared to fight for her liberty.

With the same imperturable calm which has been broken but once since the girl was arrested for shooting her mother, Dorothy faced the prospect today of a bitterly fought trial in which her liberty for the balance of her days was at stake.

She rose early today at the county jail and donned the dress she wore at her preliminary hearing— one of those she hastily packed and carried with her when she fled from the cottage in which she shot her mother following a reprimand for staying out late the night before.

Opposes Women on Jury.

Selection of a jury was expected to require the greater part of today and possibly all of tomorrow. Dorothy has expressed the hope that women will not sit as her jurors on the jury. There are many women in the jury panel from which the selection will be made.

In effect the "jazz age," declared responsible for the girl's deed, stood indicted and on trial with her.

"Temporary insanity" was expected to be the plea made in behalf of the titian haired "jazz baby" by her attorneys, Alexander Mooslin and Sylvester McAtee.

Through an exhaustive investigation by Dr. Jau Don Ball, chief alienist for the defense, they expected to show that heredity, environment and the mad jazz tendency of the age contributed to a moment of utter irresponsibility in which the girl shot down her mother after she had been reprimanded for staying out nights on gay parties.

Asks Penalty.

The state, demanding life imprisonment, contends the girl is sane and was sane at the time of her deed.

The defense is expected to set up the plea that given proper training, right surroundings and needed treatment the girl can in a few years take her place in society, cured of "jazzmania."

Dorothy shot and killed her mother about two months ago in their little Richmond cottage home. The mother was tying her shoe when her enraged daughter shot her through the back, according to the police reconstruction of the crime. The girl packed her suitcase and fled the home, taking a room in a downtown rooming house. Her love for company led to her apprehension three days later, a phone call to a male friend betraying her to the police. At first she contended her mother had been slain by a "dope fiend." Then she made a full confession that she had, in a moment of anger, slain her mother because she had reprimanded her for her jazz life.

With marvelous sang froid the girl

HUSBAND, WIFE ARE KILLED IN BED; ANOTHER WOMAN IS SHOT

Mystery Shrouds Slaying and Attack in Chicago.

BRUTAL CRIMES

Masked Man Fires When Door of Flat is Opened.

CHICAGO, March 23.—A man and a woman were killed, shot dead in their bed, and another woman, living in another flat on the same floor in the same apartment building, was perhaps fatally wounded by a charge of buckshot, here today.

The dead were Mrs. Mary Palumbozio, 25, and her husband, Edward, 24.

Mystery shrouds the killings and the attack.

Police summoned to the scene were unable to find any clues to the slayers or establish a motive for either crime.

Man Shot Through Eye.

Mrs. Palumbozio's body was found beside her bed. She had been shot through the head, apparently with a sawed-off shotgun. She was clothed in her night gown, stockings and bath slippers, which she is believed to have pulled on hurriedly when confronted by her assailant. Crouched near the body, police found two whimpering children, Carmella, 2 and Arthur 4.

In the kitchen they found the body of the husband, shot through the eye.

Mrs. Marie Pacifico, 43, was wounded when she opened the door to her flat in answer to a knock. A masked man, confronting her, raised a shotgun and fired without a word. Her husband, Joseph, rushed to the door and the man again raised his weapon, but presumably because the charge had been discharged, lowered it and fled.

The husband told police he could assign no cause for the attack.

TORNADO-SWEPT ZONE TURNS ATTENTION TO REHABILITATION TASK

DEAD IN STORM AREA NOW 694

Destruction of Water and Sanitation Plants Makes Devastated District Ripe for Plagues, Physicians Warn.

Storm-torn Illinois and Indiana girded itself today for its struggle to rehabilitation.

While additional doctors and nurses, rushed into the devastated area in the last 48 hours, fought to stay the threatened epidemics of gas basillus gangrene, pneumonia and typhoid, following in the wake of the tornado, citizens' committees, working with various relief organizations, turned their attention to the rebuilding of the razed cities, replanting of the torn acreages of farm land and recapitulation of losses.

The total dead in the five states which felt the tornado's breath today was placed at 694 after careful checking and re-checking by Red Cross officials. Of these 552 were in Illinois; 87 in Indiana; 23 in Tennessee, 17 in Missouri and 15 in Kentucky.

Seek to Avert Pestilence

And unless the scourge of pestilence stalks through the ruined areas, it is believed these figures will remain constant.

This, physicians in the district today did not consider likely, although they admitted that the danger was still too acute to permit any great amount of optimism.

They pointed out that the ruining of all water and sanitation plants in the storm district, coupled with the living conditions which the tornado had forced, makes the devastated area ripe for various plagues, and has, in fact, already brought out cases of violently communicable disease, but for the most part they believe the victims have been isolated.

Emergency water sterilization plants were in operation today and doctors

KENT MERCHANT, POLICEMAN AND SUSPECTED FOE SHOT TO DEATH

Clash Occurs When Patrolman Questions Three Strangers.

KENT, March 23. — Clayton Apple, 43, merchant police officer, was almost instantly killed and Basslie Nicossa, 26, alleged gunman, died today in an Akron hospital, as the result of a gun battle here this morning in which Apple engaged three men believed to have been bent upon the murder of another private officer for revenge, robbery or arson.

Prisoner Denies Shooting.

It was believed that Apple met his death when he halted the three men for questioning. Nicossa and Frank Mollica, 25, were later arrested in Akron. Nicossa, a wound in his abdomen, was taken to the Akron City hospital where he died. A third suspect was reported under arrest at Girard and will be brought here for questioning.

Mollica, questioned by Akron police, admitted having driven from Kent to Akron early this morning, but claimed he picked up Nicossa in the road and knew nothing of him or the gun battle.

Two Witness Shootings.

Apple and his fellow officer, J. Medio, resemble each other and both wore uniforms without badges. Police believe the gangsters wanted to kill Medio and mistook Apple for their desired victim when Apple halted them in the street.

Harry Wilson and Alvin McDermott of Kent, witnessed the shootings. They were in a car and saw Apple talking with the three other men. The autoists, thinking a holdup was in progress, drove to the business section for an officer, and finding none, returned just in time to see the shooting begin. Apple was dead when the autoists reached him and the slayers had fled.

JAZZ-AGE SLAYER OF MOTHER FACES TRIAL IN SAN FRANCISCO; "TEMPORARY INSANITY" IS HER PLEA

BY ELLIS H. MARTIN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. — In the same courtroom in which Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle thrice stood trial on charges growing out of the death of Virginia Rappe, 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson goes on trial today for the murder of her mother.

As the case was called in superior court, attorneys for the girl backed by an imposing array of alienists were prepared to fight for her liberty.

With the same imperturable calm which has been broken but once since the girl was arrested for shooting her mother, Dorothy faced the prospect today of a bitterly fought trial in which her liberty for the balance of her days was at stake.

She rose early today at the county jail and donned the dress she wore at her preliminary hearing— one of those she hastily packed and carried with her when she fled from the cottage in which she shot her mother following a reprimand for staying out late the night before.

Opposes Women on Jury.

Selection of a jury was expected to require the greater part of today and possibly all of tomorrow. Dorothy has expressed the hope that women will not sit as her jurors on the jury. There are many women in the jury panel from which the selection will be made.

In effect the "jazz age," declared responsible for the girl's deed, stood indicted and on trial with her.

"Temporary insanity" was expected to be the plea made in behalf of the titian haired "jazz baby" by her attorneys, Alexander Mooslin and Sylvester McAtee.

Through an exhaustive investigation by Dr. Jau Don Ball, chief alienist for the defense, they expected to show that heredity, environment and the mad jazz tendency of the age contributed to a moment of utter irresponsibility in which the girl shot down her mother after she had been reprimanded for staying out nights on gay parties.

Asks Penalty.

The state, demanding life imprisonment, contends the girl is sane and was sane at the time of her deed.

The defense is expected to set up the plea that given proper training, right surroundings and needed treatment the girl can in a few years take her place in society, cured of "jazzmania."

Dorothy shot and killed her mother about two months ago in their little Richmond cottage home. The mother was tying her shoe when her enraged daughter shot her through the back, according to the police reconstruction of the crime. The girl packed her suitcase and fled the home, taking a room in a downtown rooming house. Her love for company led to her apprehension three days later, a phone call to a male friend betraying her to the police. At first she contended her mother had been slain by a "dope fiend." Then she made a full confession that she had, in a moment of anger, slain her mother because she had reprimanded her for her jazz life.

With marvelous sang froid the girl

SENATE TO O. K. GUILFORD BILL

State Park Measure Will be Enacted, Says Carpenter.

The proposal for a state park on the site of the old Guilford dam in Hanover township will pass the senate by a unanimous vote, State Senator Harry M. Carpenter, Steubenville, predicted today.

The bill was enacted by the house of representatives last week, and immediately sent to the senate. It was referred to the senate finance committee and 10 minutes later was reported favorably by the committee. It is likely that the measure will come up for a vote in the senate either Wednesday or Thursday.

The bill sets aside $32,500 with which to purchase not exceeding 500 acres of land in the vicinity of the dam. An appropriation is also made to cover the expense in closing up the gap in the dam, which was made when the pond was drained many years ago.

Governor A. V. Donahey has indicated that he will sign the measure immediately upon passage by the senate.

A special meeting of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association will be held at Lisbon as soon as the proposed bill is enacted. The game association is arranging plans for its annual outing and field day, which will be held at the state park this year.

The county commissioners will consider a plan of improving the roads leading to the park as soon as the bill becomes a law. Improved roads will likely be built from the Cox highway on the north and from the Lincoln highway on the south.

RUSS FAMINE GROWS WORSE

Nearly 2,000,000 Children are Reported Without Food.

LONDON, March 23.—Russia's famine situation daily grows more menacing, according to reports coming into London from several sources.

The newspaper, "The Communist," of Kharkov, is authority for the statement that 750,000 children are literally starving in the Ukraine.

There are 420,000 children without food in the Kharkov district, and another 230,000 in Odessa.

The Soviet has succeeded only in organizing partial relief for 91,000 sufferers. The Donetz, Podolsk and Volhynia regions also are affected.

April and May will be the crucial months, the report said.

and before it could be removed Sheriff George Wright arrived on the scene. He questioned the lads and Vess admitted, it is alleged, that he stole the car in East Liverpool.

The lads were brought to this city at 1:30 o'clock this morning and locked up. Inasmuch as all four are juveniles, the case was turned over to Probation Officer John McShane, who took them to Lisbon.

Barnes, McConnell and Crytzer denied any knowledge that the machine had been stolen.

Other Arrests Expected.

In ordering the boy held for the Bureau of Juvenile Research, the opinion was expressed that the lad was suffering from a mental ailment. It was testified that he was struck by a high tension wire back in 1915.

Everett Vess, father of the lad, appeared in court to plead for his son, asserting the boy was attending school and had given him very little trouble. The court's decision will not be announced until the research department at Columbus completes its investigation.

The police are working on clues which may result in further arrests within the next 24 hours, as the result of admissions made by the four lads apprehended today.

Approximately 50 automobiles have been stolen here since January 1, the majority of which have been recovered or accounted for. The police believe youthful joy riders to be responsible for the greater part of the thefts.

Verdict Expected Tonight or Tomorrow In Dennistoun Case

LONDON, March 23.—A verdict tonight or tomorrow was indicated as the Dennistoun case, a suit for $6,000, which has run up its costs on all counts to a total estimated to be $150,000, neared a close.

The usual society crowd filled the court room early to listen to Sir Ellis Hume Williams attack Colonel Ian Dennistoun in summing up for Mrs. Dorothy Dennistoun, the plaintiff. His argument was to be followed by the judge's remarks to the jury.

Sir Ellis, in his argument, mentioned the small amount claimed by Mrs. Dennistoun on the score of debts she says she paid for her former husband. The husband said he could not understand the mentality of a man who was living in luxury in London and yet fought such a case.

Widow of Gompers Quits Fight Over Labor Chief's Will

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—The reasons that prompted Samuel Gompers, late president of the American Federation of Labor, to destroy a will just before his death that left his entire estate to his bride of two years probably will never be public known.

Through her attorneys, Mrs. Gertrude Gompers, the widow, filed notice today of her withdrawal of a contest of the dead labor leader's will, and her acceptance of the later will, executed only a few weeks before Gompers' death. In the second will, she was cut off with dower rights, the bulk of the estate going to Gompers' children and grand children. Domestic difficulties are said to have been the cause of the change in wills.

The Gompers' estate is valued at $40,000.

LONDON SPURNS ITALY'S OFFER

Mussolini Proposal of Security Pact Angers France.

LONDON, Mar. 23.—Premier Mussolini, of Italy, has offered Great Britain a security pact which would exclude France, according to a Paris dispatch to the Daily Chronicle. England has rejected the proposal, the dispatch stated, but France is aroused over Mussolini's move.

Security pact negotiations were gaining momentum today. The French ambassador, M. Fleuriau, has returned to Paris to report to Premier Herriot on the situation. Austen Chamberlain, secretary of state for foreign affairs, will report to the house tomorrow on the progress made thus far.

The German embassy has cleared up some of the points of the German proposal with the announcement of Germany's intention to join the League of Nations. Britain is inclined to consider the German proposal favorably, but Poland's objection will have to be met. It is based on Germany's willingness to guarantee her western borders, but reluctance to guard her eastern borders, preferring to submit any dispute there to arbitration.

Poland is an ally of France, therefore Premier Herriot finds himself in a dilemma as a result of the German plan.

Storm Victims Offer Prayers.

BENTON, Ill., Mar. 23—As though, given strength to conquer their mighty handicap in answer to fervent supplications that flowed from every heart and fell from every lip, storm and fire-ridden southern Illinois, bent to the colossal task today of rehabilitation and staving off the odious possibility of pestilence.

Prayers—Some silent and some hurled into the heavens with hysterical fervency—rose from the forlorn masses who gathered in united worship Sunday.

The eternal flame of hope, that in the ghastly hours following last Wednesday's orgy of the elements seemed forever quenched, became re-kindled today. The willingness with which hundreds or homeless turned toward the re-building of their shattered world, lent an aura of cheer over the horizon on which only devastation was visible.

Plan To Re-open Schools.

Among the first reconstruction tasks will be the re-opening of schools. Children will not be allowed to work and resumption of studies is expected within the next 10 days.

Perhaps the most exhausted men in the entire afflicted region today were the undertakers and their assistants. Many have worked continuously, day and night.

Under a strenuous program outlined by chamber of commerce officials it is hoped to have living quarters and employment centers sufficiently rebuilt and under way within six months to dispense with relief agencies.

There was quite a demand for scarlet letters, it appears.

Voltaire was ahead of Prof. Lawrence. He told of earnest Roundheads calling upon the deeply religious Cromwell and told to come another day as Cromwell was then "busy seeking the Lord." The fact was, according to Voltaire, that Cromwell, at that moment was in gay company, seeking, not the Lord, but the corkscrew which had fallen under the table.

kept up a brazen attitude until the inquest into the death of her mother. Then she broke down when a picture of her slain mother was flashed on a screen. Since then she has been a sobered girl and at times some fears were entertained for her health in the county jail.

Father Helps

Attorneys for her defense were provided by her father and brother, who at first were extremely bitter against the girl. However, they relented and secured funds for her defense.

Expecting a battle of alienists, the state has retained Dr. Joseph Catton as its chief psychiatrist and his testimony will be used in rebuttal to that introduced by the defense.

All phases of medical testimony will be employed, it is expected.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 23.—Industrial stocks declined sharply in early trading today, support was lacking in a number of important market leaders, including the so-called pool stocks. Price declines reached a maximum of four points in a number of these shares. With the exception of the Pan-Americans, oil stocks also received a fresh outburst of selling and a good portion of last week's recoveries were wiped out. Baldwin Locomotive lost 3½ points in the first transaction and U. S. Steel sold a full point below Saturday's close.

Market sentiment was still under the influence of the violent selling movement which closed Saturday's session, and which was featured by the heavy decline in local traction stocks. Manhattan Elevated modified guaranteed shares broke through to a new low at 37¼, down about three points from Saturday's close. The bonds of traction companies were also reactionary.

Selling pressure increased in the second hour and most of the active industrial and specialty stocks were headed for lower price levels.

Following out their policy of "selling on rallies," bearish traders have launched sharp attacks on market leaders, many of which have been recording new low prices for 1924 in the present movement. American Can sold down to 171 today for a further loss of three points; Cast Iron Pipe was down ten points; Savage Arms broke through to a new low at 80, a total decline of 28 points from last months high. Independent steel stocks were unable to resist the pressure of heavy selling and declined with the copper, shipping and equipment stocks.

With Pennsylvania crude oil cut 20 to 35 cents a barrel today and gasoline prices showing an easier tendency in the weeks prior to the heavy consuming season, oil stocks lost more of their buoyancy. Even Pan-American, which led a brilliant rally last week, was placed on the ceiling counter and dropped to 76½ for the B stock, a loss of seven points from last week's high. Standard Oil and dividend-paying independent oil stocks flooded the market and prices broke a point or two from recent high levels.

SENATE TO O. K. GUILFORD BILL

State Park Measure Will be Enacted, Says Carpenter.

The proposal for a state park on the site of the old Guilford dam in Hanover township will pass the senate by a unanimous vote, State Senator Harry M. Carpenter, Steubenville, predicted today.

The bill was enacted by the house of representatives last week, and immediately sent to the senate. It was referred to the senate finance committee and 10 minutes later was reported favorably by the committee. It is likely that the measure will come up for a vote in the senate either Wednesday or Thursday.

The bill sets aside $32,500 with which to purchase not exceeding 500 acres of land in the vicinity of the dam. An appropriation is also made to cover the expense in closing up the gap in the dam, which was made when the pond was drained many years ago.

Governor A. V. Donahey has indicated that he will sign the measure immediately upon passage by the senate.

A special meeting of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association will be held at Lisbon as soon as the proposed bill is enacted. The game association is arranging plans for its annual outing and field day, which will be held at the state park this year.

The county commissioners will consider a plan of improving the roads leading to the park as soon as the bill becomes a law. Improved roads will likely be built from the Cox highway on the north and from the Lincoln highway on the south.

RUSS FAMINE GROWS WORSE

Nearly 2,000,000 Children are Reported Without Food.

LONDON, March 23.—Russia's famine situation daily grows more menacing, according to reports coming into London from several sources.

The newspaper, "The Communist," of Kharkov, is authority for the statement that 750,000 children are literally starving in the Ukraine.

There are 420,000 children without food in the Kharkov district, and another 230,000 in Odessa.

The Soviet has succeeded only in organizing partial relief for 91,000 sufferers. The Donetz, Podolsk and Volhynia regions also are affected.

April and May will be the crucial months, the report said.

and before it could be removed Sheriff George Wright arrived on the scene. He questioned the lads and Vess admitted, it is alleged, that he stole the car in East Liverpool.

The lads were brought to this city at 1:30 o'clock this morning and locked up. Inasmuch as all four are juveniles, the case was turned over to Probation Officer John McShane, who took them to Lisbon.

Barnes, McConnell and Crytzer denied any knowledge that the machine had been stolen.

Other Arrests Expected.

In ordering the boy held for the Bureau of Juvenile Research, the opinion was expressed that the lad was suffering from a mental ailment. It was testified that he was struck by a high tension wire back in 1915.

Everett Vess, father of the lad, appeared in court to plead for his son, asserting the boy was attending school and had given him very little trouble. The court's decision will not be announced until the research department at Columbus completes its investigation.

The police are working on clues which may result in further arrests within the next 24 hours, as the result of admissions made by the four lads apprehended today.

Approximately 50 automobiles have been stolen here since January 1, the majority of which have been recovered or accounted for. The police believe youthful joy riders to be responsible for the greater part of the thefts.

Verdict Expected Tonight or Tomorrow In Dennistoun Case

LONDON, March 23.—A verdict tonight or tomorrow was indicated as the Dennistoun case, a suit for $6,000, which has run up its costs on all counts to a total estimated to be $150,000, neared a close.

The usual society crowd filled the court room early to listen to Sir Ellis Hume Williams attack Colonel Ian Dennistoun in summing up for Mrs. Dorothy Dennistoun, the plaintiff. His argument was to be followed by the judge's remarks to the jury.

Sir Ellis, in his argument, mentioned the small amount claimed by Mrs. Dennistoun on the score of debts she says she paid for her former husband. The husband said he could not understand the mentality of a man who was living in luxury in London and yet fought such a case.

Widow of Gompers Quits Fight Over Labor Chief's Will

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—The reasons that prompted Samuel Gompers, late president of the American Federation of Labor, to destroy a will just before his death that left his entire estate to his bride of two years probably will never be public known.

Through her attorneys, Mrs. Gertrude Gompers, the widow, filed notice today of her withdrawal of a contest of the dead labor leader's will, and her acceptance of the later will, executed only a few weeks before Gompers' death. In the second will, she was cut off with dower rights, the bulk of the estate going to Gompers' children and grand children. Domestic difficulties are said to have been the cause of the change in wills.

The Gompers' estate is valued at $40,000.

LONDON SPURNS ITALY'S OFFER

Mussolini Proposal of Security Pact Angers France.

LONDON, Mar. 23.—Premier Mussolini, of Italy, has offered Great Britain a security pact which would exclude France, according to a Paris dispatch to the Daily Chronicle. England has rejected the proposal, the dispatch stated, but France is aroused over Mussolini's move.

Security pact negotiations were gaining momentum today. The French ambassador, M. Fleuriau, has returned to Paris to report to Premier Herriot on the situation. Austen Chamberlain, secretary of state for foreign affairs, will report to the house tomorrow on the progress made thus far.

The German embassy has cleared up some of the points of the German proposal with the announcement of Germany's intention to join the League of Nations. Britain is inclined to consider the German proposal favorably, but Poland's objection will have to be met. It is based on Germany's willingness to guarantee her western borders, but reluctance to guard her eastern borders, preferring to submit any dispute there to arbitration.

Poland is an ally of France, therefore Premier Herriot finds himself in a dilemma as a result of the German plan.

Storm Victims Offer Prayers.

BENTON, Ill., Mar. 23—As though given strength to conquer their mighty handicap in answer to fervent supplications that flowed from every heart and fell from every lip, storm and fire-ridden southern Illinois, bent to the colossal task today of rehabilitation and staving off the odious possibility of pestilence.

Prayers—Some silent and some hurled into the heavens with hysterical fervency—rose from the forlorn masses who gathered in united worship Sunday.

The eternal flame of hope, that in the ghastly hours following last Wednesday's orgy of the elements seemed forever quenched, became re-kindled today. The willingness with which hundreds or homeless turned toward the re-building of their shattered world, lent an aura of cheer over the horizon on which only devastation was visible.

Plan To Re-open Schools.

Among the first reconstruction tasks will be the re-opening of schools.

Children will not be allowed to work and resumption of studies is expected within the next 10 days.

Perhaps the most exhausted men in the entire afflicted region today were the undertakers and their assistants. Many have worked continuously, day and night.

Under a strenuous program outlined by chamber of commerce officials it is hoped to have living quarters and employment centers sufficiently rebuilt and under way within six months to dispense with relief agencies.

WOMAN IS DYING; SON-IN-LAW HELD

MARIETTA, O., Mar. 23. — John Haines, 14, is under arrest today charged with shooting to death Mrs. Benn Summers, wife of a Cairo, W. Va., merchant. Haines, also, is charged with trying to kill Mrs. Summers' son. Haines, who had lived at the Summers' home since last fall, is believed to have escaped from one of the Ohio reformatories.

There was quite a demand for scarlet letters, it appears.

Voltaire was ahead of Prof. Lawrence. He told of earnest Roundheads calling upon the deeply religious Cromwell and told to come another day as Cromwell was then "busy seeking the Lord." The fact was, according to Voltaire, that Cromwell, at that moment was in gay company, seeking, not the Lord, but the corkscrew which had fallen under the table.

Attorneys for her defense were provided by her father and brother, who at first were extremely bitter against the girl. However, they relented and secured funds for her defense.

Expecting a battle of alienists, the state has retained Dr. Joseph Catton as its chief psychiatrist and his testimony will be used in rebuttal to that introduced by the defense.

All phases of medical testimony will be employed, it is expected.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 23.—Industrial stocks declined sharply in early trading today, support was lacking in a number of important market leaders, including the so-called pool stocks. Price declines reached a maximum of four points in a number of these shares. With the exception of the Pan-Americans, oil stocks also received a fresh outburst of selling and a good portion of last week's recoveries were wiped out. Baldwin Locomotive lost 3½ points in the first transaction and U. S. Steel sold a full point below Saturday's close.

Market sentiment was still under the influence of the violent selling movement which closed Saturday's session, and which was featured by the heavy decline in local traction stocks. Manhattan Elevated modified guaranteed shares broke through to a new low at 37¼, down about three points from Saturday's close. The bonds of traction companies were also reactionary.

Selling pressure increased in the second hour and most of the active industrial and specialty stocks were headed for lower price levels.

Following out their policy of "selling on rallies," bearish traders have launched sharp attacks on market leaders, many of which have been recording new low prices for 1924 in the present movement. American Can sold down to 171 today for a further loss of three points; Cast Iron Pipe was down ten points; Savage Arms broke through to a new low at 80, a total decline of 28 points from last months high. Independent steel stocks were unable to resist the pressure of heavy selling and declined with the copper, shipping and equipment stocks.

With Pennsylvania crude oil cut 20 to 35 cents a barrel today and gasoline prices showing an easier tendency in the weeks prior to the heavy consuming season, oil stocks lost more of their buoyancy. Even Pan-American, which led a brilliant rally last week, was placed on the ceiling counter and dropped to 76⅜ for the B stock, a loss of seven points from last week's high. Standard Oil and dividend-paying independent oil stocks flooded the market and prices broke a point or two from recent high levels.

APPROVE CITY PARK MOVEMENT

Wellsville council, Knights of Columbus, unanimously indorsed the Hammond Park tag day sale, to be held next Saturday, at their regular meeting yesterday in the council headquarters here.

Appealing for support of the movement, Grattan V. Dugan, secretary of the park commission, said: "The question which confronts the city at this time is, shall the city's enviable record for generosity remain unsullied or shall failure to respond liberally leave a blot upon the record that has made Wellsville the envy of the entire county.

"We are working for the interests of the citizens of this municipality, do not doubt that people will feel greater than ever when we scan the pages of city history and learn of the sacrifice and hardships endured by the founders of this city and who they untiringly strove to procure for their dependents a place to live that would afford all the comforts of which they were deprived. The initial purchase price of this city was far less than the value of this park site.

"In true American spirit the fathers of our city denied themselves many of the comforts of life in their endeavor to make for civil welfare. That they succeeded is attested by the fact that today we have a city of some 9,000 or 10,000 people and industries representing investments of well over $3,000,000. The Pennsylvania railroad, during the last 10 years, had improved its holdings while during the year the United States Steel corporation has expended over $500,000 in new buildings and equipment at the local plant, all of which bespeaks a favored attitude toward our city.

"On Saturday, March 28, citizens will be given an opportunity to promote progress or retard it. Let us boost Wellsville-Hammond park and may we record one more achievement for the city. To those who are able, we say, give all you can; to those less fortunate, please give a dollar; but to all we say, give extra good will.

Expressions of commendation for the Hammond park tag day movement have been received from W. L. Fogo & Sons, real estate and insurance dealers; Julius Goetz, clothiers; and D. N. MacLean, undertaker.

COMMON SENSE IN SMALL DOSES

Curses on these pecky flies
That romp across our custard pies;
From the barnyard and the dust,
Trailing microbes o'er the crust.

The fewer the clothes the better the baby.

We can't keep clean milk clean when the ice box isn't.

Don't wear a tight shoe—a tender foot won't stand for it.

It used to be that none could pass
Who had not swallowed sassafras;
It's now considered now the thing
To guzzle tonics in the spring.

And now it seems the lack of screens doth cause a lot of fever.

Engaged? "Yes," Says She; "No"—He

George J. Gillespie, Sr., prominent New York attorney, denies he is engaged to Miss Frances Marion Brandon, woman lawyer of Manhattan, despite her declarations to that effect, contained in paid notices in newspapers. "The idea of marrying Miss Brandon never occurred to me," states Gillespie, who is personal counsel of Cardinal Haves.

Walking sticks were carried by bridesmaids at a wedding in England recently.

Toss of Penny Sways Court.

What Your Eyes Tell Others.

Students of such things say that the intellectual person has eyes of grey, while brown eyes express temperament rather than intellect. Blue and grey eyes nevertheless are said to express sadness with greater facility and brown eyes more readily respond to joy and anger. Green and black eyes are put under the classification "most wicked." Actually there are no black eyes, however, as only dark brown or dark grey eyes show up as black in certain lights.

Highest Point Honors Knight.

Mount Everett, the highest known point in the world, was named in honor of Sir George Everest, Surveyor-General of India. An African mountain, first seen by the explorer Stanley, was named Gordon Bennett Mountain after the famous New York and Paris newspaper proprietor who backed Stanley's work in darkest Africa. Livingstonia, a mission station near Lake Nyassa, and Stanley Pool, near the Congo, perpetuate the names of the intrepid explorers.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, MARCH 23, 1925.

The Stock Slump

Securities have been dropping lately, and there is gloom about it in Wall Street and some other quarters. A calm view of the situation shows nothing much to worry about.

The New York Times aptly describes the mid-March slump as "another violent readjustment in markets whose prices had been jacked up this season to extravagant heights."

There was a generous and natural rise in both the stock market and the wheat market, caused by real investors who properly appraised the business situation and the immediate outlook. So far, good! But on top of this rise came an effort on the part of mere stock speculators to inflate securities and grain beyond all reasonable limits. Deflation had to come sooner or later. With the market down to a sane level again, which is still considerably above last year's level business is on a sounder basis for going ahead.

Fundamental conditions stand nearly all the usual tests for soundness. Car loadings continue enormous and steady, showing that the country as a whole is doing a huge volume of business, in spite of weak spots here and there. Bank balances and savings show remarkable strength. The steel industry, ordinarily regarded as the best business barometer, is reported as operating on 90 to 95 per cent capacity. Unemployment continues to diminish.

It may be that capacity for production has outrun capacity for consumption in some industries. As a whole, the margin is probably small. Consumption, already heavy, is slowly increasing, and soon should be keeping industry still more actively occupied.

Farewell the Whale

Now it is the whale that is menaced with early extinction. Modern methods of capturing these mighty creatures of the sea are responsible for their gradual disappearance. The gun-harpoon has made it possible to catch nearly 12,000 whales in the Falkland islands region alone in a single year.

It is said that steel is replacing whalebone in many of its uses, and petroleum is substituting successfully in the industries that formerly required whale oil.

Perhaps something will be done to spare the whale, just as protection is being developed for many smaller creatures of the earth, air and water. Certainly it would be a difficult proposition to keep the last whale in an aquarium or a museum.

Some of the beasts of the days when the world was young are supposed to have disappeared naturally as their usefulness was outgrown or they failed in the evolutionary process of adapting ever, it is man's reckless slaughter of wild things that is making themselves to changing conditions. In the present period, how- for their extinction and depriving coming generations of the pleasure and profit of seeing them in real life instead of pictures and museums.

Entertaining Ads

An advertising expert, speaking to other advertisers, urges that newspaper display ads be made more humorous and less stiff and serious. He ran through a daily newspaper calling attention to two news stories on the first page humorously treated, a humorous poem on the fourth page dealing with a current topic, and an editorial advocating rubber lamp posts. "The spirit of these stories might be projected into the advertising columns to good effect," he concluded.

There is real point to this. Many advertisers have already livene dup their ads with friendly or humorous touctes that are eagerly read by the public. Others seem to take their goods and their ads with deadly seriousness, setting them forth with such dignity and solemnity that there isn't much pleasure in reading them.

Now that newspaper advertising fills so much space and if of so much importance, there is no reason why it should not be made readable, attractive, humanly appealing, and even occasionally humorous, like other parts of a live newspaper.

Wooden Indians

An American newspaper started a movement to preserve a form of American art—if you can call it that—which threatens to become extinct. It is the wooden Indian, formerly regarded as a necessary symbol and advertisement of every tobacco store. The paper is rounding up surviving specimens for exhibition and preservation. The best of them will be placed in a museum.

The effort calls attention to a picturesque feature of our city streets in past generations, which will be missed, and whose disappearance is somewhat hard to explain. That wooden Indian, whether male or female, seemed somehow appropriate and inevitable as a tobacco sign. To many a middle-aged smoker, tobacco hardly tastes the same since Poor Lo vanished from the sidewalk. Posters of elegant and bored youths puffing dainty cigarets are poor substitutes. There was flavor, color and atmosphere about that old wooden Indian.

Surely he—or she—should be preserved, along with contemporary candle-molds, muzzle-loading rifles, powder-horns, spinnets, fire bellows and spinning wheels. Moreover, somebody should start a movement to save a few iron and stone hitching posts, particularly those representing horses' heads or colored jockeys, before it is everlastingly too late.

Rich people get that way by pretending they're poor, and poor people get that way by pretending they're rich.

HASKIN'S LETTER
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Planning for Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—There is a growing realization among the people of the United States that Washington, the capital city, belongs to them, and not merely to the comparatively small proportion of the nation's population which is resident there. Consequently citizens from all sections are taking a more personal interest in doing what they can to make this the most beautiful city in the country and favorably comparable with the other great capitals of the world.

The development all over the country of federal city committees, sponsored by the American Civic association has been a result of this. The American Institute of Architects proposed a city-planning commission to over come the primary difficulty—the lack of co-ordinated planning—and a committee of 55 architects was organized to work with other groups for Washington.

The chairman of the American Institute of Architects' committee is Horace W. Peaslee, who has been most active in this movement. Frederick Law Olmstead, Jr., chairman of the landscape architects' committee. George B. Ford, president of City Planning institute, and Miss Harlean James, secretary of the American Civic association, are working in close co-operation on the idea. Many other professional and business groups have become actively interested.

At the present time there is not centralized system of planning for the expansion of Washington. The parks and park trees come under one jurisdiction; the streets and the street trees under another. The fine arts commission, the first of which was appointed by President Taft, is merely an advisory body and renders opinions only on sculpture, park projects and public structures. It has no jurisdiction over the streets, or over the private building developments.

During the last session of congress a bill embodying the recommendations as to this proposed commission was introduced in the senate by Mr. King, of Utah, and in the house by Mr. Zihlman, of Maryland. It was reported favorably in both the senate and the house, but did not come to a vote owing to the congestion of legislation at the last moment. It met with practically no opposition and it is expected that it will be brought up at the next session when it is hoped that it will be passed.

Will Serve Without Pay.

Mr. Zihlman in his report says that "the professional societies have worked consistently to stimulate public interest and to focus the attention of the country upon the possibilities for the improvement of the capital, and we are assured that men of the highest technical attainments will be willing to serve upon the federal city planning commission without compensation and as a matter of professional pride and patriotism."

Washington is admittedly one of the most beautiful cities in the world. It is said to have the largest number of trees. Not so many years ago the downtown business streets were shaded. New Hampshire avenue, above Dupont circle, is lined with American elms, forming an archway. To many this is one of the most beautiful and inviting streets in the city.

The mayor of Tokio presented to Mrs. Taft Japanese cherry trees which were planted along the Speedway around Potomac park. These have received so much publicity that they are probably as familiar to the average American as the capitol or the White House. Every spring thousands of visitors come from all parts of the United States to see the lovely blossoms. On a Sunday afternoon during the season when these trees are in bloom it is almost impossible to get around the Speedway at a rate of more than five or six miles an hour because of the number of automobiles.

Congress holds the purse-strings for Washington. While the citizens pay land taxes, as in other communities, such revenues are placed in the treasury and merged with the appropriations of congress. Formerly there was a 50-50 ratio, but now it is 60-40—that is the residents of the District provide 60 per cent of the money used to defray the expenses, while congress appropriates 40 per cent. And congress must pass on all such matters such as widening a street or purchasing land for a new park or a new playground.

Very often by the time the necessary authorization for the purchase of land for a park has been given by congress, and the money appropriated, the price has become prohibitive or else the land has become unsuitable for park purposes.

In 1920 a zoning commission was created, consisting of the three commissioners of the District, the officer in charge of public buildings and grounds and the superintendent of the capitol. This commission was charged with the duty of zoning the District into residential, first and second commercial and industrial districts. While this commission has already accomplished much good, its success will probably become more apparent as time goes on. As it is there are still many residential blocks marred by grocery stores, business offices and other "non-conforming uses," which present at the time the zoning law went into effect.

New Projects Proposed.

There are, of course, constantly and eternally various projects for the improvement of the nation's capital. One that is the subject of much discussion is the making of a parkway of all the land surrounding the Lincoln memorial. It is argued that the setting of this great memorial is marred by the navy and munitions buildings which were erected there during the World war as an emergency measure. Also to the north of this memorial are many dilapidated and ugly houses which do not lend beauty to the Lincoln memorial or to the new Academy of Science building.

Another long advocated project is a suitable archive building for government documents and files. It has been pointed out many times that very valuable papers are housed in buildings which are not fire-proof and are likely to destruction at any time. It was thus that the records of the 1890 census were lost.

TWO—HASKIN

The American Civic association hopes to impress upon the people of the United States their responsibility and their opportunity to make the capital of the nation a worthy realization of the plans of George Washington and his associates, Thomas Jefferson, Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant and Major Andrew Ellicott. It is felt that in this age of specialization, the planning of the national capital should not be left to diverse organizations with as many different points of view.

The chairman of the American Institute of Architects, committee on plan of Washington and environs, says: "Washington must have eventually, and might just as well have now, a competent and properly qualified body created for the purpose of developing a comprehensive plan for the entire District of Columbia and its environs, with co-ordinated zoning, housing, traffic and transportation, schools and playground, park and highways, industrial development, forest and farm reserves."

PARIS, March 23.—The most sophisticated persons in Paris are the young chausseurs attached to every hotel and cafe. Their English is flawless. They range in age from 14 to 18 and their duties are multitudinous.

They act as interpreters, bargain with taxi drivers after midnight, carry messages and other chores. They are hardened to vice and few Montmartre secrets escape them. Many are vendors of drugs.

They make more in tips than head waiters and numberless French so called lower classes live in luxury off their young sons. Class distinction in France is pronounced. Someone has compared it to a glass of ale, frothy at the top, dregs at the bottom and solid in the middle.

The chausseur in his environment usually becomes a cutpurse and comes to a bad end. I notice in today's paper that one at the age of 15 has been arrested for giving a woman knockout drops and then scampering away with her purse and jewels.

Rubbing against life in the raw has made them quick and mentally alert. They know of the foulest dens in Paris and will escort you there for the rake off they receive from the proprietors. They are on salary to drum up business.

It is rather disheartening to see youth so spoiled and gives Americans a fresh appreciation of the manner in which we guard the morals of our young. I talked to one stationed in front of a night haunt on the Left Bank.

He said he usually became intoxicated before the night was over, but that he had not yet become addicted to cocaine. He intimated most of his fellow chausseurs were "dopes."

Behind the barred doors of many sordid looking streets in Paris are some of the most beautiful courtyards. Streets here speak still for men who are now dust. Others bear the names of royal houses, of king's ministers and mistresses. At night Paris streets are deserted for the true Parisian goes to bed early. Ten o'clock is late for him.

The Paris drayman is a merry fellow, cracking his whip over the head of his huge Norman horse. His long spindly dray usually carries barrels of red wine. He treats them as airy things and tosses, twirls and trundles them about as though they were feathers. The drayman is generally whistling or singing.

Nearly all cabaret entertainers here are Russians. So many are broke that they gladly work for a few francs. I have never been able to catch their magic caprice or alien jocundity. I have seen so many of them do that sitting down dance that even at my age I believe I could do it myself. Perhaps Paris is making me spry.

Count Boni de Castellane, former husband of Anna Gould, is a familiar figure about the Ritz. Despite his years he is still an active and dashing figure in Parisian life. The count dresses with meticulous care and his clothes are the handiwork of wasters. And speaking of clothes, what Europe calls the smoking jacket and what we call the dinner suit or Tuxedo is completely out of fashion here. In all the smart assemblages at the Ritz for dinner last night there were only two dinner suits—one was my own and the other belonged to a gentleman who looked as though he might be the leading chirapractor of Russet Gap, Iowa.

I also saw the famous Mrs. Nash last night who has been heralded as the best dressed woman in Europe. She had just come from Cairo with her current husband, an Egyptian Bey. Her arms bore jewels from the wrist to the elbow and if jewels make one well dressed she was. Meeow!

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES
By WILLIAM PARKER.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Whisky which is believed to cost 5 cents a quart to manufacture in Scotland sells for $20 a quart in some of New York's exclusive supper clubs, if you are willing to accept the word of investigators.

United States District Attorney Emory Buckner, of New York, sent two young lawyer friends and their wives into the supper clubs' district to obtain evidence for padlock prosecution, and they spent $1,500.

"They must have bought ham sandwiches and near beer," remarked a Broadway "smart cracker."

The New York supper clubs, 14 of which have been served with papers in padlock injunction proceedings, have become almost a ninth wonder of the amusement world. Where the people come from to pay the extravagant prices charged has been a mystery even to the club proprietors.

The clubs are emphatic in declaring they do NOT sell intoxicating liquor. Federal investigators emphatically assert that many of them do.

A reporter went out recently to answer the question to his own satisfaction. He ordered a Scotch highball.

"Nothing like that here, mister," blandly replied the waiter.

The reporter sent for the head waiter and repeated the order.

"Have you anything to identify you?" asked the head waiter.

The reporter reached carelessly into his pocket for a card and, by mistake, handed over his card of admittance to the United States senate press gallery. The head waiter studied it and then instructed the waiter:

"This guy's all right."

He got the Scotch highball.

There are approximately 50 supper clubs in New York, most of them in the uptown or theatrical district, the streets which number in the Forties, "the roystering Forties," they are called.

A cover charge ranges from $2 to $5. One club which charges $15 for each person closed recently. NOT because people would NOT pay the tax, but because of a partnership squabble.

The supper club idea originated in London, and has been elaborated upon by New York cafe men. The clubs are merely cafes, very small cafes usually and with likewise very small tables, hardly large enough, in fact, to hold a bottle, a bowl of cracked ice and glasses for the people seated at the table.

Nightly they are packed almost to the point of suffocation. The tiny dance floor is crowded with people who are elbowed and jostled in a way that would start a riot on a subway platform. It costs about $15 for a couple to attend a supper club, coming in after the theater, seats for which probably cost them $15 from a ticket speculator.

One of the most popular of the clubs are owned by a man who was in turn a policeman and owner of a string of taxicabs. He was said to have had at one time his own fleet of rum running launches and was reported to have lost $300,000 in a single summer when government rum runners capture his boats and incoming stock.

A woman "master of ceremonies" at one important club recently estimated her percentage of cover and other charge at $18,000 monthly. Previously she had never had a highly paid stage role.

New Yorkers who make their first trip to Paris express their disappointment, on returning, at the tameness of the Paris cafes as compared to the New York supper clubs.

The Stock Slump

Securities have been dropping lately, and there is gloom about it in Wall Street and some other quarters. A calm view of the situation shows nothing much to worry about.

The New York Times aptly describes the mid-March slump as "another violent readjustment in markets whose prices had been jacked up this season to extravagant heights."

There was a generous and natural rise in both the stock market and the wheat market, caused by real investors who properly appraised the business situation and the immediate outlook. So far, good! But on top of this rise came an effort on the part of mere stock speculators to inflate securities and grain beyond all reasonable limits. Deflation had to come sooner or later. With the market down to a sane level again, which is still considerably above last year's level business is on a sounder basis for going ahead.

Fundamental conditions stand nearly all the usual tests for soundness. Car loadings continue enormous and steady, showing that the country as a whole is doing a huge volume of business, in spite of weak spots here and there. Bank balances and savings show remarkable strength. The steel industry, ordinarily regarded as the best business barometer, is reported as operating on 90 to 95 per cent capacity. Unemployment continues to diminish.

It may be that capacity for production has outrun capacity for consumption in some industries. As a whole, the margin is probably small. Consumption, already heavy, is slowly increasing, and soon should be keeping industry still more actively occupied.

Farewell the Whale

Now it is the whale that is menaced with early extinction. Modern methods of capturing these mighty creatures of the sea are responsible for their gradual disappearance. The gun-harpoon has made it possible to catch nearly 12,000 whales in the Falkland islands region alone in a single year.

It is said that steel is replacing whalebone in many of its uses, and petroleum is substituting successfully in the industries that formerly required whale oil.

Perhaps something will be done to spare the whale, just as protection is being developed for many smaller creatures of the earth, air and water. Certainly it would be a difficult proposition to keep the last whale in an aquarium or a museum.

Some of the beasts of the days when the world was young are supposed to have disappeared naturally as their usefulness was outgrown or they failed in the evolutionary process of adapting ever, it is man's reckless slaughter of wild things that is making themselves to changing conditions. In the present period, how- for their extinction and depriving coming generations of the pleasure and profit of seeing them in real life instead of pictures and museums.

Entertaining Ads

An advertising expert, speaking to other advertisers, urges that newspaper display ads be made more humorous and less stiff and serious. He ran through a daily newspaper calling attention to two news stories on the first page humorously treated, a humorous poem on the fourth page dealing with a current topic, and an editorial advocating rubber lamp posts. "The spirit of these stories might be projected into the advertising columns to good effect," he concluded.

There is real point to this. Many advertisers have already livene dup their ads with friendly or humorous touctes that are eagerly read by the public. Others seem to take their goods and their ads with deadly seriousness, setting them forth with such dignity and solemnity that there isn't much pleasure in reading them.

Now that newspaper advertising fills so much space and if of so much importance, there is no reason why it should not be made readable, attractive, humanly appealing, and even occasionally humorous, like other parts of a live newspaper.

Wooden Indians

An American newspaper started a movement to preserve a form of American art—if you can call it that—which threatens to become extinct. It is the wooden Indian, formerly regarded as a necessary symbol and advertisement of every tobacco store. The paper is rounding up surviving specimens for exhibition and preservation. The best of them will be placed in a museum.

The effort calls attention to a picturesque feature of our city streets in past generations, which will be missed, and whose disappearance is somewhat hard to explain. That wooden Indian, whether male or female, seemed somehow appropriate and inevitable as a tobacco sign. To many a middle-aged smoker, tobacco hardly tastes the same since Poor Lo vanished from the sidewalk. Posters of elegant and bored youths puffing dainty cigarets are poor substitutes. There was flavor, color and atmosphere about that old wooden Indian.

Surely he—or she—should be preserved, along with contemporary candle-molds, muzzle-loading rifles, powder-horns, spinnets, fire bellows and spinning wheels. Moreover, somebody should start a movement to save a few iron and stone hitching posts, particularly those representing horses' heads or colored jockeys, before it is everlastingly too late.

Rich people get that way by pretending they're poor, and poor people get that way by pretending they're rich.

A statistician complains of the "density of automobiles." More trouble is made by the density of automobilists.

By WILLIAM PARKER.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Whisky which is believed to cost 5 cents a quart to manufacture in Scotland sells for $20 a quart in some of New York's exclusive supper clubs, if you are willing to accept the word of investigators.

United States District Attorney Emory Buckner, of New York, sent two young lawyer friends and their wives into the supper clubs' district to obtain evidence for padlock prosecution, and they spent $1,500.

"They must have bought ham sandwiches and near beer," remarked a Broadway "smart cracker."

The New York supper clubs, 14 of which have been served with papers in padlock injunction proceedings, have become almost a ninth wonder of the amusement world. Where the people come from to pay the extravagant prices charged has been a mystery even to the club proprietors.

The clubs are emphatic in declaring they do NOT sell intoxicating liquor. Federal investigators emphatically assert that many of them do.

A reporter went out recently to answer the question to his own satisfaction. He ordered a Scotch highball.

"Nothing like that here, mister," blandly replied the waiter.

The reporter sent for the head waiter and repeated the order.

"Have you anything to identify you?" asked the head waiter.

The reporter reached carelessly into his pocket for a card and, by mistake, handed over his card of admittance to the United States senate press gallery. The head waiter studied it and then instructed the waiter:

"This guy's all right."

He got the Scotch highball.

There are approximately 50 supper clubs in New York, most of them in the uptown or theatrical district, the streets which number in the Forties, "the roystering Forties," they are called.

A cover charge ranges from $2 to $5. One club which charges $15 for each person closed recently. NOT because people would NOT pay the tax, but because of a partnership squabble.

The supper club idea originated in London, and has been elaborated upon by New York cafe men. The clubs are merely cafes, very small cafes usually and with likewise very small tables, hardly large enough, in fact, to hold a bottle, a bowl of cracked ice and glasses for the people seated at the table.

Nightly they are packed almost to the point of suffocation. The tiny dance floor is crowded with people who are elbowed and jostled in a way that would start a riot on a subway platform. It costs about $15 for a couple to attend a supper club, coming in after the theater, seats for which probably cost them $15 from a ticket speculator.

One of the most popular of the clubs are owned by a man who was in turn a policeman and owner of a string of taxicabs. He was said to have had at one time his own fleet of rum running launches and was reported to have lost $300,000 in a single summer when government rum runners capture his boats and incoming stock.

A woman "master of ceremonies" at one important club recently estimated her percentage of cover and other charge at $18,000 monthly. Previously she had never had a highly paid stage role.

New Yorkers who make their first trip to Paris express their disappointment, on returning, at the tameness of the Paris cafes as compared to the New York supper clubs.

"Kiss Map" Shown In Vienna Court By Angry Wife

VIENNA—The "kiss map" is the latest novelty to be introduced in the Viennese court.

Frau Ella Bauer brought an action against her young husband. She alleged that he went for evening walks with a pretty stenographer, kissing her at frequent intervals. In supporting her charge she produced an elaborate road map, prepared by a university student. On the map she indicated the walks that her husband and the stenographer had taken and large crosses marked the spots where she alleged the couple had stopped to indulge in embraces. The exact time and duration of the kisses were indicated upon the map.

The husband was fined $20 and the stenographer $10.

"Kiss Map" Shown In Vienna Court By Angry Wife

VIENNA—The "kiss map" is the latest novelty to be introduced in the Viennese court.

Frau Ella Bauer brought an action against her young husband. She alleged that he went for evening walks with a pretty stenographer, kissing her at frequent intervals. In supporting her charge she produced an elaborate road map, prepared by a university student. On the map she indicated the walks that her husband and the stenographer had taken and large crosses marked the spots where she alleged the couple had stopped to indulge in embraces. The exact time and duration of the kisses were indicated upon the map.

The husband was fined $20 and the stenographer $10.

Hearts and Dollars

Two Statements—one of which has to do with Health and Welfare, the other with Financial Strength

AN OPEN LETTER

(Name on Request)

MR. HALEY FISKE, President
METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO.
NEW YORK CITY

My Dear Mr. Fiske:

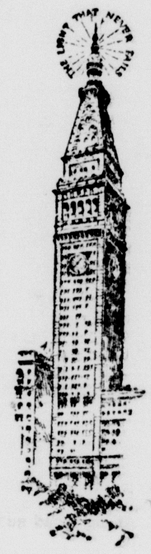
Why don't you publish a Heart Statement along with the regular Financial Statement you put out each year?

Any company can publish impressive figures of financial strength, financial growth, etc. But figures don't stick. All I remember from your last year's Statement is that the Metropolitan has several million policyholders and is the biggest life insurance company in the world.

I've been following some of your magazine advertisements lately that tell of work you're doing to help people live longer. It isn't entirely clear in my mind just how you're doing it or why you do it, but since you are doing it, give us the facts and figures on that. Call it a Heart Statement or a Welfare Statement, or anything you like, but—give us the facts.

Perhaps other Metropolitan policyholders like myself would be interested in a Statement of that kind.

Very truly yours,
C. N. S——.



WE are indebted to Mr. S. for his suggestion. It is an excellent one. We publish an annual Business Statement of the Metropolitan, not because we think that the figures will be remembered, but because they offer conclusive evidence of unusual growth and strength to its 22,000,000 policyholders.

And it is this extraordinary financial strength that makes it possible for the Metropolitan to carry on a nation-wide campaign for better health and longer life.

People now live longer

Records kept by the Metropolitan show an extraordinary decrease in the death rate among its policyholders. Compared with 1911, for example, there were nearly 62,000 fewer deaths in 1924 among its Industrial Policyholders than there would have been if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

While the average life span in the United States is 5½ years greater than it was 12 years ago, the life span of the Industrial Policyholders of the Metropolitan increased nearly 8½ years—a betterment of three years over the general average—in the same interval.

These increases in longer life are due in large part to the Metropolitan's Health and Welfare Work among its policyholders.

You are the gainer

You and all the other 22,000,000 policyholders—one out of every six people in the United States and Canada—reap the benefit through better health and decreased cost of insurance.

The wealth of the Metropolitan belongs to you and to no one else. The Metropolitan has no stock and no stockholders. It is owned solely by its policyholders. You, as one of the policyholders, share in the ownership of all its investments; in its railroad bonds, its real-estate mortgages, its loans to farmers, loans to states, cities and towns for public improvements and similar enterprises.

You, as a part-owner of over $1,600,000,000, should read the two statements on the left with a feeling of pride in what your company has achieved.

The efforts as well as the assets of the Metropolitan are dedicated to protection against future want—to greater happiness, better health and longer life.

Haley Fiske.

Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

Hearts and Dollars

Two Statements—one of which has to do with Health and Welfare, the other with Financial Strength

AN OPEN LETTER

(Name on Request)

MR. HALEY FISKE, President
METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO.
NEW YORK CITY

My Dear Mr. Fiske:

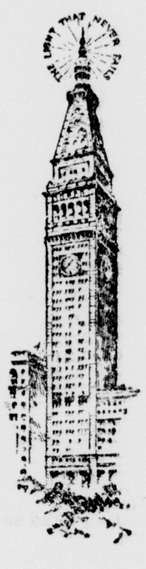
Why don't you publish a Heart Statement along with the regular Financial Statement you put out each year?

Any company can publish impressive figures of financial strength, financial growth, etc. But figures don't stick. All I remember from your last year's Statement is that the Metropolitan has several million policyholders and is the biggest life insurance company in the world.

I've been following some of your magazine advertisements lately that tell of work you're doing to help people live longer. It isn't entirely clear in my mind just how you're doing it or why you do it, but since you are doing it, give us the facts and figures on that. Call it a Heart Statement or a Welfare Statement, or anything you like, but—give us the facts.

Perhaps other Metropolitan policyholders like myself would be interested in a Statement of that kind.

Very truly yours,
C. N. S——.



WE are indebted to Mr. S. for his suggestion. It is an excellent one. We publish an annual Business Statement of the Metropolitan, not because we think that the figures will be remembered, but because they offer conclusive evidence of unusual growth and strength to its 22,000,000 policyholders.

And it is this extraordinary financial strength that makes it possible for the Metropolitan to carry on a nation-wide campaign for better health and longer life.

People now live longer

Records kept by the Metropolitan show an extraordinary decrease in the death rate among its policyholders. Compared with 1911, for example, there were nearly 62,000 fewer deaths in 1924 among its Industrial Policyholders than there would have been if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

While the average life span in the United States is 5½ years greater than it was 12 years ago, the life span of the Industrial Policyholders of the Metropolitan increased nearly 8½ years—a betterment of three years over the general average—in the same interval.

These increases in longer life are due in large part to the Metropolitan's Health and Welfare Work among its policyholders.

You are the gainer

You and all the other 22,000,000 policyholders—one out of every six people in the United States and Canada—reap the benefit through better health and decreased cost of insurance.

The wealth of the Metropolitan belongs to you and to no one else. The Metropolitan has no stock and no stockholders. It is owned solely by its policyholders. You, as one of the policyholders, share in the ownership of all its investments; in its railroad bonds, its real-estate mortgages, its loans to farmers, loans to states, cities and towns for public improvements and similar enterprises.

You, as a part-owner of over $1,600,000,000, should read the two statements on the left with a feeling of pride in what your company has achieved.

The efforts as well as the assets of the Metropolitan are dedicated to protection against future want—to greater happiness, better health and longer life.

Haley Fiske.

VIRGINIA DEBT BEING REDUCED

Paying Method Results in Big Saving to Taxpayers.

Nearly one half of the Virginia debt has been paid off in a period of five years, according to a statement issued recently by State Treasurer W. S Johnson. The total debt on January 1,1919, was $14,562,867.16. On that year the legislature passed a law providing for a cash payment of $1,062,876.16, which was made by the state treasurer to the Virginia debt commission in Washington. The law also provided for the issuance by the state of $13,500,000 of 3½ per cent 20 year bonds in payment of the remainder and made it mandatory that provision be made by the board of public works to pay interest charges and redeem $675,000 of the bonds each year.

The state treasurer has handled the redemption of these bonds. By buying when the market was favorable he has located and bought the bonds before they were due from holders in every part of the nation and in so doing has saved the sum of $562,385 within the five-year period. Treasurer Johnson estimates that the taxpayers can be saved over one and one half million dollars in the payment of the obligation.

Treasurer Johnson has estimated that the sum already saved the state on the bonds is sufficient to pay the expenses of his department for 18 years. The Virginia debt levy, because of these economies has been reduced from 10 cents to four cents.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did" So writes Mr. Frank J Trumbull of Jersey City, N J., whose letter goes on to say "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

Mrs. A. Ferguson Was in Wretched Health

County Ave. Woman Kept Going Down Hill Until She Almost Lost Hope.

Had No Idea That Any Medicine Would Help Her Like World's Tonic Did.

Remarkable indeed was the statement recently made by Mrs. A. Ferguson, County avenue, Wellsville. She said:

"I haver never paid any attention to proprietary medicine advertisements, but World's Tonic appealed to me as it was not claimed to be a cure-all but intended as a systematic treatment for catarrh, something I had suffered with for years.

"I purchased one bottle, and from the time I began to use it, I felt better. I had an idea it was my thoughts that made me feel like the medicine was really doing me good, but this has all vanished and I am now convinced that World's Tonic is a medicine of real merit, as it has proven it in my case.

"For the last two or three years I was almost an invalid and had used enough medicine to start a small drug store. My greatest burden was stomach trouble and catarrh of the head that impaired by hearing. Nothing I ate gave me strength. I fell off until I was nothing but a mere skeleton. Some said right at the start I had catarrh of the stomach and would never be well, but I never gave up as I had seen people as bad off as myself and they got well.

"I was nervous and the slightest noise would cause me to get excited and cause my heart to beast fast. I never had a night's rest in two years. After I finished my meals I would have fullness in the stomach.

"The least change in the weather would cause me to contract cold. My head would stop up and I would have heavy dull feelings over my eyes. Mucus dripped from my head into my throat and I was constantly spitting, but since using the third bottle of World's Tonic this has entirely gone and my hearing has greatly improved also.

"I can now eat things that I could not for a long time and what I eat is doing me good and I am gaining in flesh every day. My sleep is restful and I am not nearly so nervous. Everyone speaks of how well I am looking and I give all the praise to World's Tonic. It certainly has acted like magic in my case and I am very grateful for the good it has done."

BROOKE COUNTY OFFICIALS BUSY

Brooke county authorities were busy yesterday, and in all 19 were arrested during the day. Thirteen of this number came in one swoop, when a raid was conducted on the pool room conducted by Joe Weeda in Follansbee. The proprieotor, and 12 others were taken when, the officers say, they found a poker game in full swing in a room in the rear of the pool room. They will be given a hearing this evening before Squire A. D. Collett.

Enroute back to Wellsburg after the raid at the Weeda pool room the sheriff, driving an auto, was challenged to race by S. G. Archer, who was driving a sedan. Archer was overtaken, and paid $5 and costs for his fast work on the roads.

Earl Suddoth, of Follansbee, and Zernie McFadden, Walter Buchanan and Dave Bearden, all of Wellsburg, were arrested during the day on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year old girl. The girl is being held, and it was upon her statements that the four young men were taken into custody. McFadden and Suddoth have been released on bond.

WOMAN IS VICTIM OF GAS STOVE.

Mrs. Anne Hansell, 25, wife of Lloyd Hansell, Follansbee, was burned to death yesterday morning when her clothing caught fire from a gas stove in her home during the absence of her husband and children. She died in the Ohio Valley hospital at Steubenville.

The woman, who is subject to epileptic fits, collapsed while preparing the Sunday dinner and apparently fell over the gas range.

Neighbors, who made the discovery, found the woman's entire body enveloped in flames. After being given first aid attention by a Follansbee physician she was hurried to the hospital.

Mrs. Hansell leaves her husband and a one-year old son; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnston; and one sister, Flora Johnston.

FIREMEN FAVOR NEW CITY BUILDING

Members of the Chester Volunteer fire department at a recent meeting went on record as favoring the erection of a new municipal building. The question was discussed at length and met with approval of the majority present. The plan as proposed would have the cost met by the sale of bonds provided the duly qualified electors of the city endorse the project at the polls.

The new structure, according to its sponsors, would provide for housing the various municipal offices including the fire department and in addition be equipped with an up to date auditorium.

EDUCATORS BACK ALCOHOL MEASURE

That the state education department stands clearly behind the effort to put a law on the statute books requiring the teaching in the public schools of the effect of alcohol and narcotics on the human system is brought out in a letter from the state superintendent of schools, George M. Ford, to Mrs. J. Walter Barnes, state president of the W. C. T. U. The letter is in reply to one received by Captain Ford from Mrs. Barnes in which she urged his support of the bill introduced by Dr. Harriet B. Jones, of Glendale.

CARD OF THANKS.

Tip For Beginners.

Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.

Home Building Now Spreading at Rapid Pace Over the Nation

BEDFORD, Ind.—Home building on a broad scale is in progress throughout the nation, according to a survey by the Indiana Limestone Quarrymen's association.

"Reports would indicate a residential shortage approximatin $2,000,000,000. A substantial part of this may be made up during the present year, judging from preliminary activity," it is reported.

So successful was the contest of motor vehicles on the "circuit of cobblestone roads" in Lile, France, last September, that the event is to be an annual test for automobiles, tractors and motorcycles over roads that are in bad condition.

Many years ago a physician discovered it—

SOOTHING, healing Resinol Ointment. Since then doctors have been prescribing it widely for skin and scalp troubles, because they know that its unvarying quality, its gentle medication, and the success which attends its use are sufficient to insist on Resinol.

It seldom fails to give quick relief in all itching, burning skin troubles, because its soothing properties cause it to ease the irritation while healing the disorder.

Resinol Soap is a ready aid in treating skin troubles, and is a favorite for the toilet and bath with thousands who like its cleansing, refreshing lather.

Sussex Has Rare Kernel.

In a piece of pottery discovered in Sussex, England, and thought to date back at least to 700 B. C., there is a kernel of wheat still embedded and in a good state of preservation. The find seems to prove that agriculture was pursued in that part of England at that time and is therefore regarded as historically important.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

"For the last two or three years I was almost an invalid and had used enough medicine to start a small drug store. My greatest burden was stomach trouble and catarrh of the head that impaired by hearing. Nothing I ate gave me strength. I fell off until I was nothing but a mere skeleton. Some said right at the start I had catarrh of the stomach and would never be well, but I never gave up as I had seen people as bad off as myself and they got well.

"I was nervous and the slightest noise would cause me to get excited and cause my heart to beast fast. I never had a night's rest in two years. After I finished my meals I would have fullness in the stomach.

"The least change in the weather would cause me to contract cold. My head would stop up and I would have heavy dull feelings over my eyes. Mucus dripped from my head into my throat and I was constantly spitting, but since using the third bottle of World's Tonic this has entirely gone and my hearing has greatly improved also.

"I can now eat things that I could not for a long time and what I eat is doing me good and I am gaining in flesh every day. My sleep is restful and I am not nearly so nervous. Everyone speaks of how well I am looking and I give all the praise to World's Tonic. It certainly has acted like magic in my case and I am very grateful for the good it has done."

BROOKE COUNTY OFFICIALS BUSY

Brooke county authorities were busy yesterday, and in all 19 were arrested during the day. Thirteen of this number came in one swoop, when a raid was conducted on the pool room conducted by Joe Weeda in Follansbee. The proprietor, and 12 others were taken when, the officers say, they found a poker game in full swing in a room in the rear of the pool room. They will be given a hearing this evening before Squire A. D. Collett.

Enroute back to Wellsburg after the raid at the Weeda pool room the sheriff, driving an auto, was challenged to race by S. G. Archer, who was driving a sedan. Archer was overtaken, and paid $5 and costs for his fast work on the roads.

Earl Suddoth, of Follansbee, and Zernie McFadden, Walter Buchanan and Dave Bearden, all of Wellsburg, were arrested during the day on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year old girl. The girl is being held, and it was upon her statements that the four young men were taken into custody. McFadden and Suddoth have been released on bond.

WOMAN IS VICTIM OF GAS STOVE.

Mrs. Anne Hansell, 25, wife of Lloyd Hansell, Follansbee, was burned to death yesterday morning when her clothing caught fire from a gas stove in her home during the absence of her husband and children. She died in the Ohio Valley hospital at Steubenville.

The woman, who is subject to epileptic fits, collapsed while preparing the Sunday dinner and apparently fell over the gas range.

Neighbors, who made the discovery, found the woman's entire body enveloped in flames. After being given first aid attention by a Follansbee physician she was hurried to the hospital.

Mrs. Hansell leaves her husband and a one-year old son; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnston; and one sister, Flora Johnston.

FIREMEN FAVOR NEW CITY BUILDING

Members of the Chester Volunteer fire department at a recent meeting went on record as favoring the erection of a new municipal building. The question was discussed at length and met with approval of the majority present. The plan as proposed would have the cost met by the sale of bonds provided the duly qualified electors of the city endorse the project at the polls.

The new structure, according to its sponsors, would provide for housing the various municipal offices including the fire department and in addition be equipped with an up to date auditorium.

EDUCATORS BACK ALCOHOL MEASURE

That the state education department stands clearly behind the effort to put a law on the statute books requiring the teaching in the public schools of the effect of alcohol and narcotics on the human system is brought out in a letter from the state superintendent of schools, George M. Ford, to Mrs. J. Walter Barnes, state president of the W. C. T. U. The letter is in reply to one received by Captain Ford from Mrs. Barnes in which she urged his support of the bill introduced by Dr. Harriet B. Jones, of Glendale.

Tip For Beginners.

Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Sussex Has Rare Kernel.

In a piece of pottery discovered in Sussex, England, and thought to date back at least to 700 B. C., there is a kernel of wheat still embedded and in a good state of preservation. The find seems to prove that agriculture was pursued in that part of England at that time and is therefore regarded as historically important.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

"It is often easier to keep part of what one has than to get what one has not." —Alexander Hamilton.

"There is no reason why granges and township farm bureaus cannot have interesting meetings, and also featured with moving pictures of vital interest to the rural communities," declares County Agent Floyd Lower. AUTO SALE BILLS MUST BE FILED

Registration of automobile sale bills reached a low level this month, but since Monday last an increase in the filing of such instruments is reported by Clerk of Courts John T. Burns.

Beginning with April, there is always a rush in this particular phase of the work in the clerk of court's office due to the advance in the demand for new cars and the sale of used motor vehicles.

Severe penalties have been prescribed by the state legislature for failure to give a bill of sale at the time a car is sold and many municipal officers have been instructed to see that this law is enforced. The fine for failure to secure a bill of sale for a motor vehicle at the time throws one liable to a fine of from $25 to $5,000, and failing to register such bill of sale within three days after its delivery subjects the owner of the motor vehicle to a similar fine.

Y. & O. COMPANY ERECTING TRESTLE

At an approximate cost of $1,000 the Y. & O. railroad has commenced the erection of an unloading trestle north of the Chestnut street crossing at Lisbon. Material for the improvement of the Lisbon-Salem road and the Elkton Signal road will be unloaded at this point. Both jobs are on the road improvement for this spring.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, who had been wrongfully condemned as a slave to the Barbadoes under King James, falls in love with Arabella, niece of the military commander, at Bridgetown. He leads his fellow rebels-convict in an attack on a Spanish ship which had laid the city low and captures it. He sails for Tortuga, the rendezvous of the pirates of the Spanish Main. He accepts command of a buccaneer fleet, with Levasseur, a Frenchman and his ship, under him. Madelon d'Ogeron, daughter of the friendly Dutch governor of Tortuga, is fascinated by Levasseur. Levasseur breaks faith with Blood and captures a Dutch brig on which is Madelon and her brother. Blood lands at the island where Levasseur proposes to hold the girl as hostage for ransom. Captain Blood pays the ransom. Levasseur draws and Captain Blood runs him through. Cahusac, his aide, enlists with Blood, who makes Madelon and her brother his guests on board his ship.

That affair of Mademoiselle d'Ogeron bore as its natural fruit an improvement in the already cordial relations between Captain Blood and the Governor of Tortuga. It was not difficult then for Captain Blood to recruit able crews, and he might have increased the number of his ships as well, but he decided to hold to the three vessels which were his—the Arabella, the La Foudre and the Santiago, which he had rechristened the Elizabeth.

It was with this fleet that he carried out the enterprise against Maracaybo, an enterprise in which Peter Blood's daring was only surpassed by stupidity which almost turned the tide against him and delivered him and his men over to the tender mercies of his implacable enemy, Don Miguel de Espinosa y Valdez, the Admiral of Spain. Captain Blood had landed at Maracaybo and had found the town empty. Too soon he learned of the trap. Espinosa had put into the narrow neck of the bay with his ships and had bottled the buccaneer in the bay. A sloop, captured by Captain Blood was loaded with combustibles and powder and was sailed directly at the Spaniard until the grapnels held the two like a vice. Then it was set aflame. The Admiral's flagship burst into blaze, and fine seamanship and hard fighting with his three ships made Captain Blood master of Maracaybo Bay. But, when the Spaniards turned tail for shore and he gave chase, the fort which guarded the bay and which had seemed deserted poured down a raking fire upon him and drove him in mortification and despair to take refuge in the town. The Spaniards secured themselves in the fort.

With a devil's luck and clear headed thinking Captain Blood feinted with preparations for a land attack after he had managed to acquire a large ransom in gold from the Governor of Maracaybo, and, opening a broadside, put the fort in flames. Captain Blood sailed for Tortuga. Don Miguel was left to chew the bitter cud of lost opportunity.

CHAPTER XVI

THE MILAGROSA

In Tortuga, during the months he spent there refitting the three ships he had captured from the fleet that had come out to destroy him, he found himself almost an object of worship in the eyes of the wild Brethren of the Coast, all of whom now clamored for the honor of serving under him. It placed him in the rare position of being able to pick and choose the crews for his augmented fleet, and he chose fastidiously. When next he sailed away it was with a fleet of five fine ships in which went something over a thousand men. Thus you behold him not merely famous, but really formidable. Three captured Spanish vessels he had renamed with a certain scholarly humor the Clotho, Lachesis, and Atropos, a grimly jocular manner of conveying to the world that he made them the arbiters of the fate of any Spaniards he should henceforth encounter upon the seas.

And meanwhile the Spanish Admiral Don Miguel de Espinosa went raging up and down the Caribbean seeking his enemy, and in the meantime, as an hors-d'oeuvre to his vindictive appetite, he fell upon any ship of England or of France that loomed above his horizon. This illustrious sea-captain and great gentleman of Castile had lost his head. And so, reckless of the fact that Captain Blood was now in vastly superior strength, the Spaniard sought him up and down the trackless seas. But for a whole year he sought him vainly. The circumstances in which eventually they met are very curious.

On the 15th September of the year 1638—a memorable year in the annals of England—three ships were afloat upon the Caribbean, which in their coming conjunctions were to work out the fortunes of several persons. The first of these was Captain Blood's flagship the Arabella, which had been separated from the buccaneer fleet in a hurricane off the Lesser Antilles. She was beating up for the Windward Passage homing for Tortuga, the natural rendezvous of the dispersed vessels. The second ship was the great Spanish galleon, the Milagrosa, which, accompanied by the smaller frigate Hidalga, lurked off the Caymites, to the north of the long peninsula that thrusts out from the southwest corner of Hispaniola. Aboard the Milagrosa sailed the vindictive Don Miguel. The third and last of these ships was an English man-of-war, the Royal Mary, which was at anchor in the French port of St. Nicholas on the northwest coast of Hispaniola. She was on her way from Plymouth to Jamaica, and carried on board a very distinguished passenger in the person of Lord Julian Wade, who came charged by his kinsman, my Lord Sunderland, with a mission of some consequence and delicacy, directly arising out of that vexatious correspondence between England and Spain.

To satisfy King James's anxiety to conciliate Spain, and in response to the Spanish Ambassador's constant and grievous expostulations, my Lord Sunderland, the Secretary of State, had appointed a strong man to the deputy-governorship of Jamaica. This strong man was that Colonel Bishop who for some years now had been the most influential planter in Barbados. From his first coming to Jamaica, Colonel Bishop had made himself felt by the buccaneers. But do what he might, the one buccaneer whom he made his particular quarry—that Peter Blood who once had been his slave—eluded him ever. He confessed as much in a letter to the Secretary of State. My Lord Sunderland bethought him of the plan adopted with Morgan, who had been enlisted into the King's service under Charles II. It occurred to him that a similar course might be similarly effective with Captain Blood.

Acting upon this conclusion, Sunderland sent out his kinsman, Lord Julian Wade, with some commissions made out in blank. The crafty Sunderland, master of all labyrinths of intrigue, advised his kinsman that in the event of his finding Blood intractable, or judging for other reasons that it was not desirable to enlist him in the King's service, he should turn his attention to the officers serving under him, and by seducing them away from him leave him so weakened that he must fall an easy victim to Colonel Bishop's fleet.

The Royal Mary made a good passage to St. Nicholas, her last port of call before Jamaica. It was understood that as a preliminary Lord Julian should report himself to the Deputy-Governor at Port Royal, whence at need he might have himself conveyed to Tortuga. Now it happened that the Deputy-Governor's niece had come to St. Nicholas some months earlier on a visit to some relatives, and so that she might escape the insufferable heat of Jamaica in that season. The time for her return being now at hand, a passage was sought for her aboard the Royal Mary, and in view of her uncle's rank and position promptly accorded.

AUTO SALE BILLS MUST BE FILED

Registration of automobile sale bills reached a low level this month, but since Monday last an increase in the filing of such instruments is reported by Clerk of Courts John T. Burns.

Beginning with April, there is always a rush in this particular phase of the work in the clerk of court's office due to the advance in the demand for new cars and the sale of used motor vehicles.

Severe penalties have been prescribed by the state legislature for failure to give a bill of sale at the time a car is sold and many municipal officers have been instructed to see that this law is enforced. The fine for failure to secure a bill of sale for a motor vehicle at the time throws one liable to a fine of from $25 to $5,000, and failing to register such bill of sale within three days after its delivery subjects the owner of the motor vehicle to a similar fine.

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

by RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, who had been wrongfully condemned as a slave to the Barbadoes under King James, falls in love with Arabella, niece of the military commander, at Bridgetown. He leads his fellow rebels-convict in an attack on a Spanish ship which had laid the city low and captures it. He sails for Tortuga, the rendezvous of the pirates of the Spanish Main. He accepts command of a buccaneer fleet, with Levasseur, a Frenchman and his ship, under him. Madelon d'Ogeron, daughter of the friendly Dutch governor of Tortuga, is fascinated by Levasseur. Levasseur breaks faith with Blood and captures a Dutch brig on which is Madelon and her brother. Blood lands at the island where Levasseur proposes to hold the girl as hostage for ransom. Captain Blood pays the ransom. Levasseur draws and Captain Blood runs him through. Cahusac, his aide, enlists with Blood, who makes Madelon and her brother his guests on board his ship.

That affair of Mademoiselle d'Ogeron bore as its natural fruit an improvement in the already cordial relations between Captain Blood and the Governor of Tortuga. It was not difficult then for Captain Blood to recruit able crews, and he might have increased the number of his ships as well, but he decided to hold to the three vessels which were his—the Arabella, the La Foudre and the Santiago, which he had rechristened the Elizabeth.

It was with this fleet that he carried out the enterprise against Maracaybo, an enterprise in which Peter Blood's daring was only surpassed by stupidity which almost turned the tide against him and delivered him and his men over to the tender mercies of his implacable enemy, Don Miguel de Espinosa y Valdez, the Admiral of Spain. Captain Blood had landed at Maracaybo and had found the town empty. Too soon he learned of the trap. Espinosa had put into the narrow neck of the bay with his ships and had bottled the buccaneer in the bay. A sloop, captured by Captain Blood was loaded with combustibles and powder and was sailed directly at the Spaniard until the grapnels held the two like a vice. Then it was set aflame. The Admiral's flagship burst into blaze, and fine seamanship and hard fighting with his three ships made Captain Blood master of Maracaybo Bay. But, when the Spaniards turned tail for shore and he gave chase, the fort which guarded the bay and which had seemed deserted poured down a raking fire upon him and drove him in mortification and despair to take refuge in the town. The Spaniards secured themselves in the fort.

With a devil's luck and clear headed thinking Captain Blood feinted with preparations for a land attack after he had managed to acquire a large ransom in gold from the Governor of Maracaybo, and, opening a broadside, put the fort in flames. Captain Blood sailed for Tortuga. Don Miguel was left to chew the bitter cud of lost opportunity.

CHAPTER XVI

THE MILAGROSA

In Tortuga, during the months he spent there refitting the three ships he had captured from the fleet that had come out to destroy him, he found himself almost an object of worship in the eyes of the wild Brethren of the Coast, all of whom now clamored for the honor of serving under him. It placed him in the rare position of being able to pick and choose the crews for his augmented fleet, and he chose fastidiously. When next he sailed away it was with a fleet of five fine ships in which went something over a thousand men. Thus you behold him not merely famous, but really formidable. Three captured Spanish vessels he had renamed with a certain scholarly humor the Clotho, Lachesis, and Atropos, a grimly jocular manner of conveying to the world that he made them the arbiters of the fate of any Spaniards he should henceforth encounter upon the seas.

And meanwhile the Spanish Admiral Don Miguel de Espinosa went raging up and down the Caribbean seeking his enemy, and in the meantime, as an hors-d'oeuvre to his vindictive appetite, he fell upon any ship of England or of France that loomed above his horizon. This illustrious sea-captain and great gentleman of Castile had lost his head. And so, reckless of the fact that Captain Blood was now in vastly superior strength, the Spaniard sought him up and down the trackless seas. But for a whole year he sought him vainly. The circumstances in which eventually they met are very curious.

On the 15th September of the year 1688—a memorable year in the annals of England—three ships were afloat upon the Caribbean, which in their coming conjunctions were to work out the fortunes of several persons. The first of these was Captain Blood's flagship the Arabella, which had been separated from the buccaneer fleet in a hurricane off the Lesser Antilles. She was beating up for the Windward Passage homing for Tortuga, the natural rendezvous of the dispersed vessels. The second ship was the great Spanish galleon, the Milagrosa, which, accompanied by the smaller frigate Hidalga, lurked off the Caymites, to the north of the long peninsula that thrusts out from the southwest corner of Hispaniola. Aboard the Milagrosa sailed the vindictive Don Miguel. The third and last of these ships was an English man-of-war, the Royal Mary, which was at anchor in the French port of St. Nicholas on the northwest coast of Hispaniola. She was on her way from Plymouth to Jamaica, and carried on board a very distinguished passenger in the person of Lord Julian Wade, who came charged by his kinsman, my Lord Sunderland, with a mission of some consequence and delicacy, directly arising out of that vexatious correspondence between England and Spain.

To satisfy King James's anxiety to conciliate Spain, and in response to the Spanish Ambassador's constant and grievous expostulations, my Lord Sunderland, the Secretary of State, had appointed a strong man to the deputy-governorship of Jamaica. This strong man was that Colonel Bishop who for some years now had been the most influential planter in Barbados. From his first coming to Jamaica, Colonel Bishop had made himself felt by the buccaneers. But do what he might, the one buccaneer whom he made his particular quarry—that Peter Blood who once had been his slave—eluded him ever. He confessed as much in a letter to the Secretary of State. My Lord Sunderland bethought him of the plan adopted with Morgan, who had been enlisted into the King's service under Charles II. It occurred to him that a similar course might be similarly effective with Captain Blood.

Acting upon this conclusion, Sunderland sent out his kinsman, Lord Julian Wade, with some commissions made out in blank. The crafty Sunderland, master of all labyrinths of intrigue, advised his kinsman that in the event of his finding Blood intractable, or judging for other reasons that it was not desirable to enlist him in the King's service, he should turn his attention to the officers serving under him, and by seducing them away from him leave him so weakened that he must fall an easy victim to Colonel Bishop's fleet.

The Royal Mary made a good passage to St. Nicholas, her last port of call before Jamaica. It was understood that as a preliminary Lord Julian should report himself to the Deputy-Governor at Port Royal, whence at need he might have himself conveyed to Tortuga. Now it happened that the Deputy-Governor's niece had come to St. Nicholas some months earlier on a visit to some relatives, and so that she might escape the insufferable heat of Jamaica in that season. The time for her return being now at hand, a passage was sought for her aboard the Royal Mary, and in view of her uncle's rank and position promptly accorded.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH A. THOMPSON

Love undergoes a change after marriage; it grows calmer and deeper, but loses its fire. This explains why a married man may love his wife as a part of himself, but enjoy playing with the fire of another flirtation.

A wife writes me:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman with three small children. I have a good husband and I love him better than my life. Sometime ago he fell in love with a young girl, going to school and only fourteen years old. She is not a nice girl, but I used to think she was. I was surely surprised when I found she had stolen my husband's heart from me. Since I have found it out he tells me he cares for me more than any one on earth. Sometimes I try to believe it, but I think he meets her every day as she goes to school. She does not speak to me and I don't care for I can never treat her as I once did. My husband is good to me, but is not satisfied at home as he once was. I hate to leave him for he and my little ones are all I have to live for. I would rather be dead than live all my life as we are now. Sometimes I think he is tired of me because I am not as good-looking as other women. But I try to make up for it and do everything I can for him. Sometimes I get very discouraged and wish I could end it all. Maybe he would not miss me much while the other girl is near. Please let me hear from you.

BROKEN-HEARTED MOTHER.

You are cheating yourself out of happiness with your husband because you are a victim of worry and jealousy. Since your husband has told you that he cares more for you than any one else in the world, take his word for it. Your unhappiness and suspicion alone would make him uneasy in your presence and keep him from being happy at home.

It would be quite possible for your husband to love you devotedly and at the same time enjoy a flirtation with another woman. Such a situation would not be ideal by any means, but it should not be serious enough to spoil your happiness. Put all disloyal thoughts out of your mind and fight with yourself for the faith you had in him formerly.

An Unhappy Wife's Story.

Married life isn't all roses, for any one. Wives who find the matrimonial yoke irritating now and then should remember that it probably is chafing Friend Husband, too. Men get the worst of it sometimes, we women must admit.

Some wives never seem to realize that men can't alter their business or their job to please those at home. I do not think this wife is justified in seeking a divorce.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are a young couple, 21 and 22. We have two of the dearest babies that ever lived. My husband's job takes him away before daylight. Sometimes he has to be away all night. I have to stay home all the time—our youngest baby has been very ill—but I don't mind the staying home. I know it's best for the babies. When he's home he's cross as a bear and acts as though we were strangers to him, and always asks why I don't get my mother or sister to stay with me when I discuss his going to the farm. He makes a fairly good salary, and if there is a good show he wants to see he goes, but never takes me or the kiddies. Nor does he ever bring us a present, not even at Christmas, though he gets himself cigarettes or magazines whenever he wants them. I am very unhappy. All our friends know how distant he has been to me for the last year. My girl friends all tell me I am foolish to put up with it and urge me to get a divorce. I don't think it's right to take the children away from him, but they might as well not have a father as things are now. Do you think I would do the children an ill turn if I were to get a divorce? I could go to work where I worked before we were married and my mother could care for the children like her own. If I took this course I believe I would be happier and enjoy life more. As it is I don't seem to care. Please don't think I'm wanting my freedom with the intention of poking the youngsters off on my mother and then leading a wild, carefree life. I hope you will understand and know I take my share of the blame and admit I fussed when my husband used to come home, dress and then leave us alone all night and then come teh next day and do it all over again. I kept hoping our trouble would end, but it hasn't and I'm still

ANOTHER UNHAPPY WOMAN.

You are having a hard, trying time, and, of course, you are unhappy—you also deserve all the sympathy in the world. But don't think of a divorce unless you have a more real and serious grievance. Take his advice and ask your mother or sister to stay with you sometimes at night, and if possible, in the daytime, too, so you can slip away and have a little fun. Sometimes it helps such a situation a lot to appear not to care. You might even go so far as to tell your husband some time that you expect him to take care of the children on a certain evening as you are going out with a woman friend to some amusement, and go, even if he refuses to stay and you must fall back on your mother to stay with the Youngsters. There is a queer kink in the make-up of the male of the species which makes him sit up and take notice when he thinks he can be dispensed with without much trouble.

Tell your troubles to Mrs. Thompson. Address her in care of this newspaper, and sign your name and address as evidence of good faith. Only your initials or "pen name" will be printed.

CONSTIPATION means WEAKNESS

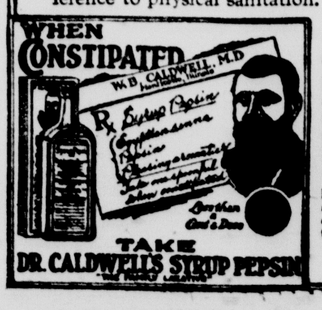
Constipation is practically universal among civilized human beings. It is a national curse causing inefficiency and physical unpreparedness. It causes disease, premature old age, lessens endurance and resistance, and many times fatal illness is directly traceable to its obnoxious results. The clear eye, healthy look, vim, vigor and vitality can be had only when the bowels are free and are moving regularly.

Dr. Caldwell's

SYRUP PEPSIN

The Family Laxative

—promptly relieves constipation. It is not a bitter medicine nor a griping, nauseating, uncomfortable physic. It is a pleasing liquid combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics that Dr. Caldwell, with his long and extensive practice, found effective and an aid to Nature in performing her proper functions when the bowels were mistreated through improper food, lack of exercise, and indifference to physical sanitation.



Gently Restores The Bowels To Health

The first dose will gently ease the bowels to action and as Nature resumes her proper functions, the dose may be gradually decreased. Your bowels should act at least twice daily. If they do not; you need Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. 10,000,000 bottles sold annually prove its effectiveness. Used nationally over 30 years.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

Put one on—the pain is gone

I HAVE never bought or sold a share of stock speculatively in my life, except one small lot that I bought early in life. I determined to sell all my interests in every outside concern and concentrate my attention upon our concerns in Pittsburgh. Such a course should commend itself to every man. For a business man especially the rule would seem all-important. His mind must be kept calm and free if he is to decide wisely the problems which are continually coming before him. Nothing tells in the long run like good judgment, and no sound judgment can remain with the man whose mind is disturbed by the mercurial changes of speculation. It places him under an influence akin to intoxication. What is not, he sees, and what he sees, is not. He cannot judge of relative values or get the true perspective of things. Speculation is a parasite feeding upon values, creating none." —ANDREW CARNEGIE

A DOG was crossing a brook with a bone in his mouth. Looking into the stream he saw, as he supposed, another dog with another bone. Desiring to possess that also he made a snap at it, when lo and behold! the bone he was carrying dropped into the water and straightway sunk to the bottom.—An Old Fable.

This dog "took a chance" (as some of us humans sometimes do) and lost all he had. Maybe you at sometime have grasped at a shadow in the form of a get-rich-quick scheme that promised everything but became a total loss.

Anyone who wants to INVEST money and not speculate or gamble with it can find a safe working place for his savings in the electric light and power business.

A large investment banking firm of New York and Chicago, states that:

"A careful analysis of the dividend records of practically every electric power and light company with gross earnings of $2,000,000 per year or more, the combined capitalization of which represents approximately 90% of the industry, shows that:

1. Current cash dividends are being paid on ALL of the preferred stocks.
2. In NO case are there accumulated back dividends unpaid.
3. In fifteen cases dividends have been deferred, but have subsequently been paid off in stock or cash.
4. In all other cases the Preferred Stocks have unbroken dividend records.

We feel justified in believing that this remarkable record definitely establishes the investment position of the Preferred Stocks of large power and light companies."

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Love undergoes a change after marriage; it grows calmer and deeper, but loses its fire. This explains why a married man may love his wife as a part of himself, but enjoy playing with the fire of another flirtation.

A wife writes me:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman with three small children. I have a good husband and I love him better than my life. Sometime ago he fell in love with a young girl, going to school and only fourteen years old. She is not a nice girl, but I used to think she was. I was surely surprised when I found she had stolen my husband's heart from me. Since I have found it out he tells me he cares for me more than any one on earth. Sometimes I try to believe it, but I think he meets her every day as she goes to school. She does not speak to me and I don't care for I can never treat her as I once did. My husband is good to me, but is not satisfied at home as he once was. I hate to leave him for he and my little ones are all I have to live for. I would rather be dead than live all my life as we are now. Sometimes I think he is tired of me because I am not as good-looking as other women. But I try to make up for it and do everything I can for him. Sometimes I get very discouraged and wish I could end it all. Maybe he would not miss me much while the other girl is near. Please let me hear from you.

BROKEN-HEARTED MOTHER.

You are cheating yourself out of happiness with your husband because you are a victim of worry and jealousy. Since your husband has told you that he cares more for you than any one else in the world, take his word for it. Your unhappiness and suspicion alone would make him uneasy in your presence and keep him from being happy at home.

It would be quite possible for your husband to love you devotedly and at the same time enjoy a flirtation with another woman. Such a situation would not be ideal by any means, but it should not be serious enough to spoil your happiness. Put all disloyal thoughts out of your mind and fight with yourself for the faith you had in him formerly.

An Unhappy Wife's Story.

Married life isn't all roses, for any one. Wives who find the matrimonial yoke irritating now and then should remember that it probably is chafing Friend Husband, too. Men get the worst of it sometimes, we women must admit.

Some wives never seem to realize that men can't alter their business or their job to please those at home. I do not think this wife is justified in seeking a divorce.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are a young couple, 21 and 22. We have two of the dearest babies that ever lived. My husband's job takes him away before daylight. Sometimes he has to be away all night. I have to stay home all the time—our youngest baby has been very ill—but I don't mind the staying home. I know it's best for the babies. When he's home he's cross as a bear and acts as though we were strangers to him, and always asks why I don't get my mother or sister to stay with me when I discuss his going to the farm. He makes a fairly good salary, and if there is a good show he wants to see he goes, but never takes me or the kiddies. Nor does he ever bring us a present, not even at Christmas, though he gets himself cigarettes or magazines whenever he wants them. I am very unhappy. All our friends know how distant he has been to me for the last year. My girl friends all tell me I am foolish to put up with it and urge me to get a divorce. I don't think it's right to take the children away from him, but they might as well not have a father as things are now. Do you think I would do the children an ill turn if I were to get a divorce? I could go to work where I worked before we were married and my mother could care for the children like her own. If I took this course I believe I would be happier and enjoy life more. As it is I don't seem to care. Please don't think I'm wanting my freedom with the intention of poking the youngsters off on my mother and then leading a wild, carefree life. I hope you will understand and know I take my share of the blame and admit I fussed when my husband used to come home, dress and then leave us alone all night and then come teh next day and do it all over again. I kept hoping our trouble would end, but it hasn't and I'm still

ANOTHER UNHAPPY WOMAN.

You are having a hard, trying time, and, of course, you are unhappy—you also deserve all the sympathy in the world. But don't think of a divorce unless you have a more real and serious grievance. Take his advice and ask your mother or sister to stay with you sometimes at night, and if possible, in the daytime, too, so you can slip away and have a little fun. Sometimes it helps such a situation a lot to appear not to care. You might even go so far as to tell your husband some time that you expect him to take care of the children on a certain evening as you are going out with a woman friend to some amusement, and go, even if he refuses to stay and you must fall back on your mother to stay with the Youngsters. There is a queer kink in the make-up of the male of the species which makes him sit up and take notice when he thinks he can be dispensed with without much trouble.

Tell your troubles to Mrs. Thompson. Address her in care of this newspaper, and sign your name and address as evidence of good faith. Only your initials or "pen name" will be printed.

CONSTIPATION means WEAKNESS

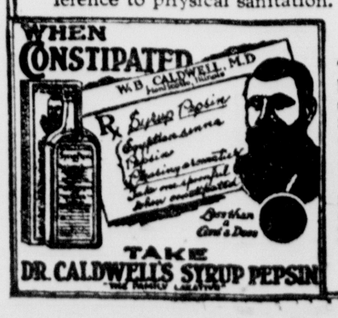
Constipation is practically universal among civilized human beings. It is a national curse causing inefficiency and physical unpreparedness. It causes disease, premature old age, lessens endurance and resistance, and many times fatal illness is directly traceable to its obnoxious results. The clear eye, healthy look, vim, vigor and vitality can be had only when the bowels are free and are moving regularly.

Dr. Caldwell's

SYRUP PEPSIN

The Family Laxative

—promptly relieves constipation. It is not a bitter medicine nor a griping, nauseating, uncomfortable physic. It is a pleasing liquid combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics that Dr. Caldwell, with his long and extensive practice, found effective and an aid to Nature in performing her proper functions when the bowels were mistreated through improper food, lack of exercise, and indifference to physical sanitation.



Gently Restores The Bowels To Health

The first dose will gently ease the bowels to action and as Nature resumes her proper functions, the dose may be gradually decreased. Your bowels should act at least twice daily. If they do not, you need Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. 10,000,000 bottles sold annually prove its effectiveness. Used nationally over 30 years.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

I HAVE never bought or sold a share of stock speculatively in my life, except one small lot that I bought early in life. I determined to sell all my interests in every outside concern and concentrate my attention upon our concerns in Pittsburgh. Such a course should commend itself to everyman. For a business man especially the rule would seem all-important. His mind must be kept calm and free if he is to decide wisely the problems which are continually coming before him. Nothing tells in the long run like good judgment, and no sound judgment can remain with the man whose mind is disturbed by the mercurial changes of speculation. It places him under an influence akin to intoxication. What is not, he sees, and what he sees, is not. He cannot judge of relative values or get the true perspective of things. Speculation is a parasite feeding upon values, creating none." —ANDREW CARNEGIE

A DOG was crossing a brook with a bone in his mouth. Looking into the stream he saw, as he supposed, another dog with another bone. Desiring to possess that also he made a snap at it, when lo and behold! the bone he was carrying dropped into the water and straightway sunk to the bottom.—An Old Fable.

This dog "took a chance" (as some of us humans sometimes do) and lost all he had. Maybe you at sometime have grasped at a shadow in the form of a get-rich-quick scheme that promised everything but became a total loss.

Anyone who wants to INVEST money and not speculate or gamble with it can find a safe working place for his savings in the electric light and power business.

A large investment banking firm of New York and Chicago, states that:

"A careful analysis of the dividend records of practically every electric power and light company with gross earnings of $2,000,000 per year or more, the combined capitalization of which represents approximately 90% of the industry, shows that:

1. Current cash dividends are being paid on ALL of the preferred stocks.
2. In NO case are there accumulated back dividends unpaid.
3. In fifteen cases dividends have been deferred, but have subsequently been paid off in stock or cash.
4. In all other cases the Preferred Stocks have unbroken dividend records.

We feel justified in believing that this remarkable record definitely establishes the investment position of the Preferred Stocks of large power and light companies."

Gland Patient Withstands Severe Endurance Test

After suffering from a nervous breakdown and being subject to dizzy spells, a man of 35 regained his health and strength through glandular treatment. As an actual patient recently ran and won the one-mile and three-mile race in the annual field meet at one of California's State institutions. Even more remarkable than his speed was the physical condition of the athlete after breasting the tape. He exhibited nothing of the distress or labored breathing of the ordinary runner.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathews Cut Rate Store will supply you.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Health.

I fill this cup to one made up
Of loveliness alone,
A woman, of her gentle sex
The seeming paragon;
To whom the better elements
And kindly stars have given
A form so fair, that, like the air,
'Tis less of earth than heaven.
Her every tone is music's own,
Like those of morning birds,
And something more than melody
Dwells ever in her words;
The coinage of her heart are they,
And from her heart each flows
As one may see the burdened bee
Forth issue from the rose.
Affections are as thoughts to her,
The measures of her hours;
Her feelings have the fragrancy,
The freshness of young flowers;
And lovely passions, changing oft,
So fill her, she appears
The image of themselves by turns,
The idol of past years!
Of her bright face one glance will trace
A picture on the brain,
And of her voice in echoing hearts
A sound must long remain;
But memory, such as mine of her,
So very much endears,
When death is nigh, my latest sigh
Will not be life's, but hers,
I fill this cup of one made up
Of loveliness alone,
A woman, of her gentle sex
The seeming paragon—
Her health, and would on earth there stood
Some more of such a frame,
That life might be all poetry,
And weariness a name.

Don't Fuss With Mustard Plasters!

Musterole Works Without the Bliste.—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Vaccinated Against Will, Girl's Father Sues for $75,000

CLEVELAND—Charging that she was grabbed and forcibly vaccinated six-year-old Irene Marie Lane has filed suit for $75,000 against the city and a physician, who is an employe of the health department.

The girl's father asserts that, during the smallpox scare here last October, Dr. Albert T. Ransone performed the vaccination on his daughter, after school authorities had forbidden the operation.

A serious infection developed in the child's arm, necessitating several operations and possibly amputation, the petition charges.

The doctor, it is alleged, applied to the school authorities for permission to vaccinate Irene, and was refused. Later in the month, the petition declares, he grabbed her and made several incisions in her left arm. He then injected a serum into the abrasions, according to the girl. Sores that developed caused affections to the humerus bone and lymphatic glands.

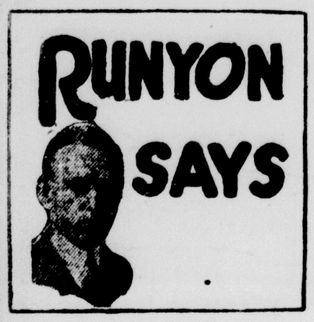
RUNYON SAYS



By DAMON RUNYON.
Copyright, 1925, International Feature Service, Inc.

LOS ANGELES, March 23.

JOE BENJAMIN, lightweight fighter, is just now one of the pugilistic "big shots" of the Pacific Coast.

He recently whipped Jack Silver, of San Francisco, in a bout that was given all the preliminary thunder of a world's championship event. It was for the title of lightweight champion of the coast.

Now the great match out here, what the promoters call "a natural," is a meeting between Benjamin and Ace Hudkins, a blond young fellow from Omaha, who is called "The Nebraska Wildcat." That is the way Mr. Dan Tobey, the local announcer, always presents him.

The writer has seen "The Wildcat" fight. The wildest thing about him is his right hand. But he is a tough, persevering youth, somewhat on the order of Battling Nelson. He is always wading into the deepest part of the fighting.

When Benjamin and Hudkins meet they will draw much money. That will be very pleasing to Benjamin. He can always use money. No one knows exactly how much money he can use—but how much money is there IN THE WORLD?

Benjamin is one of the most picturesque figures in the pugilistic game.

He is twenty-four years old, tall, slender, good looking, with fluffy brown hair, nice teeth, and an infectious laugh. This laugh serves him in good stead.

Benjamin can "laugh himself in" and "laugh himself out" of situations with equal facility. Life to him is very pleasant, but a little too short for boxing. He would much rather be a millionaire with a Rolls-Royce at his command.

STOCKTON, Cal., Mar. 23. — Branch Rickey today didn't claim to be a fortune teller nor did he indicate that it was his custom to play solitaire but, after a thorough shuffling of the cards for 1925, he neatly cut the deck and turned up aces for the infield, outfield and behind the bat.

He announced that he was entirely satisfied with what he had uncovered for these departments, but as to the pitching staff—well, that wasn't exactly a pleasant subject for discussion. In fact, Mr. Rickey showed an inclination to talk learnedly and at length on any and all subjects other than pitching.

Nor would he permit himself to be pinned down to a prediction as to St. Louis's probable standing among the clubs at the conclusion of the 1925 season. But he said:

"The experts choose to rank us as a second division club, drawing their conclusions from the dope. We hope to upset the experts this year.

"The club has hitting power. When I say this, the fans naturally picture Hornsby. But we have other good hitters besides Hornsby. On that account I will make the prediction that you will see the Cards among the leaders in runs scored at the end of the season.

"That naturally puts it up to the pitching and the defense in general. I just naturally dislike to discuss pitching, for it is this department that has kept the Cardinals out of a pennant for years. I believe my pitching will be improved this season. I look for Duster Mails to deliver in his turn and we have another fine prospect in Rhem, a young right hander."

Jesse Haines, Alan Sothoron, Ed Dyer, Bill Sherdel and Johnny Stuart are the only veterans of the staff with whom Rickey plans to daily this year. Leo Dickerman, obtained from the Dodgers, will get another chance however. This leaves a place or two open with Barnes from Evansville; Clough from Fort Smith; Day from Muskogee; Hallahan from Kalamazoo and Shields from Calais, Ind., still in the running. Shields and Clough are left handers, which may get them something or nothing.

Mike Gonzales is the leading catcher, with Roscoe Holm and Walter Schmidt, wafted to the Cards from the Pirates, as chief assistants. Vick is back from Louisville, but will have to show cause to Al Bool, up from Fort Smith.

In addition to Hornsby and Jim Bottomley, the rest of the infield will be picked from among Bell, Freigau, Toporcer, Cooney and Trevenow. These are either weak hitters or weak fielders or both, but Rickey feels that he can get by with what he has.

Blades, Myers, Smith and Mueller are veteran outfielders who may or may not be displaced by Shinners, up again from Toledo; Hafey from Houston, and Taylor Douthit, the St. Joseph prospect.

Myers and Grimes Await Settlements In Pay Questions

Harry Myers, veteran outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, is at his home in Kensington, awaiting final disposition of his case as the Cards train at Stockton, California.

Myers' differences with Rickey center only around the salary question. The case has been brought to the attention of Commissioner Landis and it is possible that action will be taken within the next week or so.

Burleigh Grimes, Brooklyn slab star, is still at his home near Minerva. Grimes has asked slightly more than Brooklyn has wanted to pay up until the present time, but, according to friends of the hurler, he will probably be limbering up for Uncle Robby in the near future.

Beat Sixth Street Passers In Final Clash of Tourney

Chuck McConville's Entry Captures Championship in Hard Tilt With Rivals After Swamping Washington in the Semi-finals.

Semi-Finals.
Central A 34, Washington 3.
Sixth Street 21, Garfield 7.
Final.
Central A 19, Sixth Street 10.

Coach "Chuck" McConville's Central A boys today are basketball champions in city grade school ranks as a result of their victory Saturday night over Sixth Street in the final clash of the tournament.

The Centrals ran away with Washington in their semi-final tilt in the afternoon and went into the final with Sixth Street passers, who previously had walloped Garfield.

And tourney honors then were taken over by the Centrals in a thrilling battle with the Sixth Street entry. The game was fast, the McConville quintet winning through superior all-around performance. With the exception of the first quarter the Centrals held the situation well in hand. As the game proceeded they began gradually to draw away from their opponents and in the final period could not be headed.

The Sixth Streeters put up a good game of basketball but were up against an advanced brand of teamwork, and teamwork won.

The Sixth Street lads led at the end of the first period by the score of 5 to 3, but dropped their advantage in the second quarter when the Centrals forged to the front. The count at the end of the period was 10-8. Only three points were scored in the third quarter, when both teams played largely defensive games. But the Centrals went out and sewed up the clash in the concluding period.

Anderson's field goal boosted Central's lead. Congrove increased it with a foul. Dorsey kept Sixth Street in the running with a free toss. But Feit made victory for Central almost certain when he counted twice on foul throws. Small came to the front once more with the final field goal of the game and the tournament.

To name any individual star for the Centrals would be difficult. To Forward Small, however, goes credit for a majority of the points that the victors amassed in climbing to the championship.

Menge, Dorsey and Barnhart played well for the runners-up.

LOS ANGELES, March 23.

JOE BENJAMIN, lightweight fighter, is just now one of the pugilistic "big shots" of the Pacific Coast.

He recently whipped Jack Silver, of San Francisco, in a bout that was given all the preliminary thunder of a world's championship event. It was for the title of lightweight champion of the coast.

Now the great match out here, what the promoters call "a natural," is a meeting between Benjamin and Ace Hudkins, a blond young fellow from Omaha, who is called "The Nebraska Wildcat." That is the way Mr. Dan Tobey, the local announcer, always presents him.

The writer has seen "The Wildcat," fight. The wildest thing about him is his right hand. But he is a tough, persevering youth, somewhat on the order of Battling Nelson. He is always wading into the deepest part of the fighting.

When Benjamin and Hudkins meet they will draw much money. That will be very pleasing to Benjamin. He can always use money. No one knows exactly how much money he can use—but how much money is there IN THE WORLD?

Benjamin is one of the most picturesque figures in the pugilistic game.

He is twenty-four years old, tall, slender, good looking, with fluffy brown hair, nice teeth, and an infectious laugh. This laugh serves him in good stead.

Benjamin can "laugh himself in" and "laugh himself out" of situations with equal facility. Life to him is very pleasant, but a little too short for boxing. He would much rather be a millionaire with a Rolls-Royce at his command.

Beat Sixth Street Passers In Final Clash of Tourney

Chuck McConville's Entry Captures Championship in Hard Tilt With Rivals After Swamping Washington in the Semi-finals.

Semi-Finals.
Central A 34, Washington 3.
Sixth Street 21, Garfield 7.

Final.
Central 2 19, Sixth Street 10.

Coach "Chuck" McConville's Central A boys today are basketball champions in city grade school ranks as a result of their victory Saturday night over Sixth Street in the final clash of the tournament.

The Centrals ran away with Washington in their semi-final tilt in the afternoon and went into the final with Sixth Street passers, who previously had walloped Garfield.

And tourney honors then were taken over by the Centrals in a thrilling battle with the Sixth Street entry. The game was fast, the McConville quintet winning through superior all-around performance. With the exception of the first quarter the Centrals held the situation well in hand. As the game proceeded they began gradually to draw away from their opponents and in the final period could not be headed.

The Sixth Streeters put up a good game of basketball but were up against an advanced brand of teamwork, and teamwork won.

The Sixth Street lads led at the end of the first period by the score of 5 to 3, but dropped their advantage in the second quarter when the Centrals forged to the front. The count at the end of the period was 10-8. Only three points were scored in the third quarter, when both teams played largely defensive games. But the Centrals went out and sewed up the clash in the concluding period.

Anderson's field goal boosted Central's lead. Congrove increased it with a foul. Dorsey kept Sixth Street in the running with a free toss. But Felt made victory for Central almost certain when he counted twice on foul throws. Small came to the front once more with the final field goal of the game and the tournament.

To name any individual star for the Centrals would be difficult. To Forward Small, however, goes credit for a majority of the points that the victors amassed in climbing to the championship.

Menge, Dorsey and Barnhart played well for the runners-up.

Runyon Says:

years ago. Benjamin and this reporter were roomed together throughout the trip.

The writer recalls that Benjamin always had the photographs of four lovely young ladies stuck out on the bureau where he could see them as he brushed his hair.

Benjamin was in love with all of them. He couldn't just make up his mind which one he loved the most. That is the way of youth.

The writer called on Benjamin in his Hollywood home the other day. On the walls, on the mantle, on the bureau were many photographs of ONE lovely young lady. She is not of the four lovely ones whose photographs Benjamin carried to Europe. That is the way of youth.

Benjamin lives in a neat little bungalow on Western avenue in Hollywood, with "Old Folks" as chef and valet. Benjamin is very socially inclined. The house is always filled with guests.

When Benjamin wishes so be impressive he refers to "Old Folks," as Wilmart, which is his right name. But to this writer "Old Folks" can never be anything but "Old Folks," and has never been anything else these many years.

He is a baldish colored gentleman. The last time the writer saw "Old Folks" he had but one single tooth. Now he is equipped with, and partially disguised by, a complete set of teeth, the thoughtful endowment of Jack Dempsey.

"Old Folks" followed the pugilistic camps before Benjamin was born. He is a chef of no mean ability. He can fry chicken like no other living man or woman. He is the most important feature by far of Joe Benjamin's establishment.

Benjamin has acquired a new manager, Eddie Connor, a pleasant, well-dressed young man of means.

Jack Kearns held a manager's contract on Benjamin for some years. It is not of record that Kearns ever collected the managerial "bit" off Benjamin.

Joe would laugh so heartily at the idea of Kearns taking the customary percentage that Kearns would finally get to laughing, too. It is estimated that Benjamin has laughed Kearns out of quite some money.

Recently Benjamin felt the press of necessity, so he negotiated the sale of his contract by Mr. Kearns to Mr. Connor for $5,000.

Of this sum Benjamin assured Kearns he could have $1,000, laughing "The Doctor," as Benjamin calls Kearns, out of any thought he may have entertained that he ought to get the entire $5,000. He made "The Doctor" feel that if he got the thousand he would be the beneficiary of a big-hearted act.

The deal closed, the money paid, Benjamin then laughed so heartily at the very idea of giving Kearns that thousand that finally Kearns laughed WITH him.

He didn't get the thousand, called in pugilistic circles "a grand."

You will observe that Benjamin is an astute young business man. Also that Kearns is very good natured.

Benjamin CAN fight when he wishes, no doubt of that.

He has permitted about three very valuable years and fully $150,000 in cash to slip past him as he laughed his way along, gathering in an occasional purse of a couple of thousand dollars in a four-round event when he needed the money.

But he has suddenly commenced to take the boxing game rather seriously. He trained hard for the fight with Silver. Training is "murder" to one of Joe's temperament and inclinations, it is desperately HARD WORK.

He would much rather laugh and play, to visit the race track, the cafes, to enjoy himself.

But he kept grinding away this time until he was in the best condition the writer has ever seen him. Perhaps his new manager is responsible.

Perhaps the ONE lovely young lady of the many photographs in the Benjamin establishment is the cause. In fact that is the likely theory.

There is always ONE young lady who can make a man do ANYTHING—even work!

Fohl Lacked Reserves; Says he Has Them Now

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—Lee Fohl, manager of the Boston Red Sox, isn't claiming any pennants or world's championships, but he feels mighty hopeful.

"The Red Sox, after showing a dazzling pace in the American League last year, blew up. This was due entirely to a lack of good substitutes," he says. "When some of our boys were injured or grew tired of the battle, we had no one to throw into the breach.

"We intend to be out there doing our stuff every day and I believe that we will at least be consistent this year. I can't see how we are going to blow up."

Lee has six young players he figures are certain to be in the team's first or second line this season. They are: Connolly, infielder, from Bay City; Protho, infielder, from Memphis and Washington; Dodgeil, second baseman, from Saline, Kan.; Gross, infielder, San Antonio; Ernest Vache, outfielder, from Dallas; Lucey, pitcher, from Jersey City.

SPORT SPARKS

The pitching of Joe Bush and Urban Shocker should provide one of the most interesting sidelights on the American league race this season. Bullet Joe, like all other Yankee cast-offs, will do his durndest to beat his former mates at every opportunity, while Shocker will be working just as hard to prove that the Yanks got the best of the trade.

Although Bush looked like a world-beater at times last season, his work was not up to performances of other years. He was not on the best of terms with Manager Miller Huggins, for one thing. When yanked from the box in a tight situation Joseph was wont to toss his glove high in the air, scowl in the general direction of the New York dugout or give vent to other signs of peevishness.

In the same way Shocker was not at his best for St. Louis. The change to the big town probably will give him a new lease on life, as has generally been the case with stars traded to hot favorites in the pennant race.

Runyon Says:

years ago. Benjamin and this reporter were roomed together throughout the trip.

The writer recalls that Benjamin always had the photographs of four lovely young ladies stuck out on the bureau where he could see them as he brushed his hair.

Benjamin was in love with all of them. He couldn't just make up his mind which one he loved the most. That is the way of youth.

The writer called on Benjamin in his Hollywood home the other day. On the walls, on the mantle, on the bureau were many photographs of ONE lovely young lady. She is not of the four lovely ones whose photographs Benjamin carried to Europe. That is the way of youth.

Benjamin lives in a neat little bungalow on Western avenue in Hollywood, with "Old Folks" as chef and valet. Benjamin is very socially inclined. The house is always filled with guests.

When Benjamin wishes so be impressive he refers to "Old Folks," as Wilmart, which is his right name. But to this writer "Old Folks" can never be anything but "Old Folks," and has never been anything else these many years.

He is a baldish colored gentleman. The last time the writer saw "Old Folks" he had but one single tooth. Now he is equipped with, and partially disguised by, a complete set of teeth, the thoughtful endowment of Jack Dempsey.

"Old Folks" followed the pugilistic camps before Benjamin was born. He is a chef of no mean ability. He can fry chicken like no other living man or woman. He is the most important feature by far of Joe Benjamin's establishment.

Benjamin has acquired a new manager, Eddie Connor, a pleasant, well-dressed young man of means.

Jack Kearns held a manager's contract on Benjamin for some years. It is not of record that Kearns ever collected the managerial "bit" off Benjamin.

Joe would laugh so heartily at the idea of Kearns taking the customary percentage that Kearns would finally get to laughing, too. It is estimated that Benjamin has laughed Kearns out of quite some money.

Recently Benjamin felt the press of necessity, so he negotiated the sale of his contract by Mr. Kearns to Mr. Connor for $5,000.

Of this sum Benjamin assured Kearns he could have $1,000, laughing "The Doctor," as Benjamin calls Kearns, out of any thought he may have entertained that he ought to get the entire $5,000. He made "The Doctor" feel that if he got the thousand he would be the beneficiary of a big-hearted act.

The deal closed, the money paid, Benjamin then laughed so heartily at the very idea of giving Kearns that thousand that finally Kearns laughed WITH him.

He didn't get the thousand, called in pugilistic circles "a grand."

You will observe that Benjamin is an astute young business man. Also that Kearns is very good natured.

Benjamin CAN fight when he wishes, no doubt of that.

He has permitted about three very valuable years and fully $150,000 in cash to slip past him as he laughed his way along, gathering in an occasional purse of a couple of thousand dollars in a four-round event when he needed the money.

But he has suddenly commenced to take the boxing game rather seriously. He trained hard for the fight with Silver. Training is "murder" to one of Joe's temperament and inclinations; it is desperately HARD WORK.

He would much rather laugh and play, to visit the race track, the cafes, to enjoy himself.

But he kept grinding away this time until he was in the best condition the writer has ever seen him. Perhaps his new manager is responsible.

Perhaps the ONE lovely young lady of the many photographs in the Benjamin establishment is the cause. In fact that is the likely theory.

There is always ONE young lady who can make a man do ANYTHING—even work!

Fohl Lacked Reserves; Says he Has Them Now

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—Lee Fohl, manager of the Boston Red Sox, isn't claiming any pennants or world's championships, but he feels mighty hopeful.

"The Red Sox, after showing a dazzling pace in the American League last year, blew up. This was due entirely to a lack of good substitutes," he says. "When some of our boys were injured or grew tired of the battle, we had no one to throw into the breach.

"We intend to be out there doing our stuff every day and I believe that we will at least be consistent this year. I can't see how we are going to blow up."

Lee has six young players ho figures are certain to be in the team's first or second line this season. They are: Connolly, infieder, from Bay City; Protho, infielder, from Memphis and Washington; Dodgell, second baseman, from Saline, Kan.; Gross, infielder, San Antonio; Ernest Vache, outfielder, from Dallas; Lucey, pitcher, from Jersey City.

SPORT SPARKS

The pitching of Joe Bush and Urban Shocker should provide one of the most interesting sidelights on the American league race this season. Bullet Joe, like all other Yankee cast-offs, will do his durndest to beat his former mates at every opportunity, while Shocker will be working just as hard to prove that the Yanks got the best of the trade.

Although Bush looked like a world-beater at times last season, his work was not up to performances of other years. He was not on the best of terms with Manager Miller Huggins, for one thing. When yanked from the box in a tight situation Joseph was wont to toss his glove high in the air, scowl in the general direction of the New York dugout or give vent to other signs of peevishness.

In the same way Shocker was not at his best for St. Louis. The change to the big town probably will give him a new lease on life, as has generally been the case with stars traded to hot favorites in the pennant race.

Amazing Power

THE COACH. Price $735 F. O. B. Flint.

The reputation which the Chevrolet has always borne for power is more than lived up to in the new 1925 models—as a hill climber it is without a rival among cars of anywhere near its power rating regardless of price.

Engineering skill of the highest order has reduced motor noises to a minimum, has rendered the motor more accessible and by avoiding friction losses has made it possible for the motor to deliver a maximum of power to the driving wheels.

VERSE AND WORSE

By Larry Flint

A Necessary Evil.

All th' time a-crawlin' in
Underneth th' bed;
Jumpin' up t' grab a bite
Of a feller's bread;
Always trackin' Mother's floor;
Chawin rubbers up—
Still, life ain't no fun unless
A feller's got a pup.

Seems t', somehow, life th' best
Doings sech as this:
Mussin' up th' pretty things
That belong t' Sis.
Lots o' bother—sure; but I'll
Leave it up t' you:
Without a dog aroun' th' house,
What would a feller do?

Mother says he's such a pest;
Dad gits mad as sin,
Says a dog house is th' place
T' keep a fool dog in.
I suppose he's no account;
Sis says so—but, oh!—
Yuh got t' have a pup around;
A feller needs him so.

Mansard Roof Not Mansard's

The Mansard roof, a popular type of architecture used in many early American buildings, as for instance on the department of state building in Washington, was made popular by Francois Mansard, a French architect who lived from 1598 to 1666, but he has been found to not be the originator of it. About 300 years before Mansard was born the style was originated by an architect named Lescot. Mansard eventually advertised the roof and himself at the same time and in popular conception he was given credit for it.

Lodge Head Asserts Poison Liquor Puts Men on Water Wagon

DETROIT—Bad hooch is doing more to stamp out drinking than raids, arrests and fines, according to A. W. Frye, supreme commander of the Maccabees, in an address here.

"Fear of the law may not make a man stop drinking, but fear of death certainly will," said Mr. Frye. "Bellevue hospital, New York, reported as high as 80 patients admitted for treatment of alcoholic poisoning in a single day in 1924. In the first 11 months of last year 454 persons died in New York alone from placing trust in booleggers.

"Liquor today is being compounded of denatured alcohol, wool alcohol, pyridin, bichloride of mercury, ether, kerosene, fusel oil and sulphuric acid. Most of these materials are deadly poisons."

Hold Book Shower.

BARNESVILLE—Members of the Tourist club gave a book shower at the club's meeting in the public library. Each member presented a new book to the library.

WATER, WATER, ALL AROUND AND NOT A DROP TO DRINK

Might Have Been the Cry of This Warren, O., Woman, Had Not Ka-di-ok Relieved Her Trouble.

MRS. BERTHA BOWMAN

It's a far cry from the wail of the unfortunate shipwrecked seaman on a raft in mid-ocean to the peaceful city of Warren, O., but the same danger which confronted the seaman might also confront those thousands of miles from the ocean, albeit, however, the cry should be paraphrazed to "water, water all around, but my poor stomach won't let me drink."

No doubt Mrs. Bertha Bowman, 1001 Edgewood avenue, Warren, O., might have felt somewhat like the shipwrecked mariner, from the fact that her stomach was in such a condition that she could not even drink water without suffering from its effects. Mrs. Bowman had stomach trouble for the past 4 years, couldn't eat without paying in pain, had indigestion, gas on the stomach, pains in the region of the heart, food wouldn't digest, constipated, nervous, irritable, losing sleep, all tired out in the morning and suffered headaches. While visiting relatives a short while ago in West Virginia she was advised to try Ka-di-ok, which she did. Its beneficient effects were so quickly seen, that upon her return home her relatives sent her Ka-di-ok from West Virginia until she learned she could buy it in that city.

She now states to a Ka-di-ok representative that all her ailments have left her, every one, and she can eat anything. She has no hesitancy in recommending Ka-di-ok to her friends and others.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 W. Sixth St.

VERSE AND WORSE

By Larry Flint

A Necessary Evil.

All th' time a-crawlin' in
Underneth th' bed;
Jumpin' up t' grab a bite
Of a feller's bread;
Always trackin' Mother's floor;
Chawin rubbers up—
Still, life ain't no fun unless
A feller's got a pup.

Seems t', somehow, life th' best
Doings sech as this:
Mussin' up th' pretty things
That belong t' Sis.
Lots o' bother—sure; but I'll
Leave it up t' you:
Without a dog aroun' th' house,
What would a feller do?

Mother says he's such a pest;
Dad gits mad as sin,
Says a dog house is th' place
T' keep a fool dog in.
I suppose he's no account;
Sis says so—but, oh!—
Yuh got t' have a pup around;

Mansard Roof Not Mansard's

The Mansard roof, a popular type of architecture used in many early American buildings, as for instance on the department of state building in Washington, was made popular by Francois Mansard, a French architect who lived from 1598 to 1666, but he has been found to not be the originator of it. About 300 years before Mansard was born the style was originated by an architect named Lescot. Mansard eventually advertised the roof and himself at the same time and in popular conception he was given credit for it.

Lodge Head Asserts Poison Liquor Puts Men on Water Wagon

DETROIT—Bad hooch is doing more to stamp out drinking than raids, arrests and fines, according to A. W. Frye, supreme commander of the Maccabees, in an address here.

"Fear of the law may not make a man stop drinking, but fear of death certainly will," said Mr. Frye. "Bellevue hospital, New York, reported as high as 80 patients admitted for treatment of alcoholic poisoning in a single day in 1924. In the first 11 months of last year 454 persons died in New York alone from placing trust in booleggers.

"Liquor today is being compounded of denatured alcohol, wool alcohol, pyridin, bichloride of mercury, ether, kerosene, fusel oil and sulphuric acid. Most of these materials are deadly poisons."

Hold Book Shower.

BARNESVILLE—Members of the Tourist club gave a book shower at the club's meeting in the public library. Each member presented a new book to the library.

WATER, WATER, ALL AROUND AND NOT A DROP TO DRINK

Might Have Been the Cry of This Warren, O., Woman, Had Not Ka-di-ok Relieved Her Trouble.

MRS. BERTHA BOWMAN

It's a far cry from the wail of the unfortunate shipwrecked seaman on a raft in mid-ocean to the peaceful city of Warren, O., but the same danger which confronted the seaman might also confront those thousands of miles from the ocean, albeit, however, the cry should be paraphrazed to "water, water all around, but my poor stomach won't let me drink."

No doubt Mrs. Bertha Bowman, 1001 Edgewood avenue, Warren, O., might have felt somewhat like the shipwrecked mariner, from the fact that her stomach was in such a condition that she could not even drink water without suffering from its effects. Mrs. Bowman had stomach trouble for the past 4 years, couldn't eat without paying in pain, had indigestion, gas on the stomach, pains in the region of the heart, food wouldn't digest, constipated, nervous, irritable, losing sleep, all tired out in the morning and suffered headaches. While visiting relatives a short while ago in West Virginia she was advised to try Ka-di-ok, which she did. Its beneficient effects were so quickly seen, that upon her return home her relatives sent her Ka-di-ok from West Virginia until she learned she could buy it in that city.

She now states to a Ka-di-ok representative that all her ailments have left her, every one, and she can eat anything. She has no hesitancy in recommending Ka-di-ok to her friends and others.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 W. Sixth St.

Prohibition Bibles.
Bonfils Startles Us.
Autos and Bathtubs.
What a Girl Should Be.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Someone has published "a shorter Bible" with all the advice about drinking good wine left out. David's "flagon of wine" is replaced by "a cake of raisins." You can't guess, not having the volume at hand, what explanation and twisting replaces the story about Christ changing water into wine, that wedding guests might have something fit to drink, drinking water being full of germs in those days.

Now that the Bible by prohibitionists is ready, you look forward to another edited by some corporation lawyer or clergyman of a rich man's church. That Bible would leave out unpleasant suggestions about giving all your wealth to the poor and cut out poor old St. James entirely. Any saint that would write "go to now ye rich, weep and howl" has no place in a rich man's Bible.

After all who builds the fine churches?

Whose money at this moment is building the fifteen million dollar cathedral of St. John the Divine?

Not the poor man's money.

In Omaha a murderer serving a 13-year sentence for killing his wife is fighting to collect $1,500 life insurance on the wife he murdered. And he may get the money. The district judge explains that while the law forbids "inheriting money through an act of violence," an insurance policy is a contract and even murder may not cancel it.

Mr. Bonfils, in Denver, publishes the news that for every bath tub in the United States there are three automobiles.

A meeting of sanitary engineers is startled by the information, but the Bonfils announcement is just another proof of progress.

Queen Elizabeth, who had a thousand dresses in her closets, did not have any bath tub, not even a shower. No wonder she retained her title "The Virgin Queen." Three automobiles to one bath tub isn't as bad as a thousand dresses and no bath tub. There is progress.

Besides, an air bath is almost as good as a water bath, bathing the inside of the lungs with fresh oxygen may be more important even than bathing the outside of the body with fresh water.

Only one person at a time can bathe in the same bath tub, whereas from five to ten can take an air bath in each automobile. Everything you read indicates progress.

Roman emperors and their rich courtiers had bath tubs. And once only a few Vanderbilts and others equally rich had automobiles. Now millions have bath tubs and automobiles both.

Bardnard college authorities tell what "a normal young woman must be."

"She must be able to jump three feet two inches, throw a basketball 25 feet; run 25 feet in four and four-tenths seconds; climb four feet and vault a height of three feet eight inches. She must have a straight line posture—no curves to front or back or sides, and she must have clear eyes, nearly red cheeks and a ready smile."

You wonder why nature takes pains to put curves on young woman, in front, in the back, and on the sides if young woman really doesn't need the curves. Even the Venus of Milo, noble majestic creature, is curved here and there, and the beautiful "stooping Venus" is all curves.

Perhaps there is a useful place in the world for young women not quite so "normal." Consider the Bronte sisters. They had no red cheeks and a "ready smile" was rare among them.

They never saw a basketball, never vaulted or jumped, but they did something more important.

Think also about Bertha "with the big feet," mother of Charlemagne; Nancy Hanks, mother of Abraham Lincoln; Olympias, mother of Alexander the Great, and the wide hipped, very curvy Lastitia Ramolino, mother of Napoleon. Those four ladies wouldn't fit into the Barnard college description at all. But they are useful.

If your friend has a bad cold, be polite, smile, bow, say "I never saw you looking better," but don't shake hands.

That is the advice of Dr. Sundwall, of Michigan university. Influenza is spread by hand shaking. You get the germs from your friend's hand, transfer them to your handkerchief and then to your nose.

Hand shaking is foolish, archaic anyhow, as foolish as Indians rubbing noses. Primitive man stretched out his right hand to show there was no knife in it, and to reassure the stranger. That's hardly necessary now.

The learned Henry G. Lawrence, professor of history, drops this bombshell into a ladies' club, "the first bootleggers were the good Puritans

EDGAR VESS, ADMITTING NINE AUTO THEFTS, HELD FOR JUVENILE INQUIRY

HIS THREE CHUMS ARE WITNESSES

Other Arrests in Connection With Disappearance of 50 Cars are Promised Following Statement by Lads.

Admitting, the police claim, the theft of at least nine automobiles in East Liverpool during the last few months, Edgar Vess, 16 years old, 713 Burford street, was ordered held for the bureau of juvenile research, at Columbus, by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle, Lisbon, today, following his arrest near Annsley stop on the Y. & O. by Sheriff Wright.

Vess is alleged to have been driving a Chevrolet car, belonging to George Snyder, resigning on R. F. D. No. 1, which was stolen from its parking place in front of the high school building, last night. Three companions—Neil Barnes, 18; Leslie McConnell, 16, and William Crytzer, 16, who were with Vess at the time, were held as witnesses.

Vess, police say, in a confession made to Chief of Police Hugh McDermott and Mayor Charles Brown, at the city hall, this morning, said he took a Jewett sedan belonging to George Spencer, Pennsylvania avenue, while it was parked in front of the High school building, last evening, while Spencer and his family were attending church services. He had driven the car only a few squares when the lights on the automobile went out. Unable to find the trouble, he abandoned the machine on West Fifth street, near the First Methodist Episcopal church, where it was recovered about 9:45 o'clock by the police.

Admits Stealing Snyder Car.

The lad, police alleged, returned to the high school immediately and succeeded in getting Snyder's machine started. He declared, police said, that he was alone at the time he took the car, but picked up Barnes, McConnell and Crytzer uptown. He told his companions that the car belonged to a friend and that he had borrowed it for the evening, it is claimed.

The quartet traveled out the Lincoln Highway. Near Annsley stop on the Y. & O. the machine went into a ditch

HUSBAND, WIFE ARE KILLED IN BED; ANOTHER WOMAN IS SHOT

Mystery Shrouds Slaying and Attack in Chicago.

BRUTAL CRIMES

Masked Man Fires When Door of Flat is Opened.

CHICAGO, March 23.—A man and a woman were killed, shot dead in their bed, and another woman, living in another flat on the same floor in the same apartment building, was perhaps fatally wounded by a charge of buckshot, here today.

The dead were Mrs. Mary Palumbozio, 25, and her husband, Edward, 24.

Mystery shrouds the killings and the attack.

Police summoned to the scene were unable to find any clues to the slayers or establish a motive for either crime.

Man Shot Through Eye.

Mrs. Palumbozio's body was found beside her bed. She had been shot through the head, apparently with a sawed-off shotgun. She was clothed in her night gown, stockings and bath slippers, which she is believed to have pulled on hurriedly when confronted by her assailant. Crouched near the body, police found two whimpering children, Carmella, 2 and Arthur 4.

In the kitchen they found the body of the husband, shot through the eye.

Mrs. Marie Pacifico, 43, was wounded when she opened the door to her flat in answer to a knock. A masked man, confronting her, raised a shotgun and fired without a word. Her husband, Joseph, rushed to the door and the man again raised his weapon, but presumably because the charge had been discharged, lowered it and fled.

The husband told police he could assign no cause for the attack.

TORNADO-SWEPT ZONE TURNS ATTENTION TO REHABILITATION TASK

DEAD IN STORM AREA NOW 694

Destruction of Water and Sanitation Plants Makes Devastated District Ripe for Plagues, Physicians Warn.

Storm-torn Illinois and Indiana girded itself today for its struggle to rehabilitation.

While additional doctors and nurses, rushed into the devastated area in the last 48 hours, fought to stay the threatened epidemics of gas basillus gangrene, pneumonia and typhoid, following in the wake of the tornado, citizens' committees, working with various relief organizations, turned their attention to the rebuilding of the razed cities, replanting of the torn acreages of farm land and recapitulation of losses.

The total dead in the five states which felt the tornado's breath today was placed at 694 after careful checking and re-checking by Red Cross officials. Of these 552 were in Illinois; 87 in Indiana; 23 in Tennessee, 17 in Missouri and 15 in Kentucky.

Seek to Avert Pestilence

And unless the scourge of pestilence stalks through the ruined areas, it is believed these figures will remain constant.

This, physicians in the district today did not consider likely, although they admitted that the danger was still too acute to permit any great amount of optimism.

They pointed out that the ruining of all water and sanitation plants in the storm district, coupled with the living conditions which the tornado had forced, makes the devastated area ripe for various plagues, and has, in fact, already brought out cases of violently communicable disease, but for the most part they believe the victims have been isolated.

Emergency water sterilization plants were in operation today and doctors

KENT MERCHANT, POLICEMAN AND SUSPECTED FOE SHOT TO DEATH

Clash Occurs When Patrolman Questions Three Strangers.

KENT, March 23. — Clayton Apple, 43, merchant police officer, was almost instantly killed and Basslie Nicossa, 26, alleged gunman, died today in an Akron hospital, as the result of a gun battle here this morning in which Apple engaged three men believed to have been bent upon the murder of another private officer for revenge, robbery or arson.

Prisoner Denies Shooting.

It was believed that Apple met his death when he halted the three men for questioning. Nicossa and Frank Mollica, 25, were later arrested in Akron. Nicossa, a wound in his abdomen, was taken to the Akron City hospital where he died. A third suspect was reported under arrest at Girard and will be brought here for questioning.

Mollica, questioned by Akron police, admitted having driven from Kent to Akron early this morning, but claimed he picked up Nicossa in the road and knew nothing of him or the gun battle.

Two Witness Shootings.

Apple and his fellow officer, J. Medio, resemble each other and both wore uniforms without badges. Police believe the gangsters wanted to kill Medio and mistook Apple for their desired victim when Apple halted them in the street.

Harry Wilson and Alvin McDermott of Kent, witnessed the shootings. They were in a car and saw Apple talking with the three other men. The autoists, thinking a holdup was in progress, drove to the business section for an officer, and finding none, returned just in time to see the shooting begin. Apple was dead when the autoists reached him and the slayers had fled.

"The banks will accept money for any of the stricken communities," said Mayor Brown. "Contributors may have friends living in some of the places struck by the tornado and the funds will be forwarded to the relief committee in the community named by the contributor."

JAZZ-AGE SLAYER OF MOTHER FACES TRIAL IN SAN FRANCISCO; "TEMPORARY INSANITY" IS HER PLEA

BY ELLIS H. MARTIN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. — In the same courtroom in which Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle thrice stood trial on charges growing out of the death of Virginia Rappe, 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson goes on trial today for the murder of her mother.

As the case was called in superior court, attorneys for the girl backed by an imposing array of alienists were prepared to fight for her liberty.

With the same imperturable calm which has been broken but once since the girl was arrested for shooting her mother, Dorothy faced the prospect today of a bitterly fought trial in which her liberty for the balance of her days was at stake.

She rose early today at the county jail and donned the dress she wore at her preliminary hearing— one of those she hastily packed and carried with her when she fled from the cottage in which she shot her mother following a reprimand for staying out late the night before.

Opposes Women on Jury.

Selection of a jury was expected to require the greater part of today and possibly all of tomorrow. Dorothy has expressed the hope that women will not sit as her jurors on the jury. There are many women in the jury panel from which the selection will be made.

In effect the "jazz age," declared responsible for the girl's deed, stood indicted and on trial with her.

"Temporary insanity" was expected to be the plea made in behalf of the titian haired "jazz baby" by her attorneys, Alexander Mooslin and Sylvester McAtee.

Through an exhaustive investigation by Dr. Jau Don Ball, chief alienist for the defense, they expected to show that heredity, environment and the mad jazz tendency of the age contributed to a moment of utter irresponsibility in which the girl shot down her mother after she had been reprimanded for staying out nights on gay parties.

Asks Penalty.

The state, demanding life imprisonment, contends the girl is sane and was sane at the time of her deed.

The defense is expected to set up the plea that given proper training, right surroundings and needed treatment the girl can in a few years take her place in society, cured of "jazzmania."

Dorothy shot and killed her mother about two months ago in their little Richmond cottage home. The mother was tying her shoe when her enraged daughter shot her through the back, according to the police reconstruction of the crime. The girl packed her suitcase and fled the home, taking a room in a downtown rooming house. Her love for company led to her apprehension three days later, a phone call to a male friend betraying her to the police. At first she contended her mother had been slain by a "dope fiend." Then she made a full confession that she had, in a moment of anger, slain her mother because she had reprimanded her for her jazz life.

With marvelous sang froid the girl

SENATE TO O. K. GUILFORD BILL

State Park Measure Will be Enacted, Says Carpenter.

The proposal for a state park on the site of the old Guilford dam in Hanover township will pass the senate by a unanimous vote, State Senator Harry M. Carpenter, Steubenville, predicted today.

The bill was enacted by the house of representatives last week, and immediately sent to the senate. It was referred to the senate finance committee and 10 minutes later was reported favorably by the committee. It is likely that the measure will come up for a vote in the senate either Wednesday or Thursday.

The bill sets aside $32,500 with which to purchase not exceeding 500 acres of land in the vicinity of the dam. An appropriation is also made to cover the expense in closing up the gap in the dam, which was made when the pond was drained many years ago.

Governor A. V. Donahey has indicated that he will sign the measure immediately upon passage by the senate.

A special meeting of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association will be held at Lisbon as soon as the proposed bill is enacted. The game association is arranging plans for its annual outing and field day, which will be held at the state park this year.

The county commissioners will consider a plan of improving the roads leading to the park as soon as the bill becomes a law. Improved roads will likely be built from the Cox highway on the north and from the Lincoln highway on the south.

RUSS FAMINE GROWS WORSE

Nearly 2,000,000 Children are Reported Without Food.

LONDON, March 23.—Russia's famine situation daily grows more menacing, according to reports coming into London from several sources.

The newspaper, "The Communist," of Kharkov, is authority for the statement that 750,000 children are literally starving in the Ukraine.

There are 420,000 children without food in the Kharkov district, and another 230,000 in Odessa.

The Soviet has succeeded only in organizing partial relief for 91,000 sufferers. The Donetz, Podolsk and Volhynia regions also are affected.

April and May will be the crucial months, the report said.

and before it could be removed Sheriff George Wright arrived on the scene. He questioned the lads and Vess admitted, it is alleged, that he stole the car in East Liverpool.

The lads were brought to this city at 1:30 o'clock this morning and locked up. Inasmuch as all four are juveniles, the case was turned over to Probation Officer John McShane, who took them to Lisbon.

Barnes, McConnell and Crytzer denied any knowledge that the machine had been stolen.

Other Arrests Expected.

In ordering the boy held for the Bureau of Juvenile Research, the opinion was expressed that the lad was suffering from a mental ailment. It was testified that he was struck by a high tension wire back in 1915.

Everett Vess, father of the lad, appeared in court to plead for his son, asserting the boy was attending school and had given him very little trouble. The court's decision will not be announced until the research department at Columbus completes its investigation.

The police are working on clues which may result in further arrests within the next 24 hours, as the result of admissions made by the four lads apprehended today.

Approximately 50 automobiles have been stolen here since January 1, the majority of which have been recovered or accounted for. The police believe youthful joy riders to be responsible for the greater part of the thefts.

Verdict Expected Tonight or Tomorrow In Dennistoun Case

LONDON, March 23.—A verdict tonight or tomorrow was indicated as the Dennistoun case, a suit for $6,000, which has run up its costs on all counts to a total estimated to be $150,000, neared a close.

The usual society crowd filled the court room early to listen to Sir Ellis Hume Williams attack Colonel Ian Dennistoun in summing up for Mrs. Dorothy Dennistoun, the plaintiff. His argument was to be followed by the judge's remarks to the jury.

Sir Ellis, in his argument, mentioned the small amount claimed by Mrs. Dennistoun on the score of debts she says she paid for her former husband. The husband said he could not understand the mentality of a man who was living in luxury in London and yet fought such a case.

Widow of Gompers Quits Fight Over Labor Chief's Will

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—The reasons that prompted Samuel Gompers, late president of the American Federation of Labor, to destroy a will just before his death that left his entire estate to his bride of two years probably will never be public known.

Through her attorneys, Mrs. Gertrude Gompers, the widow, filed notice today of her withdrawal of a contest of the dead labor leader's will, and her acceptance of the later will, executed only a few weeks before Gompers' death. In the second will, she was cut off with dower rights, the bulk of the estate going to Gompers' children and grand children. Domestic difficulties are said to have been the cause of the change in wills.

The Gompers' estate is valued at $40,000.

LONDON SPURNS ITALY'S OFFER

Mussolini Proposal of Security Pact Angers France.

LONDON, Mar. 23.—Premier Mussolini, of Italy, has offered Great Britain a security pact which would exclude France, according to a Paris dispatch to the Daily Chronicle. England has rejected the proposal, the dispatch stated, but France is aroused over Mussolini's move.

Security pact negotiations were gaining momentum today. The French ambassador, M. Fleuriau, has returned to Paris to report to Premier Herriot on the situation. Austen Chamberlain, secretary of state for foreign affairs, will report to the house tomorrow on the progress made thus far.

The German embassy has cleared up some of the points of the German proposal with the announcement of Germany's intention to join the League of Nations. Britain is inclined to consider the German proposal favorably, but Poland's objection will have to be met. It is based on Germany's willingness to guarantee her western borders, but reluctance to guard her eastern borders, preferring to submit any dispute there to arbitration.

Poland is an ally of France, therefore Premier Herriot finds himself in a dilemma as a result of the German plan.

Storm Victims Offer Prayers.

BENTON, Ill., Mar. 23.—As though given strength to conquer their mighty handicap in answer to fervent supplications that flowed from every heart and fell from every lip, storm and fire-ridden southern Illinois, bent to the colossal task today of rehabilitation and staving off the odious possibility of pestilence.

Prayers—Some silent and some hurled into the heavens with hysterical fervency—rose from the forlorn masses who gathered in united worship Sunday.

The eternal flame of hope, that in the ghastly hours following last Wednesday's orgy of the elements seemed forever quenched, became re-kindled today. The willingness with which hundreds or homeless turned toward the re-building of their shattered world, lent an aura of cheer over the horizon on which only devastation was visible.

Plan To Re-open Schools.

Among the first reconstruction tasks will be the re-opening of schools.

Children will not be allowed to work and resumption of studies is expected within the next 10 days.

Perhaps the most exhausted men in the entire afflicted region today were the undertakers and their assistants. Many have worked continuously, day and night.

Under a strenuous program outlined by chamber of commerce officials it is hoped to have living quarters and employment centers sufficiently rebuilt and under way within six months to dispense with relief agencies.

WOMAN IS DYING; SON-IN-LAW HELD

MARIETTA, O., Mar. 23. — John Haines, 14, is under arrest today charged with shooting to death Mrs. Benn Summers, wife of a Cairo, W. Va., merchant. Haines, also, is charged with trying to kill Mrs. Summers' son. Haines, who had lived at the Summers' home since last fall, is believed to have escaped from one of the Ohio reformatories.

There was quite a demand for scarlet letters, it appears.

Voltaire was ahead of Prof. Lawrence. He told of earnest Roundheads calling upon the deeply religious Cromwell and told to come another day as Cromwell was then "busy seeking the Lord." The fact was, according to Voltaire, that Cromwell, at that moment was in gay company, seeking, not the Lord, but the corkscrew which had fallen under the table.

kept up a brazen attitude until the inquest into the death of her mother. Then she broke down when a picture of her slain mother was flashed on a screen. Since then she has been a sobered girl and at times some fears were entertained for her health in the county jail.

Father Helps

Attorneys for her defense were provided by her father and brother, who at first were extremely bitter against the girl. However, they relented and secured funds for her defense.

Expecting a battle of alienists, the state has retained Dr. Joseph Catton as its chief psychiatrist and his testimony will be used in rebuttal to that introduced by the defense.

All phases of medical testimony will be employed, it is expected.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 23.—Industrial stocks declined sharply in early trading today, support was lacking in a number of important market leaders, including the so-called pool stocks. Price declines reached a maximum of four points in a number of these shares. With the exception of the Pan-Americans, oil stocks also received a fresh outburst of selling and a good portion of last week's recoveries were wiped out. Baldwin Locomotive lost 3½ points in the first transaction and U. S. Steel sold a full point below Saturday's close.

Market sentiment was still under the influence of the violent selling movement which closed Saturday's session, and which was featured by the heavy decline in local traction stocks. Manhattan Elevated modified guaranteed shares broke through to a new low at 37¼, down about three points from Saturday's close. The bonds of traction companies were also reactionary.

Selling pressure increased in the second hour and most of the active industrial and specialty stocks were headed for lower price levels.

Following out their policy of "selling on rallies," bearish traders have launched sharp attacks on market leaders, many of which have been recording new low prices for 1924 in the present movement. American Can sold down to 171 today for a further loss of three points; Cast Iron Pipe was down ten points; Savage Arms broke through to a new low at 80, a total decline of 28 points from last months high. Independent steel stocks were unable to resist the pressure of heavy selling and declined with the copper, shipping and equipment stocks.

With Pennsylvania crude oil cut 20 to 35 cents a barrel today and gasoline prices showing an easier tendency in the weeks prior to the heavy consuming season, oil stocks lost more of their buoyancy. Even Pan-American, which led a brilliant rally last week, was placed on the ceiling counter and dropped to 76½ for the B stock, a loss of seven points from last week's high. Standard Oil and dividend-paying independent oil stocks flooded the market and prices broke a point or two from recent high levels.

Wellsville council, Knights of Columbus, unanimously indorsed the Hammond Park tag day sale, to be held next Saturday, at their regular meeting yesterday in the council headquarters here.

Appealing for support of the movement, Grattan V. Dugan, secretary of the park commission, said: "The question which confronts the city at this time is, shall the city's enviable record for generosity remain unsullied or shall failure to respond liberally leave a blot upon the record that has made Wellsville the envy of the entire county.

"We are working for the interests of the citizens of this municipality, do not doubt that people will feel greater than ever when we scan the pages of city history and learn of the sacrifice and hardships endured by the founders of this city and who they untiringly strove to procure for their dependents a place to live that would afford all the comforts of which they were deprived. The initial purchase price of this city was far less than the value of this park site.

"In true American spirit the fathers of our city denied themselves many of the comforts of life in their endeavor to make for civil welfare. That they succeeded is attested by the fact that today we have a city of some 9,000 or 10,000 people and industries representing investments of well over $3,000,000. The Pennsylvania railroad, during the last 10 years, had improved its holdings while during the year the United States Steel corporation has expended over $500,000 in new buildings and equipment at the local plant, all of which bespeaks a favored attitude toward our city.

"On Saturday, March 28, citizens will be given an opportunity to promote progress or retard it. Let us boost Wellsville-Hammond park and may we record one more achievement for the city. To those who are able, we say, give all you can; to those less fortunate, please give a dollar; but to all we say, give extra good will.

Expressions of commendation for the Hammond park tag day movement have been received from W. L. Fogo & Sons, real estate and insurance dealers; Julius Goetz, clothiers; and D. N. MacLean, undertaker.

George J. What Your Eyes Tell Others.

Students of such things say that the intellectual person has eyes of grey, while brown eyes express temperament rather than intellect. Blue and grey eyes nevertheless are said to express sadness with greater facility and brown eyes more readily respond to joy and anger. Green and black eyes are put under the classification "most wicked." Actually there are no black eyes, however, as only dark brown or dark grey eyes show up as black in certain lights.

The Stock Slump

Securities have been dropping lately, and there is gloom about it in Wall Street and some other quarters. A calm view of the situation shows nothing much to worry about.

The New York Times aptly describes the mid-March slump as "another violent readjustment in markets whose prices had been jacked up this season to extravagant heights."

There was a generous and natural rise in both the stock market and the wheat market, caused by real investors who properly appraised the business situation and the immediate outlook. So far, good! But on top of this rise came an effort on the part of mere stock speculators to inflate securities and grain beyond all reasonable limits. Deflation had to come sooner or later. With the market down to a sane level again, which is still considerably above last year's level business is on a sounder basis for going ahead.

Fundamental conditions stand nearly all the usual tests for soundness. Car loadings continue enormous and steady, showing that the country as a whole is doing a huge volume of business, in spite of weak spots here and there. Bank balances and savings show remarkable strength. The steel industry, ordinarily regarded as the best business barometer, is reported as operating on 90 to 95 per cent capacity. Unemployment continues to diminish.

It may be that capacity for production has outrun capacity for consumption in some industries. As a whole, the margin is probably small. Consumption, already heavy, is slowly increasing, and soon should be keeping industry still more actively occupied.

Farewell the Whale

Now it is the whale that is menaced with early extinction. Modern methods of capturing these mighty creatures of the sea are responsible for their gradual disappearance. The gun-harpoon has made it possible to catch nearly 12,000 whales in the Falkland islands region alone in a single year.

It is said that steel is replacing whalebone in many of its uses, and petroleum is substituting successfully in the industries that formerly required whale oil.

Perhaps something will be done to spare the whale, just as protection is being developed for many smaller creatures of the earth, air and water. Certainly it would be a difficult proposition to keep the last whale in an aquarium or a museum.

Some of the beasts of the days when the world was young are supposed to have disappeared naturally as their usefulness was outgrown or they failed in the evolutionary process of adapting ever, it is man's reckless slaughter of wild things that is making themselves to changing conditions. In the present period, how- for their extinction and depriving coming generations of the pleasure and profit of seeing them in real life instead of pictures and museums.

Entertaining Ads

An advertising expert, speaking to other advertisers, urges that newspaper display ads be made more humorous and less stiff and serious. He ran through a daily newspaper calling attention to two news stories on the first page humorously treated, a humorous poem on the fourth page dealing with a current topic, and an editorial advocating rubber lamp posts. "The spirit of these stories might be projected into the advertising columns to good effect," he concluded.

There is real point to this. Many advertisers have already livene dup their ads with friendly or humorous touctes that are eagerly read by the public. Others seem to take their goods and their ads with deadly seriousness, setting them forth with such dignity and solemnity that there isn't much pleasure in reading them.

Now that newspaper advertising fills so much space and if of so much importance, there is no reason why it should not be made readable, attractive, humanly appealing, and even occasionally humorous, like other parts of a live newspaper.

Wooden Indians

An American newspaper started a movement to preserve a form of American art—if you can call it that—which threatens to become extinct. It is the wooden Indian, formerly regarded as a necessary symbol and advertisement of every tobacco store. The paper is rounding up surviving specimens for exhibition and preservation. The best of them will be placed in a museum.

The effort calls attention to a picturesque feature of our city streets in past generations, which will be missed, and whose disappearance is somewhat hard to explain. That wooden Indian, whether male or female, seemed somehow appropriate and inevitable as a tobacco sign. To many a middle-aged smoker, tobacco hardly tastes the same since Poor Lo vanished from the sidewalk. Posters of elegant and bored youths puffing dainty cigarets are poor substitutes. There was flavor, color and atmosphere about that old wooden Indian.

Surely he—or she—should be preserved, along with contemporary candle-molds, muzzle-loading rifles, powder-horns, spinnets, fire bellows and spinning wheels. Moreover, somebody should start a movement to save a few iron and stone hitching posts, particularly those representing horses' heads or colored jockeys, before it is everlastingly too late.

Rich people get that way by pretending they're poor, and poor people get that way by pretending they're rich.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Planning for Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—There is a growing realization among the people of the United States that Washington, the capital city, belongs to them, and not merely to the comparatively small proportion of the nation's population which is resident there. Consequently citizens from all sections are taking a more personal interest in doing what they can to make this the most beautiful city in the country and favorably comparable with the other great capitals of the world.

The development all over the country of federal city committees, sponsored by the American Civic association has been a result of this. The American Institute of Architects proposed a city-planning commission to over come the primary difficulty—the lack of co-ordinated planning—and a committee of 55 architects was organized to work with other groups for Washington.

The chairman of the American Institute of Architects' committee is Horace W. Peaslee, who has been most active in this movement. Frederick Law Olmstead, Jr., chairman of the landscape architects' committee. George B. Ford, president of City Planning institute, and Miss Harlean James, secretary of the American Civic association, are working in close co-operation on the idea. Many other professional and business groups have become actively interested.

At the present time there is not centralized system of planning for the expansion of Washington. The parks and park trees come under one jurisdiction; the streets and the street trees under another. The fine arts commission, the first of which was appointed by President Taft, is merely an advisory body and renders opinions only on sculpture, park projects and public structures. It has no jurisdiction over the streets, or over the private building developments.

During the last session of congress a bill embodying the recommendations as to this proposed commission was introduced in the senate by Mr. King, of Utah, and in the house by Mr. Zihlman, of Maryland. It was reported favorably in both the senate and the house, but did not come to a vote owing to the congestion of legislation at the last moment. It met with practically no opposition and it is expected that it will be brought up at the next session when it is hoped that it will be passed.

Will Serve Without Pay.

Mr. Zihlman in his report says that "the professional societies have worked consistently to stimulate public interest and to focus the attention of the country upon the possibilities for the improvement of the capital, and we are assured that men of the highest technical attainments will be willing to serve upon the federal city planning commission without compensation and as a matter of professional pride and patriotism."

Washington is admittedly one of the most beautiful cities in the world. It is said to have the largest number of trees. Not so many years ago the downtown business streets were shaded. New Hampshire avenue, above Dupont circle, is lined with American elms, forming an archway. To many this is one of the most beautiful and inviting streets in the city.

The mayor of Tokio presented to Mrs. Taft Japanese cherry trees which were planted along the Speedway around Potomac park. These have received so much publicity that they are probably as familiar to the average American as the capitol or the White House. Every spring thousands of visitors come from all parts of the United States to see the lovely blossoms. On a Sunday afternoon during the season when these trees are in bloom it is almost impossible to get around the Speedway at a rate of more than five or six miles an hour because of the number of automobiles.

Congress holds the purse-strings for Washington. While the citizens pay land taxes, as in other communities, such revenues are placed in the treasury and merged with the appropriations of congress. Formerly there was a 50-50 ratio, but now it is 60-40—that is the residents of the District provide 60 per cent of the money used to defray the expenses, while congress appropriates 40 per cent. And congress must pass on all such matters such as widening a street or purchasing land for a new park or a new playground.

Very often by the time the necessary authorization for the purchase of land for a park has been given by congress, and the money appropriated, the price has become prohibitive or else the land has become unsuitable for park purposes.

In 1920 a zoning commission was created, consisting of the three commissioners of the District, the officer in charge of public buildings and grounds and the superintendent of the capitol. This commission was charged with the duty of zoning the District into residential, first and second commercial and industrial districts. While this commission has already accomplished much good, its success will probably become more apparent as time goes on. As it is there are still many residential blocks marred by grocery stores, business offices and other "non-conforming uses," which present at the time the zoning law went into effect.

New Projects Proposed.

There are, of course, constantly and eternally various projects for the improvement of the nation's capital. One that is the subject of much discussion is the making of a parkway of all the land surrounding the Lincoln memorial. It is argued that the setting of this great memorial is marred by the navy and munitions buildings which were erected there during the World war as an emergency measure. Also to the north of this memorial are many dilapidated and ugly houses which do not lend beauty to the Lincoln memorial or to the new Academy of Science building.

Another long advocated project is a suitable archive building for government documents and files. It has been pointed out many times that very valuable papers are housed in buildings which are not fire-proof and are likely to destruction at any time. It was thus that the records of the 1890 census were lost.

TWO—HASKIN

The American Civic association hopes to impress upon the people of the United States their responsibility and their opportunity to make the capital of the nation a worthy realization of the plans of George Washington and his associates, Thomas Jefferson, Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant and Major Andrew Ellicott. It is felt that in this age of specialization, the planning of the national capital should not be left to diverse organizations with as many different points of view.

The chairman of the American Institute of Architects, committee on plan of Washington and environs, says: "Washington must have eventually, and might just as well have now, a competent and properly qualified body created for the purpose of developing a comprehensive plan for the entire District of Columbia and its environs, with co-ordinated zoning, housing, traffic and transportation, schools and playground, park and highways, industrial development, forest and farm reserves."

The Little Scorpions Club— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

PARIS, March 23.—The most sophisticated persons in Paris are the young chausseurs attached to every hotel and cafe. Their English is flawless. They range in age from 14 to 18 and their duties are multitudinous.

They act as interpreters, bargain with taxi drivers after midnight, carry messages and other chores. They are hardened to vice and few Montmartre secrets escape them. Many are vendors of drugs.

They make more in tips than head waiters and numberless French so called lower classes live in luxury off their young sons. Class distinction in France is pronounced. Someone has compared it to a glass of ale, frothy at the top, dregs at the bottom and solid in the middle.

The chausseur in his environment usually becomes a cutpurse and comes to a bad end. I notice in today's paper that one at the age of 15 has been arrested for giving a woman knockout drops and then scampering away with her purse and jewels.

Rubbing against life in the raw has made them quick and mentally alert. They know of the foulest dens in Paris and will escort you there for the rake off they receive from the proprietors. They are on salary to drum up business.

It is rather disheartening to see youth so spoiled and gives Americans a fresh appreciation of the manner in which we guard the morals of our young. I talked to one stationed in front of a night haunt on the Left Bank.

He said he usually became intoxicated before the night was over, but that he had not yet become addicted to cocaine. He intimated most of his fellow chausseurs were "dopes."

Behind the barred doors of many sordid looking streets in Paris are some of the most beautiful courtyards. Streets here speak still for men who are now dust. Others bear the names of royal houses, of king's ministers and mistresses. At night Paris streets are deserted for the true Parisian goes to bed early. Ten o'clock is late for him.

The Paris drayman is a merry fellow, cracking his whip over the head of his huge Norman horse. His long spindly dray usually carries barrels of red wine. He treats them as airy things and tosses, twirls and trundles them about as though they were feathers. The drayman is generally whistling or singing.

Nearly all cabaret entertainers here are Russians. So many are broke that they gladly work for a few francs. I have never been able to catch their magic caprice or alien jocundity. I have seen so many of them do that sitting down dance that even at my age I believe I could do it myself. Perhaps Paris is making me spry.

Count Boni de Castellane, former husband of Anna Gould, is a familiar figure about the Ritz. Despite his years he is still an active and dashing figure in Parisian life. The count dresses with meticulous care and his clothes are the handiwork of wasters. And speaking of clothes, what Europe calls the smoking jacket and what we call the dinner suit or Tuxedo is completely out of fashion here. In all the smart assemblages at the Ritz for dinner last night there were only two dinner suits—one was my own and the other belonged to a gentleman who looked as though he might be the leading chirapractor of Russet Gap, Iowa.

I also saw the famous Mrs. Nash last night who has been heralded as the best dressed woman in Europe. She had just come from Cairo with her current husband, an Egyptian Bey. Her arms bore jewels from the wrist to the elbow and if jewels make one well dressed she was. Meeow!

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By WILLIAM PARKER.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Whisky which is believed to cost 5 cents a quart to manufacture in Scotland sells for $20 a quart in some of New York's exclusive supper clubs, if you are willing to accept the word of investigators.

United States District Attorney Emory Buckner, of New York, sent two young lawyer friends and their wives into the supper clubs' district to obtain evidence for padlock prosecution, and they spent $1,500.

"They must have bought ham sandwiches and near beer," remarked a Broadway "smart cracker."

The New York supper clubs, 14 of which have been served with papers in padlock injunction proceedings, have become almost a ninth wonder of the amusement world. Where the people come from to pay the extravagant prices charged has been a mystery even to the club proprietors.

The clubs are emphatic in declaring they do NOT sell intoxicating liquor. Federal investigators emphatically assert that many of them do.

A reporter went out recently to answer the question to his own satisfaction. He ordered a Scotch highball.

"Nothing like that here, mister," blandly replied the waiter.

The reporter sent for the head waiter and repeated the order.

"Have you anything to identify you?" asked the head waiter.

The reporter reached carelessly into his pocket for a card and, by mistake, handed over his card of admittance to the United States senate press gallery. The head waiter studied it and then instructed the waiter:

"This guy's all right."

He got the Scotch highball.

There are approximately 50 supper clubs in New York, most of them in the uptown or theatrical district, the streets which number in the Forties, "the roystering Forties," they are called.

A cover charge ranges from $2 to $5. One club which charges $15 for each person closed recently. NOT because people would NOT pay the tax, but because of a partnership squabble.

The supper club idea originated in London, and has been elaborated upon by New York cafe men. The clubs are merely cafes, very small cafes usually and with likewise very small tables, hardly large enough, in fact, to hold a bottle, a bowl of cracked ice and glasses for the people seated at the table.

Nightly they are packed almost to the point of suffocation. The tiny dance floor is crowded with people who are elbowed and jostled in a way that would start a riot on a subway platform. It costs about $15 for a couple to attend a supper club, coming in after the theater, seats for which probably cost them $15 from a ticket speculator.

One of the most popular of the clubs are owned by a man who was in turn a policeman and owner of a string of taxicabs. He was said to have had at one time his own fleet of rum running launches and was reported to have lost $300,000 in a single summer when government rum runners capture his boats and incoming stock.

A woman "master of ceremonies" at one important club recently estimated her percentage of cover and other charge at $18,000 monthly. Previously she had never had a highly paid stage role.

New Yorkers who make their first trip to Paris express their disappointment, on returning, at the tameness of the Paris cafes as compared to the New York supper clubs.

"Kiss Map" Shown In Vienna Court By Angry Wife

VIENNA—The "kiss map" is the latest novelty to be introduced in the Viennese court.

Frau Ella Bauer brought an action against her young husband. She alleged that he went for evening walks with a pretty stenographer, kissing her at frequent intervals. In supporting her charge she produced an elaborate road map, prepared by a university student. On the map she indicated the walks that her husband and the stenographer had taken and large crosses marked the spots where she alleged the couple had stopped to indulge in embraces. The exact time and duration of the kisses were indicated upon the map.

The husband was fined $20 and the stenographer $10.

Q. Why are display clocks always set at 8:18?—S. K.

A. The position of the hands of a clock is one which has been selected for the reason that it furnishes the greatest facility to meet the requirement for painting the longer name above the hands and the shorter word below. The minute hand has varied in position from 17 to 25 minutes after eight. Sometimes the longer name requires to be written in a semi-circle above the hands. There have been stories connected with the death of Lincoln, that the position of the hands is commemorative of the hour of the death, but this is not true.

How long have people made a game of pitching horse-shoes?—R. E. R.

A. The game of horse-shoes is based on quoits, which is a pastime resembling the ancient discus-throwing of Greece. Few traces of a game resembling quoits can be found on the continent of Europe and its origin may be sought for on the borderlands of Scotland and England. There are references to it in the Midlands, dating from the beginning of the 5th century. Ascham, in his "Toxophilus" (1545, refers to the game as being played chiefly by the working classes who often used horse-shoes for want of quoits, a custom still prevailing in country districts.

Hearts and Dollars

Two Statements—one of which has to do with Health and Welfare, the other with Financial Strength

AN OPEN LETTER
(Name on Request)

MR. HALEY FISKE, President
METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO.
NEW YORK CITY

My Dear Mr. Fiske:

Why don't you publish a Heart Statement along with the regular Financial Statement you put out each year?

Any company can publish impressive figures of financial strength, financial growth, etc. But figures don't stick. All I remember from your last year's Statement is that the Metropolitan has several million policyholders and is the biggest life insurance company in the world.

I've been following some of your magazine advertisements lately that tell of work you're doing to help people live longer. It isn't entirely clear in my mind just how you're doing it or why you do it, but since you are doing it, give us the facts and figures on that. Call it a Heart Statement or a Welfare Statement, or anything you like, but—give us the facts.

Perhaps other Metropolitan policyholders like myself would be interested in a Statement of that kind.

Very truly yours,
C. N. S——.

WE are indebted to Mr. S. for his suggestion. It is an excellent one. We publish an annual Business Statement of the Metropolitan, not because we think that the figures will be remembered, but because they offer conclusive evidence of unusual growth and strength to its 22,000,000 policyholders.

And it is this extraordinary financial strength that makes it possible for the Metropolitan to carry on a nation-wide campaign for better health and longer life.

People now live longer

Records kept by the Metropolitan show an extraordinary decrease in the death rate among its policyholders. Compared with 1911, for example, there were nearly 62,000 fewer deaths in 1924 among its Industrial Policyholders than there would have been if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

While the average life span in the United States is 5½ years greater than it was 12 years ago, the life span of the Industrial Policyholders of the Metropolitan increased nearly 8½ years—a betterment of three years over the general average—in the same interval.

These increases in longer life are due in large part to the Metropolitan's Health and Welfare Work among its policyholders.

You are the gainer

You and all the other 22,000,000 policyholders—one out of every six people in the United States and Canada—reap the benefit through better health and decreased cost of insurance.

The wealth of the Metropolitan belongs to you and to no one else. The Metropolitan has no stock and no stockholders. It is owned solely by its policyholders. You, as one of the policyholders, share in the ownership of all its investments; in its railroad bonds, its real-estate mortgages, its loans to farmers, loans to states, cities and towns for public improvements and similar enterprises.

You, as a part-owner of over $1,600,000,000, should read the two statements on the left with a feeling of pride in what your company has achieved.

The efforts as well as the assets of the Metropolitan are dedicated to protection against future want—to greater happiness, better health and longer life.

Haley Fiske.

VIRGINIA DEBT BEING REDUCED

Paying Method Results in Big Saving to Taxpayers.

Nearly one half of the Virginia debt has been paid off in a period of five years, according to a statement issued recently by State Treasurer W. S Johnson. The total debt on January 1,1919, was $14,562,867.16. On that year the legislature passed a law providing for a cash payment of $1,062,876.16, which was made by the state treasurer to the Virginia debt commission in Washington. The law also provided for the issuance by the state of $13,500,000 of 3½ per cent 20 year bonds in payment of the remainder and made it mandatory that provision be made by the board of public works to pay interest charges and redeem $675,000 of the bonds each year.

The state treasurer has handled the redemption of these bonds. By buying when the market was favorable he has located and bought the bonds before they were due from holders in every part of the nation and in so doing has saved the sum of $562,885 within the five-year period. Treasurer Johnson estimates that the taxpayers can be saved over one and one-half million dollars in the payment of the obligation.

Treasurer Johnson has estimated that the sum already saved the state on the bonds is sufficient to pay the expenses of his department for 18 years. The Virginia debt levy, because of these economics has been reduced from 10 cents to four cents.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did" So writes Mr. Frank J Trumbull of Jersey City, N J., whose letter goes on to say. "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

Mrs. A. Ferguson Was in Wretched Health

County Ave. Woman Kept Going Down Hill Until She Almost Lost Hope.

Had No Idea That Any Medicine Would Help Her Like World's Tonic Did.

Remarkable indeed was the statement recently made by Mrs. A. Ferguson, County avenue, Wellsville. She sa'd:

"I haver never paid any attention to proprietary medicine advertisements, but World's Tonic appealed to me as it was not claimed to be a cure-all but intended as a systematic treatment for catarrh, something I had suffered with for years.

"I purchased one bottle, and from the time I began to use it, I felt better. I had an idea it was my thoughts that made me feel like the medicine was really doing me good, but this has all vanished and I am now convinced that World's Tonic is a medicine of real merit, as it has proven it in my case.

"For the last two or three years I was almost an invalid and had used enough medicine to start a small drug store. My greatest burden was stomach trouble and catarrh of the head that impaired by hearing. Nothing I ate gave me strength. I fell off until I was nothing but a mere skeleton. Some said right at the start I had catarrh of the stomach and would never be well, but I never gave up as I had seen people as bad off as myself and they got well.

"I was nervous and the slightest noise would cause me to get excited and cause my heart to beast fast. I never had a night's rest in two years. After I finished my meals I would have fullness in the stomach.

"The least change in the weather would cause me to contract cold. My head would stop up and I would have heavy dull feelings over my eyes. Mucus dripped from my head into my throat and I was constantly spitting, but since using the third bottle of World's Tonic this has entirely gone and my hearing has greatly improved also.

"I can now eat things that I could not for a long time and what I eat is doing me good and I am gaining in flesh every day. My sleep is restful and I am not nearly so nervous. Everyone speaks of how well I am looking and I give all the praise to World's Tonic. It certainly has acted like magic in my case and I am very grateful for the good it has done."

BROOKE COUNTY OFFICIALS BUSY

Brooke county authorities were busy yesterday, and in all 19 were arrested during the day. Thirteen of this number came in one swoop, when a raid was conducted on the pool room conducted by Joe Weeda in Follansbee. The proprieotor, and 12 others were taken when, the officers say, they found a poker game in full swing in a room in the rear of the pool room. They will be given a hearing this evening before Squire A. D. Collett.

Enroute back to Wellsburg after the raid at the Weeda pool room the sheriff, driving an auto, was challenged to race by S. G. Archer, who was driving a sedan. Archer was overtaken, and paid $5 and costs for his fast work on the roads.

Earl Suddoth, of Follansbee, and Zernie McFadden, Walter Buchanan and Dave Bearden, all of Wellsburg, were arrested during the day on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year old girl. The girl is being held, and it was upon her statements that the four young men were taken into custody. McFadden and Suddoth have been released on bond.

WOMAN IS VICTIM OF GAS STOVE.

Mrs. Anne Hansell, 25, wife of Lloyd Hansell, Follansbee, was burned to death yesterday morning when her clothing caught fire from a gas stove in her home during the absence of her husband and children. She died in the Ohio Valley hospital at Steubenville.

The woman, who is subject to epileptic fits, collapsed while preparing the Sunday dinner and apparently fell over the gas range.

Neighbors, who made the discovery, found the woman's entire body enveloped in flames. After being given first aid attention by a Follansbee physician she was hurried to the hospital.

Mrs. Hansell leaves her husband and a one-year old son; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnston; and one sister, Flora Johnston.

FIREMEN FAVOR NEW CITY BUILDING

Members of the Chester Volunteer fire department at a recent meeting went on record as favoring the erection of a new municipal building. The question was discussed at length and met with approval of the majority present. The plan as proposed would have the cost met by the sale of bonds provided the duly qualified electors of the city endorse the project at the polls.

The new structure, according to its sponsors, would provide for housing the various municipal offices including the fire department and in addition be equipped with an up to date auditorium.

EDUCATORS BACK ALCOHOL MEASURE

That the state education department stands clearly behind the effort to put a law on the statute books requiring the teaching in the public schools of the effect of alcohol and narcotics on the human system is brought out in a letter from the state superintendent of schools, George M. Ford, to Mrs. J. Walter Barnes, state president of the W. C. T. U. The letter is in reply to one received by Captain Ford from Mrs. Barnes in which she urged his support of the bill introduced by Dr. Harriet B. Jones, of Glendale.

Tip For Beginners.

Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Sussex Has Rare Kernel.

In a piece of pottery discovered in Sussex, England, and thought to date back at least to 700 B. C., there is a kernel of wheat still embedded and in a good state of preservation. The find seems to prove that agriculture was pursued in that part of England at that time and is therefore regarded as historically important.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

Home Building Now Spreading at Rapid Pace Over the Nation

BEDFORD, Ind.—Home building on a broad scale is in progress throughout the nation, according to a survey by the Indiana Limestone Quarrymen's association.

"Reports would indicate a residential shortage approximatin $2,000,000,000. A substantial part of this may be made up during the present year, judging from preliminary activity," it is reported.

So successful was the contest of motor vehicles on the "circuit of cobblestone roads" in Lile, France, last September, that the event is to be an annual test for automobiles, tractors and motorcycles over roads that are in bad condition.

Many years ago a physician discovered it—

SOOTHING, healing Resinol Ointment. Since then doctors have been prescribing it widely for skin and scalp troubles, because they know that its unvarying quality, its gentle medication, and the success which attends its use are sufficient to insist on Resinol.

It seldom fails to give quick relief in all itching, burning skin troubles, because its soothing properties cause it to ease the irritation while healing the disorder.

Resinol Soap is a ready aid in treating skin troubles, and is a favorite for the toilet and bath with thousands who like its cleansing, refreshing lather.

GRANGES URGED TO USE MOVIE FILMS

"There is no reason why granges and township farm bureaus cannot have interesting meetings, and also featured with moving pictures of vital interest to the rural communities," declares County Agent Floyd Lower. He has just been advised that the United States Department of Agriculture has one, two, three and four-reel pictures available for free use to granges and farm bureaus.

Seven new films are now in course of preparation by the department, which will bring the total number of films available for free use up to 208.

"A Crop Worth Saving," is a new four-reel feature just issued by the department, while "Suppressing the Foot and Mouth Disease" is a new two-reel feature.

AUTO SALE BILLS MUST BE FILED

Registration of automobile sale bills reached a low level this month, but since Monday last an increase in the filing of such instruments is reported by Clerk of Courts John T. Burns.

Beginning with April, there is always a rush in this particular phase of the work in the clerk of court's office due to the advance in the demand for new cars and the sale of used motor vehicles.

Severe penalties have been prescribed by the state legislature for failure to give a bill of sale at the time a car is sold and many municipal officers have been instructed to see that this law is enforced. The fine for failure to secure a bill of sale for a motor vehicle at the time throws one liable to a fine of from $25 to $5,000, and failing to register such bill of sale within three days after its delivery subjects the owner of the motor vehicle to a similar fine.

Y. & O. COMPANY ERECTING TRESTLE

At an approximate cost of $1,000 the Y. & O. railroad has commenced the erection of an unloading trestle north of the Chestnut street crossing at Lisbon. This improvement was suggested to the company by the state highway department, as it is the desire of the department to make Lisbon a delivery center for road building material this season.

Material for the improvement of the Lisbon-Salem road and the Elkton Signal road will be unloaded at this point. Both jobs are on the road improvement for this spring.

BISHOP HENDERSON TO MAKE ADDRESS

Final arrangements have been completed for a meeting of the county council of the official boards of the Methodist Episcopal churches of this county, which will be held in the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church Friday, March 27, both morning and afternoon meetings having been scheduled.

Bishop Anderson of Cincinnati will speak at both metings, and in the evening he will address a meetingg in the First Methodist Episcopal church at East Liverpool.

The women of the Lisbon M. E. church will serve dinner in the parlors of the church, this being the only social event scheduled for the Lisbon M. E. church during the current Lenten season.

Loyalty Day Observed.

Loyalty Day was observed by the members of the Lisbon Presbyterian church Sunday, this being the time when the financing budget for the year is made secure.

Plans for improving the church property this season have been abandoned.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, who had been wrongfully condemned as a slave to the Barbadoes under King James, falls in love with Arabella, niece of the military commander, at Bridgetown. He leads his fellow rebels-convict in an attack on a Spanish ship which had laid the city low and captures it. He sails for Tortuga, the rendezvous of the pirates of the Spanish Main. He accepts command of a buccaneer fleet, with Levasseur, a Frenchman and his ship, under him. Madelon d'Ogeron, daughter of the friendly Dutch governor of Tortuga, is fascinated by Levasseur. Levasseur breaks faith with Blood and captures a Dutch brig on which is Madelon and her brother. Blood lands at the island where Levasseur proposes to hold the girl as hostage for ransom. Captain Blood pays the ransom. Levasseur draws and Captain Blood runs him through. Cahusac, his aide, enlists with Blood, who makes Madelon and her brother his guests on board his ship.

That affair of Mademoiselle d'Ogeron bore as its natural fruit an improvement in the already cordial relations between Captain Blood and the Governor of Tortuga. It was not difficult then for Captain Blood to recruit able crews, and he might have increased the number of his ships as well, but he decided to hold to the three vessels which were his—the Arabella, the La Foudre and the Santiago, which he had rechristened the Elizabeth.

It was with this fleet that he carried out the enterprise against Maracaybo, an enterprise in which Peter Blood's daring was only surpassed by stupidity which almost turned the tide against him and delivered him and his men over to the tender mercies of his implacable enemy, Don Miguel de Espinosa y Valdez, the Admiral of Spain. Captain Blood had landed at Maracaybo and had found the town empty. Too soon he learned of the trap. Espinosa had put into the narrow neck of the bay with his ships and had bottled the buccaneer in the bay. A sloop, captured by Captain Blood was loaded with combustibles and powder and was sailed directly at the Spaniard until the grapnels held the two like a vice. Then it was set aflame. The Admiral's flagship burst into blaze, and fine seamanship and hard fighting with his three ships made Captain Blood master of Maracaybo Bay. But, when the Spaniards turned tail for shore and he gave chase, the fort which guarded the bay and which had seemed deserted poured down a raking fire upon him and drove him in mortification and despair to take refuge in the town. The Spaniards secured themselves in the fort.

With a devil's luck and clear headed thinking Captain Blood feinted with preparations for a land attack after he had managed to acquire a large ransom in gold from the Governor of Maracaybo, and, opening a broadside, put the fort in flames. Captain Blood sailed for Tortuga. Don Miguel was left to chew the bitter cud of lost opportunity.

CHAPTER XVI

THE MILAGROSA

In Tortuga, during the months he spent there refitting the three ships he had captured from the fleet that had gone out to destroy him, he found himself almost an object of worship in the eyes of the wild Brethren of the Coast, all of whom now clamored for the honor of serving under him. It placed him in the rare position of being able to pick and choose the crews for his augmented fleet, and he chose fastidiously. When next he sailed away it was with a fleet of five fine ships in which went something over a thousand men. Thus you behold him not merely famous, but really formidable. Three captured Spanish vessels he had renamed with a certain scholarly humor the Clotho, Lachesis, and Atropos, a grimly jocular manner of conveying to the world that he made them the arbiters of the fate of any Spaniards he should henceforth encounter upon the seas.

And meanwhile the Spanish Admiral Don Miguel de Espinosa went raging up and down the Caribbean seeking his enemy, and in the meantime, as an hors-d'oeuvre to his vindictive appetite, he fell upon any ship of England or of France that loomed above his horizon. This illustrious sea-captain and great gentleman of Castile had lost his head. And so, reckless of the fact that Captain Blood was now in vastly superior strength, the Spaniard sought him up and down the trackless seas. But for a whole year he sought him vainly. The circumstances in which eventually they met are very curious.

On the 15th September of the year 1688—a memorable year in the annals of England—three ships were afloat upon the Caribbean, which in their coming conjunctions were to work out the fortunes of several persons. The first of these was Captain Blood's flagship the Arabella, which had been separated from the buccaneer fleet in a hurricane off the Lesser Antilles. She was beating up for the Windward Passage homing for Tortuga, the natural rendezvous of the dispersed vessels. The second ship was the great Spanish galleon, the Milagrosa, which, accompanied by the smaller frigate Hidalga, lurked off the Caymites, to the north of the long peninsula that thrusts out from the southwest corner of Hispaniola. Aboard the Milagrosa sailed the vindictive Don Miguel. The third and last of these ships was an English man-of-war, the Royal Mary, which was at anchor in the French port of St. Nicholas on the northwest coast of Hispaniola. She was on her way from Plymouth to Jamaica, and carried on board a very distinguished passenger in the person of Lord Julian Wade, who came charged by his kinsman, my Lord Sunderland, with a mission of some consequence and delicacy, directly arising out of that vexatious correspondence between England and Spain.

To satisfy King James's anxiety to conciliate Spain, and in response to the Spanish Ambassador's constant and grievous expostulations, my Lord Sunderland, the Secretary of State, had appointed a strong man to the deputy-governorship of Jamaica. This strong man was that Colonel Bishop who for some years now had been the most influential planter in Barbados. From his first coming to Jamaica, Colonel Bishop had made himself felt by the buccaneers. But do what he might, the one buccaneer whom he made his particular quarry—that Peter Blood who once had been his slave—eluded him ever. He confessed as much in a letter to the Secretary of State. My Lord Sunderland bethought him of the plan adopted with Morgan, who had been enlisted into the King's service under Charles II. It occurred to him that a similar course might be similarly effective with Captain Blood.

Acting upon this conclusion, Sunderland sent out his kinsman, Lord Julian Wade, with some commissions made out in blank. The crafty Sunderland, master of all labyrinths of intrigue, advised his kinsman that in the event of his finding Blood intractable, or judging for other reasons that it was not desirable to enlist him in the King's service, he should turn his attention to the officers serving under him, and by seducing them away from him leave him so weakened that he must fall an easy victim to Colonel Bishop's fleet.

The Royal Mary made a good passage to St. Nicholas, her last port of call before Jamaica. It was understood that as a preliminary Lord Julian should report himself to the Deputy-Governor at Port Royal, whence at need he might have himself conveyed to Tortuga. Now it happened that the Deputy-Governor's niece had come to St. Nicholas some months earlier on a visit to some relatives, and so that she might escape the insufferable heat of Jamaica in that season. The time for her return being now at hand, a passage was sought for her aboard the Royal Mary, and in view of her uncle's rank and position promptly accorded.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Love undergoes a change after marriage; it grows calmer and deeper, but loses its fire. This explains why a married man may love his wife as a part of himself, but enjoy playing with the fire of another flirtation.

A wife writes me:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman with three small children. I have a good husband and I love him better than my life. Sometime ago he fell in love with a young girl, going to school and only fourteen years old. She is not a nice girl, but I used to think she was. I was surely surprised when I found she had stolen my husband's heart from me. Since I have found it out he tells me he cares for me more than any one on earth. Sometimes I try to believe it, but I think he meets her every day as she goes to school. She does not speak to me and I don't care for I can never treat her as I once did. My husband is good to me, but is not satisfied at home as he once was. I hate to leave him for he and my little ones are all I have to live for. I would rather be dead than live all my life as we are now. Sometimes I think he is tired of me because I am not as good-looking as other women. But I try to make up for it and do everything I can for him. Sometimes I get very discouraged and wish I could end it all. Maybe he would not miss me much while the other girl is near. Please let me hear from you.

BROKEN-HEARTED MOTHER.

You are cheating yourself out of happiness with your husband because you are a victim of worry and jealousy. Since your husband has told you that he cares more for you than any one else in the world, take his word for it. Your unhappiness and suspicion alone would make him uneasy in your presence and keep him from being happy at home.

It would be quite possible for your husband to love you devotedly and at the same time enjoy a flirtation with another woman. Such a situation would not be ideal by any means, but it should not be serious enough to spoil your happiness. Put all disloyal thoughts out of your mind and fight with yourself for the faith you had in him formerly.

An Unhappy Wife's Story.

Married life isn't all roses, for any one. Wives who find the matrimonial yoke irritating now and then should remember that it probably is chafing Friend Husband, too. Men get the worst of it sometimes, we women must admit.

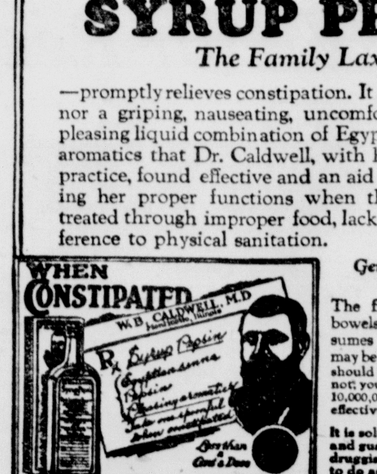
Some wives never seem to realize that men can't alter their business or their job to please those at home. I do not think this wife is justified in seeking a divorce.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are a young couple, 21 and 22. We have two of the dearest babies that ever lived. My husband's job takes him away before daylight. Sometimes he has to be away all night. I have to stay home all the time—our youngest baby has been very ill—but I don't mind the staying home. I know it's best for the babies. When he's home he's cross as a bear and acts as though we were strangers to him, and always asks why I don't get my mother or sister to stay with me when I discuss his going to the farm. He makes a fairly good salary, and if there is a good show he wants to see he goes, but never takes me or the kiddies. Nor does he ever bring us a present, not even at Christmas, though he gets himself cigarettes or magazines whenever he wants them. I am very unhappy. All our friends know how distant he has been to me for the last year. My girl friends all tell me I am foolish to put up with it and urge me to get a divorce. I don't think it's right to take the children away from him, but they might as well not have a father as things are now. Do you think I would do the children an ill turn if I were to get a divorce? I could go to work where I worked before we were married and my mother could care for the children like her own. If I took this course I believe I would be happier and enjoy life more. As it is I don't seem to care. Please don't think I'm wanting my freedom with the intention of poking the youngsters off on my mother and then leading a wild, carefree life. I hope you will understand and know I take my share of the blame and admit I fussed when my husband used to come home, dress and then leave us alone all night and then come teh next day and do it all over again. I kept hoping our trouble would end, but it hasn't and I'm still

ANOTHER UNHAPPY WOMAN.

You are having a hard, trying time, and, of course, you are unhappy—you also deserve all the sympathy in the world. But don't think of a divorce unless you have a more real and serious grievance. Take his advice and ask your mother or sister to stay with you sometimes at night, and if possible, in the daytime, too, so you can slip away and have a little fun. Sometimes it helps such a situation a lot to appear not to care. You might even go so far as to tell your husband some time that you expect him to take care of the children on a certain evening as you are going out with a woman friend to some amusement, and go, even if he refuses to stay and you must fall back on your mother to stay with the Youngsters. There is a queer kink in the make-up of the male of the species which makes him sit up and take notice when he thinks he can be dispensed with without much trouble.

Tell your troubles to Mrs. Thompson. Address her in care of this newspaper, and sign your name and address as evidence of good faith. Only your initials or "pen name" will be printed.



CONSTIPATION means WEAKNESS

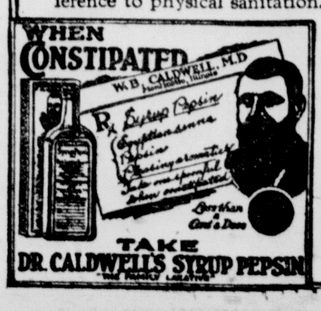
Constipation is practically universal among civilized human beings. It is a national curse causing inefficiency and physical unpreparedness. It causes disease, premature old age, lessens endurance and resistance, and many times fatal illness is directly traceable to its obnoxious results. The clear eye, healthy look, vim, vigor and vitality can be had only when the bowels are free and are moving regularly.

Dr. Caldwell's

SYRUP PEPSIN

The Family Laxative

—promptly relieves constipation. It is not a bitter medicine nor a griping, nauseating, uncomfortable physic. It is a pleasing liquid combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics that Dr. Caldwell, with his long and extensive practice, found effective and an aid to Nature in performing her proper functions when the bowels were mistreated through improper food, lack of exercise, and indifference to physical sanitation.



Gently Restores The Bowels To Health

The first dose will gently ease the bowels to action and as Nature resumes her proper functions, the dose may be gradually decreased. Your bowels should act at least twice daily. If they do not, you need Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. 10,000,000 bottles sold annually prove its effectiveness. Used nationally over 30 years.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads Put one on—the pain is gone

I HAVE never bought or sold a share of stock speculatively in my life, except one small lot that I bought early in life. I determined to sell all my interests in every outside concern and concentrate my attention upon our concerns in Pittsburgh. Such a course should commend itself to everyman. For a business man especially the rule would seem all-important. His mind must be kept calm and free if he is to decide wisely the problems which are continually coming before him. Nothing tells in the long run like good judgment, and no sound judgment can remain with the man whose mind is disturbed by the mercurial changes of speculation. It places him under an influence akin to intoxication. What is not, he sees, and what he sees, is not. He cannot judge of relative values or get the true perspective of things. Speculation is a parasite feeding upon values, creating none." —ANDREW CARNEGIE

A DOG was crossing a brook with a bone in his mouth. Looking into the stream he saw, as he supposed, another dog with another bone. Desiring to possess that also he made a snap at it, when lo and behold! the bone he was carrying dropped into the water and straightway sunk to the bottom.—An Old Fable.

This dog "took a chance" (as some of us humans sometimes do) and lost all he had. Maybe you at sometime have grasped at a shadow in the form of a get-rich-quick scheme that promised everything but became a total loss.

Anyone who wants to INVEST money and not speculate or gamble with it can find a safe working place for his savings in the electric light and power business.

A large investment banking firm of New York and Chicago, states that:

"A careful analysis of the dividend records of practically every electric power and light company with gross earnings of $2,000,000 per year or more, the combined capitalization of which represents approximately 90% of the industry, shows that:

1. Current cash dividends are being paid on ALL of the preferred stocks.
2. In NO case are there accumulated back dividends unpaid.
3. In fifteen cases dividends have been deferred, but have subsequently been paid off in stock or cash.
4. In all other cases the Preferred Stocks have unbroken dividend records.

We feel justified in believing that this remarkable record definitely establishes the investment position of the Preferred Stocks of large power and light companies."

Gland Patient Withstands Severe Endurance Test

After suffering from a nervous breakdown, and being subject to dizzy spells, a man of 35 regained his health and strength through glandular treatment. As an actual patient recently ran and won the one-mile and three-mile race in the annual field meet at one of California's State Institutions. Even more remarkable than his speed was the physical condition of the athlete after breasting the tape. He exhibited nothing of the distress or labored breathing of the ordinary runner.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathews Cut Rate Store will supply you.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Health.

I fill this cup to one made up
Of loveliness alone,
A woman, of her gentle sex
The seeming paragon;
To whom the better elements
And kindly stars have given
A form so fair, that, like the air,
'Tis less of earth than heaven.
Her every tone is music's own,
Like those of morning birds,
And something more than melody
Dwells ever in her words;
The coinage of her heart are they,
And from her heart each flows
As one may see the burdened bee
Forth issue from the rose.
Affections are as thoughts to her,
The measures of her hours;
Her feelings have the fragrancy,
The freshness of young flowers;
And lovely passions, changing oft,
So fill her, she appears
The image of themselves by turns,
The idol of past years!
Of her bright face one glance will trace
A picture on the brain,
And of her voice in echoing hearts
A sound must long remain;
But memory, such as mine of her,
So very much endears,
When death is nigh, my latest sigh
Will not be life's, but hers,
I fill this cup of one made up
Of loveliness alone,
A woman, of her gentle sex
The seeming paragon—
Her health, and would on earth there stood
Some more of such a frame,
That life might be all poetry,
And weariness a name.

Don't Fuss With Mustard Plasters!

Musterole Works Without the Bliste.—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Vaccinated Against Will, Girl's Father Sues for $75,000

CLEVELAND—Charging that she was grabbed and forcibly vaccinated six-year-old Irene Marie Lane has filed suit for $75,000 against the city and a physician, who is an employe of the health department.

The girl's father asserts that, during the smallpox scare here last October, Dr. Albert T. Ransone performed the vaccination on his daughter, after school authorities had forbidden the operation.

A serious infection developed in the child's arm, necessitating several operations and possibly amputation, the petition charges.

The doctor, it is alleged, applied to the school authorities for permission to vaccinate Irene, and was refused. Later in the month, the petition declares, he grabbed her and made several incisions in her left arm. He then injected a serum into the abrasions, according to the girl. Sores that developed caused affections to the humerus bone and lymphatic glands.

LOS ANGELES, March 23.

JOE BENJAMIN, lightweight fighter, is just now one of the pugilistic "big shots" of the Pacific Coast.

He recently whipped Jack Silver, of San Francisco, in a bout that was given all the preliminary thunder of a world's championship event. It was for the title of lightweight champion of the coast.

Now the great match out here, what the promoters call "a natural," is a meeting between Benjamin and Ace Hudkins, a blond young fellow from Omaha, who is called "The Nebraska Wildcat." That is the way Mr. Dan Tobey, the local announcer, always presents him.

The writer has seen "The Wildcat" fight. The wildest thing about him is his right hand. But he is a tough, persevering youth, somewhat on the order of Battling Nelson. He is always wading into the deepest part of the fighting.

When Benjamin and Hudkins meet they will draw much money. That will be very pleasing to Benjamin. He can always use money. No one knows exactly how much money he can use—but how much money is there IN THE WORLD?

Benjamin is one of the most picturesque figures in the pugilistic game.

He is twenty-four years old, tall, slender, good looking, with fluffy brown hair, nice teeth, and an infectious laugh. This laugh serves him in good stead.

Benjamin can "laugh himself in" and "laugh himself out" of situations with equal facility. Life to him is very pleasant, but a little too short for boxing. He would much rather be a millionaire with a Rolls-Royce at his command.

Not being a millionaire, and having no Rolls-Royce at his command, he borrows the one belonging to Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey and Benjamin are close friends.

Dempsey likes to have Joe around him when he is traveling, or training. Benjamin seconded the heavyweight champion in the Carpentier and Firpo fights, and turned as white as a sheet when "The Wild Bull of the Pampas" charged Dempsey out of the ring.

Dempsey always contended that Benjamin would be a better fighter if he wasn't so good looking. He would persuade Benjamin to box with him, then try to break Benjamin's nose. That is true friendship.

Benjamin made the trip to Europe with the Dempsey party a couple of

Believes Hurling Will Be Improved; Hitters Plentiful

Predicts Club Will Finish Among Leaders in Runs Scored at End of Season; Expects Duster Mails to Deliver This Season.

By Al Santore

STOCKTON, Cal., Mar. 23. — Branch Rickey today didn't claim to be a fortune teller nor did he indicate that it was his custom to play solitaire but, after a thorough shuffling of the cards for 1925, he neatly cut the deck and turned up aces for the infield, outfield and behind the bat.

He announced that he was entirely satisfied with what he had uncovered for these departments, but as to the pitching staff—well, that wasn't exactly a pleasant subject for discussion. In fact, Mr. Rickey showed an inclination to talk learnedly and at length on any and all subjects other than pitching.

Nor would he permit himself to be pinned down to a prediction as to St. Louis's probable standing among the clubs at the conclusion of the 1925 season. But he said:

"The experts choose to rank us as a second division club, drawing their conclusions from the dope. We hope to upset the experts this year.

"The club has hitting power. When I say this, the fans naturally picture Hornsby. But we have other good hitters besides Hornsby. On that account I will make the prediction that you will see the Cards among the leaders in runs scored at the end of the season.

"That naturally puts it up to the pitching and the defense in general. I just naturally dislike to discuss pitching, for it is this department that has kept the Cardinals out of a pennant for years. I believe my pitching will be improved this season. I look for Duster Mails to deliver in his turn and we have another fine prospect in Rhem, a young right hander."

Jesse Haines, Alan Sothoron, Ed Dyer, Bill Sherdel and Johnny Stuart are the only veterans of the staff with whom Rickey plans to dally this year. Leo Dickerman, obtained from the Dodgers, will get another chance however. This leaves a place or two open with Barnes from Evansville; Clough from Fort Smith; Day from Muskogee; Hallahan from Kalamazoo and Shields from Calais, Ind., still in the running. Shields and Clough are left handers, which may get them something or nothing.

Mike Gonzales is the leading catcher, with Roscoe Holm and Walter Schmidt, wafted to the Cards from the Pirates, as chief assistants. Vick is back from Louisville, but will have to show cause to Al Bool, up from Fort Smith.

In addition to Hornsby and Jim Bottomley, the rest of the infield will be picked from among Bell, Freigau, Toporcer, Cooney and Trevenow. These are either weak hitters or weak fielders or both, but Rickey feels that he can get by with what he has.

Blades, Myers, Smith and Mueller are veteran outfielders who may or may not be displaced by Shinners, up again from Toledo; Hafey from Houston, and Taylor Douthit, the St. Joseph prospect.

Myers and Grimes Await Settlements In Pay Questions

Harry Myers, veteran outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, is at his home in Kensington, awaiting final disposition of his case as the Cards train at Stockton, California.

Myers' differences with Rickey center only around the salary question. The case has been brought to the attention of Commissioner Landis and it is possible that action will be taken within the next week or so.

Burleigh Grimes, Brooklyn slab star, is still at his home near Minerva. Grimes has asked slightly more than Brooklyn has wanted to pay up until the present time, but, according to friends of the hurler, he will probably be limbering up for Uncle Robby in the near future.

Christians, U.P. Winners

Christians and United Presbyterians were victors in Sunday school basketball league engagements Saturday night on the Y. M. C. A. court. The Christians triumphed over the First Baptists, 43 to 16, and the U. P. passers downed the Penn. Ave. M. E. five, 38 to 26.

The Christians had it easy all the way. Although all of the team figured in the scoring, Howard, Kilmer and Owens were the chief point getters. Mackey, Fugate, Rumberger and Kittridge performed well for the Baptists.

The United Presbyterians had much harder opposition. They cinched the contest in the final period. Dickey, Roberts and Hoffman played the stellar roles for the winners and McKim, Cook and Staley led the losers.

Milwaukee Miss After Golf Title

Miss Frances Hadfield of Milwaukee, is preparing to make a strong bid for the women's golf championship this year. She has attracted much attention as a result of her sparkling victory over Glenna Collett, former champion, in the finals of the annual tournament at Belleair Heights, Fla.

Uncle Robby Gets Into Shape Again

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 23.—Uncle Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn National League club, will soon be "routed" again.

The veteran pilot of the Dodgers and once member of the famous old Baltimore Orioles can be found on a chair on the synnyside of the Dodgers' training field here as his team work out. He is recovering from what once loomed as a fatal illness. He weighs 245 pounds when he contracted the cold that sent him to the hospital. He lost 45 and now is beginning to regain it. He takes life easy now—too easy for him. "Imagine me sitting in a chair, all bundled up in a topcoat, with weather like this and a ball club to whip into shape," he pleads.

Beat Sixth Street Passers In Final Clash of Tourney

Chuck McConville's Entry Captures Championship in Hard Tilt With Rivals After Swamping Washington in the Semi-finals.

Semi-Finals.
Central A 34, Washington 3.
Sixth Street 21, Garfield 7.

Final.
Central 2 19, Sixth Street 10.

Coach "Chuck" McConville's Central A boys today are basketball champions in city grade school ranks as a result of their victory Saturday night over Sixth Street in the final clash of the tournament.

The Centrals ran away with Washington in their semi-final tilt in the afternoon and went into the final with Sixth Street passers, who previously had walloped Garfield.

And tourney honors then were taken over by the Centrals in a thrilling battle with the Sixth Street entry. The game was fast, the McConville quintet winning through superior all-around performance. With the exception of the first quarter the Centrals held the situation well in hand. As the game proceeded they began gradually to draw away from their opponents and in the final period could not be headed.

The Sixth Streeters put up a good game of basketball but were up against an advanced brand of teamwork, and teamwork won.

The Sixth Street lads led at the end of the first period by the score of 5 to 3, but dropped their advantage in the second quarter when the Centrals forged to the front. The count at the end of the period was 10-8. Only three points were scored in the third quarter, when both teams played largely defensive games. But the Centrals went out and sewed up the clash in the concluding period.

Anderson's field goal boosted Central's lead. Congrove increased it with a foul. Dorsey kept Sixth Street in the running with a free toss. But Felt made victory for Central almost certain when he counted twice on foul throws. Small came to the front once more with the final field goal of the game and the tournament.

To name any individual star for the Centrals would be difficult. To Forward Small, however, goes credit for a majority of the points that the victors amassed in climbing to the championship.

Menge, Dorsey and Barnhart played well for the runners-up.

Runyon Says:

years ago. Benjamin and this reporter were roomed together throughout the trip.

The writer recalls that Benjamin always had the photographs of four lovely young ladies stuck out on the bureau where he could see them as he brushed his hair.

Benjamin was in love with all of them. He couldn't just make up his mind which one he loved the most. That is the way of youth.

The writer called on Benjamin in his Hollywood home the other day. On the walls, on the mantle, on the bureau were many photographs of ONE lovely young lady. She is not of the four lovely ones whose photographs Benjamin carried to Europe. That is the way of youth.

Benjamin lives in a neat little bungalow on Western avenue in Hollywood, with "Old Folks" as chef and valet. Benjamin is very socially inclined. The house is always filled with guests.

When Benjamin wishes so be impressive he refers to "Old Folks," as Wilmart, which is his right name. But to this writer "Old Folks" can never be anything but "Old Folks," and has never been anything else these many years.

He is a baldish colored gentleman. The last time the writer saw "Old Folks" he had but one single tooth. Now he is equipped with, and partially disguised by, a complete set of teeth, the thoughtful endowment of Jack Dempsey.

"Old Folks" followed the pugilistic camps before Benjamin was born. He is a chef of no mean ability. He can fry chicken like no other living man or woman. He is the most important feature by far of Joe Benjamin's establishment.

Benjamin has acquired a new manager, Eddie Connor, a pleasant, well-dressed young man of means.

Jack Kearns held a manager's contract on Benjamin for some years. It is not of record that Kearns ever collected the managerial "bit" off Benjamin.

Joe would laugh so heartily at the idea of Kearns taking the customary percentage that Kearns would finally get to laughing, too. It is estimated that Benjamin has laughed Kearns out of quite some money.

Recently Benjamin felt the press of necessity, so he negotiated the sale of his contract by Mr. Kearns to Mr. Connor for $5,000.

Of this sum Benjamin assured Kearns he could have $1,000, laughing "The Doctor," as Benjamin cans Kearns, out of any thought he may have entertained that he ought to get the entire $5,000. He made "The Doctor" feel that if he got the thousand he would be the beneficiary of a big-hearted act.

The deal closed, the money paid, Benjamin then laughed so heartily at the very idea of giving Kearns that thousand that finally Kearns laughed WITH him.

He didn't get the thousand, called in pugilistic circles "a grand."

You will observe that Benjamin is an astute young business man. Also that Kearns is very good natured.

Benjamin CAN fight when he wishes, no doubt of that.

He has permitted about three very valuable years and fully $150,000 in cash to slip past him as he laughed his way along, gathering in an occasional purse of a couple of thousand dollars in a four-round event when he needed the money.

But he has suddenly commenced to take the boxing game rather seriously. He trained hard for the fight with Silver. Training is "murder" to one of Joe's temperament and inclinations; it is desperately HARD WORK.

He would much rather laugh and play, to visit the race track, the cafes, to enjoy himself.

But he kept grinding away this time until he was in the best condition the writer has ever seen him. Perhaps his new manager is responsible.

Perhaps the ONE lovely young lady of the many photographs in the Benjamin establishment is the cause. In fact that is the likely theory.

There is always ONE young lady who can make a man do ANYTHING—even work!

Fohl Lacked Reserves; Says he Has Them Now

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—Lee Fohl, manager of the Boston Red Sox, isn't claiming any pennants or world's championships, but he feels mighty hopeful.

"The Red Sox, after showing a dazzling pace in the American League last year, blew up. This was due entirely to a lack of good substitutes," he says. "When some of our boys were injured or grew tired of the battle, we had no one to throw into the breach.

"We intend to be out there doing our stuff every day and I believe that we will at least be consistent this year. I can't see how we are going to blow up."

Lee has six young players he figures are certain to be in the team's first or second line this season. They are: Connolly, infielder, from Bay City; Protho, infielder, from Memphis and Washington; Dodgell, second baseman, from Saline, Kan.; Gross, infielder, San Antonio; Ernest Vache, outfielder, from Dallas; Lucey, pitcher, from Jersey City.

SPORT SPARKS

The pitching of Joe Bush and Urban Shocker should provide one of the most interesting sidelights on the American league race this season. Bullet Joe, like all other Yankee cast-offs, will do his durndest to beat his former mates at every opportunity, while Shocker will be working just as hard to prove that the Yanks got the best of the trade.

Although Bush looked like a world-beater at times last season, his work was not up to performances of other years. He was not on the best of terms with Manager Miller Huggins, for one thing. When yanked from the box in a tight situation Joseph was wont to toss his glove high in the air, scowl in the general direction of the New York dugout or give vent to other signs of peevishness.

In the same way Shocker was not at his best for St. Louis. The change to the big town probably will give him a new lease on life, as has generally been the case with stars traded to hot favorites in the pennant race.

Amazing Power

The reputation which the Chevrolet has always borne for power is more than lived up to in the new 1925 models—as a hill climber it is without a rival among cars of anywhere near its power rating regardless of price.

Engineering skill of the highest order has reduced motor noises to a minimum, has rendered the motor more accessible and by avoiding friction losses has made it possible for the motor to deliver a maximum of power to the driving wheels.

WATER, WATER, ALL AROUND AND NOT A DROP TO DRINK

Might Have Been the Cry of This Warren, O., Woman, Had Not Ka-di-ok Relieved Her Trouble.

MRS. BERTHA BOWMAN

It's a far cry from the wail of the unfortunate shipwrecked seaman on a raft in mid-ocean to the peaceful city of Warren, O., but the same danger which confronted the seaman might also confront those thousands of miles from the ocean, albeit, however, the cry should be paraphrazed to "water, water all around, but my poor stomach won't let me drink."

No doubt Mrs. Bertha Bowman, 1001 Edgewood avenue, Warren, O., might have felt somewhat like the shipwrecked mariner, from the fact that her stomach was in such a condition that she could not even drink water without suffering from its effects. Mrs. Bowman had stomach trouble for the past 4 years, couldn't eat without paying in pain, had indigestion, gas on the stomach, pains in the region of the heart, food wouldn't digest, constipated, nervous, irritable, losing sleep, all tired out in the morning and suffered headaches. While visiting relatives a short while ago in West Virginia she was advised to try Ka-di-ok, which she did. Its beneficient effects were so quickly seen, that upon her return home her relatives sent her Ka-di-ok from West Virginia until she learned she could buy it in that city.

She now states to a Ka-di-ok representative that all her ailments have left her, every one, and she can eat anything. She has no hesitancy in recommending Ka-di-ok to her friends and others.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 W. Sixth St.

VERSE AND WORSE

By Larry Flint

A Necessary Evil.

All th' time a-crawlin' in
Underneth th' bed;
Jumpin' up t' grab a bite
Of a feller's bread;
Always trackin' Mother's floor;
Chawin rubbers up—
Still, life ain't no fun unless
A feller's got a pup.

Seems t', somehow, life th' best
Doings sech as this:
Mussin' up th' pretty things
That belong t' Sis.
Lots o' bother—sure; but I'll
Leave it up t' you:
Without a dog aroun' th' house,
What would a feller do?

Mother says he's such a pest;
Dad gits mad as sin,
Says a dog-house is th' place
T' keep a fool dog in.
I suppose he's no account;
Sis says so—but, oh!—
Yuh got t' have a pup around;
A feller needs him so.

Mansard Roof Not Mansard's

The Mansard roof, a popular type of architecture used in many early American buildings, as for instance on the department of state building in Washington, was made popular by Francois Mansard, a French architect who lived from 1598 to 1666, but he has been found to not be the originator of it. About 300 years before Mansard was born the style was originated by an architect named Lescot. Mansard eventually advertised the roof and himself at the same time and in popular conception he was given credit for it.

Lodge Head Asserts Poison Liquor Puts Men on Water Wagon

DETROIT — Bad hooch is doing more to stamp out drinking than raids, arrests and fines, according to A. W. Frye, supreme commander of the Maccabees, in an address here.

'Fear of the law may not make a man stop drinking, but fear of death certainly will," said Mr. Frye. "Bellevue hospital, New York, reported as high as 80 patients admitted for treatment of alcoholic poisoning in a single day in 1924. In the first 11 months of last year 454 persons died in New York alone from placing trust in booleggers.

"Liquor today is being compounded of denatured alcohol, wool alcohol, pyridin, bichloride of mercury, ether, kerosene, fusel oil and sulphuric acid. Most of these materials are deadly poisons."
